Senate Control Still In Doubt

Eisenhower Says Vote No Repudiation

President Plans To Consult Democrats In 84th Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower today expressed astonishment over the outcome of many of the election races but declared Republican loss of the House to Democrats reflects no repudiation of his administration's policies.

And the chief executive, taking a practical approach to the GOP reverse, told his news conference he plans to consult with Democratic leaders in the new 84th Congress—on domestic as well as international matters—in an effort to get as much cooperation as possible.

A bit ruefully Eisenhower commented it would "seem to be a part of wisdom" to confer with House Democrats running the show.

"Just to butt your head up against a stone wall is no good," the President added with a trace of a wry smile.

Direct Quotes Permitted

The White House, some time after the conference ended, released the entire transcript for direct-quote publication. No reason was given. The only other time this was done was last Dec. 13, when it was characterized as "a Christmas present" and as an experiment to see how it would work out.

When Eisenhower walked into the crowded news conference at 10:30 a.m. Democrats had wrested control of the House from the Republicans and were continuing to increase their margin.

But party control of the Senate still was in doubt and it remained that way far beyond conclusion of the 24-minute meeting with newsmen.

New A-Pool Negotiations

After brief preliminary remarks about the election—he said he hadn't analyzed the returns yet but planned to do so—the President announced the United States has sent Russia a new message on peaceful uses of atomic energy. He added he hoped this will start a new phase in relations with the Soviet Union.

That was the only non-election matter to come up at the conference and the President then invited questions.

The first was whether he saw any disapproval of administration policies in Republican loss of the House to the Democrats.

"No, I don't," the President replied after a momentary pause. "As a matter of fact, I haven't attempted to make any analysis of my own about this development as yet. I shall, of course, when I get the complete returns. . . ."

Chief Egyptian Delegate To U. N. Collapses, Dies

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—Mahmoud Azmi, Egypt's chief delegate to the U. N., died tonight after collapsing in the Security Council chamber while debating an Israeli complaint against Egypt. He was 65.

Azmi fell from his chair onto the council table during his argument that Egypt rightfully intercepted an enemy Israeli ship as it tried to transit the Suez Canal.

First to minister to the stricken ambassador in the chamber was an Israeli delegate who also is a physician, Dr. Moshe Tov.

The Council quickly recessed and Azmi was carried to the U. N. clinic. Oxygen treatment and other emergency measures failed to revive him. Doctors said he suffered a diabetic shock complicated by a heart attack.

Azmi died minutes after he was taken into the clinic.

In the only similar incident in the history of the Security Council, Israel's chief delegate, Abba Eban — who was debating with Azmi today — became ill in 1950 and collapsed outside the council room after leaving the table.

Azmi has a long career as a professor, journalist and diplomat. He was appointed permanent Egyptian delegate to the U. N. Sept. 1.

New Atomic Pool Negotiations Are Disclosed By Ike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower chose as his first post-election statement today an announcement that the United States is trying to open up a "new phase" of Russian-American negotiations for creation of an international atomic pool.

The chief executive's action at a news conference underscored the importance he attaches to foreign issues which may dominate the second half of his term.

He said himself the field of foreign affairs is one where it should be possible to get ahead with Republican leadership in the White House and Democratic leadership in Congress because a bipartisan basis for action already exists.

U.S. Replies To Soviet Note

Eisenhower disclosed that Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin was receiving from Secretary of State Dulles within a few minutes a reply to the Russian note of Sept. 22 on the atomic pool plan, a plan which Eisenhower initiated.

"I hope," the President said in a statement, "this will start a new phase in the U.S.-U.S.S.R. negotiations which will be more fruitful than the first phase, during which the Soviets showed a lack of interest in cooperating with the United States to further international cooperation in developing the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

Secret Document Published

The Sept. 22 note from Moscow proposed publication of all exchanges of secret messages between Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, but said that negotiations should go on, a position which the United States had also taken.

The secret documents were published Sept. 25, exposing the deep split which existed between Moscow and Washington over control and use of the mighty atom.

The latest American note, which was not made public, was handed to Zaroubin by Dulles at about 11 a.m. It was understood to have notified the Russians that the United States is ready to resume talks on the atomic energy plan at once.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 3 (AP)—A landslide touched off by torrential rains smashed a home near Bogota, killing seven persons, including three children.

Tugs-Of-War On Capitol Hill Loom In 1955

Compromises Seen With GOP-Dixie Demo Combination Likely

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Control of the Senate hung delicately tonight on a handful of still uncounted ballots in New Jersey and Oregon, where Democrats and Republicans drove to a neck and neck finish in the tabulation of Tuesday's balloting.

There was no doubt about the House. Democrats took over there with a comfortable 29-seat edge, winning 232 seats to 203 for the Republicans.

The closeness of the outcome, with the possibility of a Congress half Democratic and half Republican, foreshadows some hotly fought legislative tugs-of-war after the members take office in January.

Compromises Likely

Neither party appeared to have the power to impose its will on the other, nor any mandate from the voters to do so.

Thus the outlook is for compromises, worked out in large part by a dominant coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans. Effective power has lodged in this combination in recent years.

With the Democrats back in control of the House, Southerners will become chairmen of the most important committees — the workshops of Congress — and Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas will resume his familiar role as speaker.

232 Demo House Seats

In complete but unofficial returns on House races, the Democrats had won 232 seats, the Republicans 203. The majority required for control was 218.

In the present Congress the Republicans have 219 House seats and the Democrats 215, including vacancies, while one seat is held by an Independent. The lone Independent, Rep. Frazier Reams of Toledo, Ohio, was defeated for re-election by a Democrat.

Senate Republican leader Knowland of California said it appeared that the Republicans would organize the new Senate and called on them to close ranks.

Hall Says Vote Does Not Show Anti-GOP Trend

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today the election indicated "no trend or sweep apparent either against the Republican party or the Eisenhower administration."

Hall said that late returns from yesterday's voting showed a tie in the Senate and the loss of the House "by a narrow margin of 16 or 17 seats—less than half the average 38 seat off-year loss computed since 1918."

Republican political leaders said there was a complete lack of pattern in seats gained or lost in the House.

And, Hall added:

"Based on yesterday's results we can look forward with full confidence to a continuation and expansion of the far reaching program launched by the President. If we continue to meet our responsibility for the next two years as well as we have for the past two we can look forward to 1956 with every expectation of victory."

President Didn't Show It If He Felt He Coached Loser

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Normally when you go into the dressing room to see the coach after the game, you at least know which team won.

But reporters who trooped in to see President Eisenhower today didn't know what the final score was, and neither did he.

True, Tuesday's election results showed at the time that the House had gone Democratic, but not by much. And at the time of the news conference the only thing certain about the Senate was this: It wasn't going anywhere very convincingly.

A little early, in short, for a post-mortem.

But, first, a look at the coach himself.

Eisenhower began by saying he hoped everybody had had some sleep. He didn't say when he had gone to bed, but he had a tired look around his eyes that hinted he, too, had had trouble turning off the light.

In general, though, you'd have to say he looked pert. And a couple of times, he was downright jovial.

The President began by saying he had been absolutely astonished and surprised by some of the results. He took the fun out of this, though, by refusing to say which results had so surprised and astonished him.

Attempts to get him to eat some of his stronger campaign words didn't get far either, although he did soften them a mite. Now that he was faced with the actual prospect of a Democratic House, Eisenhower said he had put it too strong when he said it would be a cold war if a Democratic Congress were elected.

Naturally someone asked him if he'd seek another four-year contract when this one runs out two years from now. No positive answer, other than to say nothing in the election results had made him change his plans.

Ability To Offset Democratic Trend Adds Luster To M'Keldin's Victory

Plurality Over Byrd Reaches 58,778 Votes

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who wrote a new chapter in Maryland's political history, watched his vote grow today as he looked forward to another four years in office.

He is only the fourth Republican governor in the state's history, and the first to win a second term. He won it decisively.

With 42 polling places unreported, McKeldin led Dr. H. C. Byrd, Democratic nominee who retired as president of the University of Maryland to seek his first public office, by 58,778 votes. The unofficial tabulation gave McKeldin 368,494 and Byrd 309,716.

Making his victory even more impressive was his ability to conquer a Democratic trend which elected an attorney general by a comfortable margin, reversed the slim Republican 4-3 margin in Congress, and greatly added to what was already a heavily Democratic Legislature.

Incomplete returns showed only five Republican state senators still sure of their jobs, compared to 11 in the previous session. And at least one had won by a close margin in a traditionally Republican county.

McKeldin Carries 13 Counties

McKeldin's plurality in this election compared to a 93,983 margin over Democratic Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. in 1950 when the sales tax aroused resentment against Lane.

Yesterday, McKeldin carried 13 of the 23 counties: Allegany, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, Talbot and Wicomico.

Byrd carried 10: Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Prince Georges, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Somerset, Washington and Worcester.

McKeldin would have won by about 16,000 if it had been up to the counties alone. He carried the city of Baltimore by almost 43,000, despite its top-heavy Democratic registration.

Switch In Fifth District

The Republican seat in Congress from the 5th District switched from Republican Rep. Frank Small Jr. of Clinton to Richard E. Lankford, Annapolis Democrat. Complete unofficial returns gave Lankford a margin of 9,303 votes.

The tightest race was in the 6th, where Republican Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde of Bethesda led Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg Democrat, 3,666 votes with only five of 296 polling places to be heard from. The count gave Hyde 68,307 and Ryan 64,641.

While McKeldin was winning decisively, his Republican running mate, Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins, was faring poorly.

State Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert ousted Rollins by a 36,597 vote margin with 42 of 1345 polling places to be heard from. The count was Sybert 315,687 and Rollins 279,090.

Navy Calls Off Search For Missing Transport

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — The Navy said today it has called off the search for the Navy Super Constellation plane which disappeared over the Atlantic Saturday with 42 persons aboard.

The Navy information office said the far-ranging search was canceled because of extremely adverse weather conditions.

New Jersey, Oregon Races Hold Answer

Democrats Capture House 232 To 203 In Close Election

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Democrats nailed down control of the House today and, in a hair's-breadth finale to a dramatically close election, bid for control of the Senate as well.

The final unofficial count gave the Democrats a 232 to 203 margin in the House—a net gain of 17 seats formerly held by Republicans.

Tonight, still undecided races at opposite ends of the country, in Oregon and New Jersey, held the answer to the battle for the Senate.

In Oregon, nearly 24 hours after the polls closed, Democrat Richard L. Neuberger pulled ahead of veteran GOP Senator Guy Cordon with the count still incomplete. A victory there would tip the Senate balance in favor of the Democrats.

The Democrats needed only a win in Oregon or New Jersey, plus the promised support of Oregon's independent Sen. Wayne Morse, to end the Republicans' two-year control of the Senate.

Case Ahead In New Jersey

For the Democrats, the election certainly brought forth nothing like the tremendous tide of victory they had scented.

And while the shift definitely was to the party out of power, in keeping with tradition in nonpresidential elections it represented no clear-cut defeat for the Eisenhower administration's program and policies.

The great political verdict of 1954 did reject Eisenhower's strong, repeated bids for a completely Republican Congress with which to work in his next two years in the White House.

In governorship races, 34 of them across the nation, the Democrats crunched out more impressive victories than in the congressional battle. Without yielding one of their own, they kept alive the trend that started with the election of a Democratic governor in Maine in September.

GOP Loses 7 Governorships

Tuesday's results added scalps of seven more Republican governors to the Democratic collection. The Maine trend kept in going straight down the Atlantic seaboard, Connecticut, mighty New York, Pennsylvania.

It appeared again in Minnesota, and in the West in Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

Admittedly "astonished and surprised" at some of the results from Tuesday's balloting, President Eisenhower told a news conference that "no, I don't" see any disapproval of administration policies in loss of the House. Nor, he said, did he detect any repudiation of the program of his administration.

As for any effect the results might have on his thinking about the White House and 1956—well, Eisenhower said, certainly there hadn't been any so far, as "I don't try to predict too far in advance, even with respect to myself."

Sheppard Watches Jurors Enter Home

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, flanked by a deputy on each side, watches members of the jury in his murder trial enter the Sheppard home in Bay Village near Cleveland. The purpose of the trip is to familiarize the jurors with the scene, before testimony starts. The young osteopath, accused of slaying his wife, broke into tears several times. He is bareheaded man in group at right.

Sheppard And Jury Visit Slaying Scene

They caught his eye during a singularly dramatic homecoming. The little boy who forgot the teddy bear and who smiled for the camera was his 7-year-old son, Chip.

With the jury that is trying him for his life, Sheppard was taken today to the white and green frame home where his wife, Marilyn, 31, was murdered in her bed last July 4.

Fights For Composure

He had not set foot on the premises since a few days after her slaying. The bleakness of the cold, gray day was matched only by the bleakness in the handsome Sheppard's face as he fought for composure.

The 30-year-old osteopath is accused of slaying his wife. He faces the electric chair if convicted. He has denied the crime and said a bushy-haired stranger did the slaying.

James R. Manning, 38-year-old real estate salesman who committed a sex crime 11 years ago, was dropped from the jury during the morning after he pleaded:

"I feel I'll be a sub headline as long as this trial lasts. I will definitely have a nervous breakdown within a very short time. In fact, I feel like one right now."

Mistrial Motion Denied

The defense roared objections and demanded a mistrial for breaking up the jury at this stage. Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan accused the state of ousting Manning by "devious methods . . . trickery . . . malice aforethought."

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin, re-elected yesterday, was the calmest man in the packed courtroom. He cut short the arguments, excused Manning and turned down the mistrial motion.

Alternate juror No. 1, Jack H. Hansen, a burly general foreman in a tractor plant, was promoted to the jury in Manning's place.

Adlai Thanks Truman For "Nominating" Him

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., Nov. 3 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today thanked former President Truman for naming Stevenson his presidential candidate for 1956 but said "I have no present plans for future political activity."

Stevenson, Democratic nominee for President in 1952, issued a brief statement commenting on Truman's remarks on the NBC television show, "Today."

An interviewer asked Truman to name his choice for a candidate in 1956. The former President named Stevenson. In reply, Stevenson gave this statement to newsmen:

"I am grateful to former President Truman for his confidence and good will but I have no present plans for future political activity.

"I've done what I could for the Democratic party for the past two years and now I shall have to be less active and give more attention to my own affairs."

Demos 'Won't Hate Ike,' Rayburn Says

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 3 (AP)—Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), due to be the next speaker of the House, today said Democrats in Congress "won't hate Ike . . . as Roosevelt and Truman were hated" by the Republicans.

He and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) both pledged to cooperate with the President on matters "in the interest of the American people."

Johnson, Senate minority leader, would become majority leader of the Senate if the Democrats win control there as they have in the House.

Nobel Prize Won By Calif. Chemist Linked To Reds

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Nobel prize for chemistry was awarded tonight to a controversial California scientist who discovered how the vital protein molecules of plants and animals hang together.

Two German-born scientists who developed valuable atomic tools and techniques shared the physics prize.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science voted the chemistry prize of 181,646 krona (about $35,000) to Dr. Linus Pauling, 53, professor of chemistry at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

The physics prize of the same amount is split between Prof. Walter Bothe, 63, of the Max Planck Institute at Heidelberg, Germany, and Dr. Max Born, 72, a theoretical physicist who once sought refuge in Britain from Hitler and now lives in retirement at Bad Pyrmont in Hannover, Germany.

In recent years Pauling has been under fire several times for alleged Communist affiliations, which he has stoutly denied. Ex-Communist Louis Budenz named him among 30 scientists and educators alleged to be former party members. Pauling denied that accusation under oath.

DAMASCUS, Syria, Nov. 3 (AP)—Police and left wing demonstrators clashed outside the Parliament House today. One person was wounded and 30 were arrested.

Flexible Farm Supports Given Voters' Backing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower's flexible farm price support program was generally credited by observers here today with having survived its first test of voter sentiment.

Despite Democratic efforts to make the farm program a major campaign issue in many places, Republicans marked up significant election victories in farm belt states where the new program would have the most effect, and Democrats who favored it were generally successful.

Supporters of the plan were heartened especially by Republican Thomas E. Martin's victory over Sen. Guy M. Gillette in Iowa and Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel's re-election over former Democratic Sen. George McGill in Kansas. The farm issue was sharply drawn in both states.

Some Republicans who won elsewhere differed with Eisenhower on that issue but the over-all results, observers felt' at least provided no repudiation of the program. Most Democratic gains were confined to urban areas.

Actually, the flexible support plan is not yet in operation, and may face an even more significant test in 1956 after its effects become known. But a spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation, which favored a flexible program even before Eisenhower proposed it, said he thought farmers had taken it fully into consideration in casting their votes this year.

Schuman Says "No"

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Former Premier Robert Schuman said today he has refused the job of French ambassador to the United States.

Army Men Who Handled Peress Papers Censured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Army said today it had given official reprimands to two officers for tardy handling of papers in the case of Dr. Irving Peress, the New York dentist involved in Sen. McCarthy's bitter row with the Army.

And a third officer who handled some of the Peress papers has since been discharged for a "totally unrelated reason," the Army said.

This information was given to McCarthy by Secretary of the Army Stevens in a letter to the Wisconsin Republican which the Army made public.

The letter was in reply to an inquiry by McCarthy Oct. 25.

The names of the three officers were not revealed by the Army either in the letter or in a news release explaining the correspondence.

In his letter to McCarthy, Stevens said no action has been taken against the three principal officers involved in the honorable discharge of Peress, because none of the officers "manifested the slightest indication of Communist sympathy nor any other dereliction of duty."

Stevens added that in the absence of any evidence of any "collusion, conspiracy, or 'coddling of Communists' there has been no reason" to change the normal routine for promotion or assignment of any of the officers, aside from the two receiving reprimands, connected with the handling of papers or involved in the Peress matter.

Peress has been described repeatedly by McCarthy as a "Fifth-Amendment Communist" who, he says, was promoted and honorably discharged despite a refusal to answer questions about alleged Red ties. The Army conceded previously that the case was badly handled.

Bowles Freed On $1,000 Bond

DOVER, Del., Nov. 3 (AP)—Bryant Bowles, head of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People was free in $1,000 bail today pending an extradition arraignment by Dec. 2.

The controversial head of the NAAWP, an anti-integration organization, was arrested on a fugitive warrant charge issued by police in Memphis, Tenn. Magistrate George K. Shockley, who set the bail, said Memphis authorities are charging Bowles with issuing a worthless check against the NAAWP account.

The hearing today came shortly before he was arraigned before Judge Arleigh B. Magee on two charges of conspiracy to violate the school laws of Delaware. The 42-year-old NAAWP leader pleaded innocent and a hearing was set for Nov. 29.

The Delaware charges grew out of his efforts to prevent the integration of eleven Negro students into the previously all-white Milford High School. The Negroes have since been withdrawn pending a hearing on the case before the State Supreme Court.

True, Tuesday's election results showed at the time that the House had gone Democratic, but not by much. And at the time of the news conference the only thing certain about the Senate was this: It wasn't going anywhere very convincingly.

A little early, in short, for a post-mortem.

But, first, a look at the coach himself.

Eisenhower began by saying he hoped everybody had had some sleep. He didn't say when he had gone to bed, but he had a tired look around his eyes that hinted he, too, had had trouble turning off the light.

In general, though, you'd have to say he looked pert. And a couple of times, he was downright jovial.

The President began by saying he had been absolutely astonished and surprised by some of the results. He took the fun out of this, though, by refusing to say which results had so surprised and astonished him.

Attempts to get him to eat some of his stronger campaign words didn't get far either, although he did soften them a mite. Now that he was faced with the actual prospect of a Democratic House, Eisenhower said he had put it too strong when he said it would be a cold war if a Democratic Congress were elected.

Naturally someone asked him if he'd seek another four-year contract when this one runs out two years from now. No positive answer, other than to say nothing in the election results had made him change his plans.

Ability To Offset Democratic Trend Adds Luster To M'Keldin's Victory

Sheppard Watches Jurors Enter Home

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, flanked by a deputy on each side, watches members of the jury in his murder trial enter the Sheppard home in Bay Village near Cleveland. The purpose of the trip is to familiarize the jurors with the scene, before testimony starts. The young osteopath, accused of slaying his wife, broke into tears several times. He is bareheaded man in group at right.

Plurality Over Byrd Reaches 58,778 Votes

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who wrote a new chapter in Maryland's political history, watched his vote grow today as he looked forward to another four years in office.

He is only the fourth Republican governor in the state's history, and the first to win a second term. He won it decisively.

With 42 polling places unreported, McKeldin led Dr. H. C. Byrd, Democratic nominee who retired as president of the University of Maryland to seek his first public office, by 58,778 votes. The unofficial tabulation gave McKeldin 368,494 and Byrd 309,716.

Making his victory even more impressive was his ability to conquer a Democratic trend which elected an attorney general by a comfortable margin, reversed the slim Republican 4-3 margin in Congress, and greatly added to what was already a heavily Democratic Legislature.

Incomplete returns showed only five Republican state senators still sure of their jobs, compared to 11 in the previous session. And at least one had won by a close margin in a traditionally Republican county.

McKeldin Carries 13 Counties

McKeldin's plurality in this election compared to a 93,983 margin over Democratic Gov. William Preston Lane Jr. in 1950 when the sales tax aroused resentment against Lane.

Yesterday, McKeldin carried 13 of the 23 counties: Allegany, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, Talbot and Wicomico.

Byrd carried 10: Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Prince Georges, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Somerset, Washington and Worcester.

McKeldin would have won by about 16,000 if it had been up to the counties alone. He carried the city of Baltimore by almost 43,000, despite its top-heavy Democratic registration.

Switch In Fifth District

The Republican seat in Congress from the 5th District switched from Republican Rep. Frank Small Jr. of Clinton to Richard E. Lankford, Annapolis Democrat. Complete unofficial returns gave Lankford a margin of 9,303 votes.

The tightest race was in the 6th, where Republican Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde of Bethesda led Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg Democrat, 3,666 votes with only five of 296 polling places to be heard from. The count gave Hyde 68,307 and Ryan 64,641.

While McKeldin was winning decisively, his Republican running mate, Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins, was faring poorly.

State Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert ousted Rollins by a 36,597 vote margin with 42 of 1345 polling places to be heard from. The count was Sybert 315,687 and Rollins 279,090.

Navy Calls Off Search For Missing Transport

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — The Navy said today it has called off the search for the Navy Super Constellation plane which disappeared over the Atlantic Saturday with 42 persons aboard.

The Navy information office said the far-ranging search was canceled because of extremely adverse weather conditions.

New Jersey, Oregon Races Hold Answer

Democrats Capture House 232 To 203 In Close Election

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Democrats nailed down control of the House today and, in a hair's-breadth finale to a dramatically close election, bid for control of the Senate as well.

The final unofficial count gave the Democrats a 232 to 203 margin in the House—a net gain of 17 seats formerly held by Republicans.

Tonight, still undecided races at opposite ends of the country, in Oregon and New Jersey, held the answer to the battle for the Senate.

In Oregon, nearly 24 hours after the polls closed, Democrat Richard L. Neuberger pulled ahead of veteran GOP Senator Guy Cordon with the count still incomplete. A victory there would tip the Senate balance in favor of the Democrats.

The Democrats needed only a win in Oregon or New Jersey, plus the promised support of Oregon's independent Sen. Wayne Morse, to end the Republicans' two-year control of the Senate.

Case Ahead In New Jersey

For the Democrats, the election certainly brought forth nothing like the tremendous tide of victory they had scented.

And while the shift definitely was to the party out of power, in keeping with tradition in nonpresidential elections it represented no clear-cut defeat for the Eisenhower administration's program and policies.

The great political verdict of 1954 did reject Eisenhower's strong, repeated bids for a completely Republican Congress with which to work in his next two years in the White House.

In governorship races, 34 of them across the nation, the Democrats crunched out more impressive victories than in the congressional battle. Without yielding one of their own, they kept alive the trend that started with the election of a Democratic governor in Maine in September.

GOP Loses 7 Governorships

Tuesday's results added scalps of seven more Republican governors to the Democratic collection. The Maine trend kept in going straight down the Atlantic seaboard, Connecticut, mighty New York, Pennsylvania.

It appeared again in Minnesota, and in the West in Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

Admittedly "astonished and surprised" at some of the results from Tuesday's balloting, President Eisenhower told a news conference that "no, I don't" see any disapproval of administration policies in loss of the House. Nor, he said, did he detect any repudiation of the program of his administration.

As for any effect the results might have on his thinking about the White House and 1956—well, Eisenhower said, certainly there hadn't been any so far, as "I don't try to predict too far in advance, even with respect to myself."

Bowles Freed On $1,000 Bond

DOVER, Del., Nov. 3 (AP)—Bryant Bowles, head of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People was free in $1,000 bail today pending an extradition arraignment by Dec. 2.

The controversial head of the NAAWP, an anti-integration organization, was arrested on a fugitive warrant charge issued by police in Memphis, Tenn. Magistrate George K. Shockley, who set the bail, said Memphis authorities are charging Bowles with issuing a worthless check against the NAAWP account.

The hearing today came shortly before he was arraigned before Judge Arleigh B. Magee on two charges of conspiracy to violate the school laws of Delaware. The 42-year-old NAAWP leader pleaded innocent and a hearing was set for Nov. 29.

The Delaware charges grew out of his efforts to prevent the integration of eleven Negro students into the previously all-white Milford High School. The Negroes have since been withdrawn pending a hearing on the case before the State Supreme Court.

Sheppard And Jury Visit Slaying Scene

They caught his eye during a singularly dramatic homecoming. The little boy who forgot the teddy bear and who smiled for the camera was his 7-year-old son, Chip.

With the jury that is trying him for his life, Sheppard was taken today to the white and green frame home where his wife, Marilyn, 31, was murdered in her bed last July 4.

Fights For Composure

He had not set foot on the premises since a few days after her slaying. The bleakness of the cold, gray day was matched only by the bleakness in the handsome Sheppard's face as he fought for composure.

The 30-year-old osteopath is accused of slaying his wife. He faces the electric chair if convicted. He has denied the crime and said a bushy-haired stranger did the slaying.

James R. Manning, 38-year-old real estate salesman who committed a sex crime 11 years ago, was dropped from the jury during the morning after he pleaded:

"I feel I'll be a sub headline as long as this trial lasts. I will definitely have a nervous breakdown within a very short time. In fact, I feel like one right now."

Mistrial Motion Denied

The defense roared objections and demanded a mistrial for breaking up the jury at this stage. Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan accused the state of ousting Manning by "devious methods . . . trickery . . . malice aforethought."

Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin, re-elected yesterday, was the calmest man in the packed courtroom. He cut short the arguments, excused Manning and turned down the mistrial motion.

Alternate juror No. 1, Jack H. Hansen, a burly general foreman in a tractor plant, was promoted to the jury in Manning's place.

Adlai Thanks Truman For "Nominating" Him

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., Nov. 3 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today thanked former President Truman for naming Stevenson his presidential candidate for 1956 but said "I have no present plans for future political activity."

Stevenson, Democratic nominee for President in 1952, issued a brief statement commenting on Truman's remarks on the NBC television show, "Today."

An interviewer asked Truman to name his choice for a candidate in 1956. The former President named Stevenson. In reply, Stevenson gave this statement to newsmen:

"I am grateful to former President Truman for his confidence and good will but I have no present plans for future political activity.

"I've done what I could for the Democratic party for the past two years and now I shall have to be less active and give more attention to my own affairs."

Demos 'Won't Hate Ike,' Rayburn Says

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 3 (AP)—Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), due to be the next speaker of the House, today said Democrats in Congress "won't hate Ike . . . as Roosevelt and Truman were hated" by the Republicans.

He and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) both pledged to cooperate with the President on matters "in the interest of the American people."

Johnson, Senate minority leader, would become majority leader of the Senate if the Democrats win control there as they have in the House.

Nobel Prize Won By Calif. Chemist Linked To Reds

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Nobel prize for chemistry was awarded tonight to a controversial California scientist who discovered how the vital protein molecules of plants and animals hang together.

Two German-born scientists who developed valuable atomic tools and techniques shared the physics prize.

The Royal Swedish Academy of Science voted the chemistry prize of 181,646 krona (about $35,000) to Dr. Linus Pauling, 53, professor of chemistry at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena.

The physics prize of the same amount is split between Prof. Walter Bothe, 63, of the Max Planck Institute at Heidelberg, Germany, and Dr. Max Born, 72, a theoretical physicist who once sought refuge in Britain from Hitler and now lives in retirement at Bad Pyrmont in Hannover, Germany.

In recent years Pauling has been under fire several times for alleged Communist affiliations, which he has stoutly denied. Ex-Communist Louis Budenz named him among 30 scientists and educators alleged to be former party members. Pauling denied that accusation under oath.

Clash In Damascus

Flexible Farm Supports Given Voters' Backing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower's flexible farm price support program was generally credited by observers here today with having survived its first test of voter sentiment.

Despite Democratic efforts to make the farm program a major campaign issue in many places, Republicans marked up significant election victories in farm belt states where the new program would have the most effect, and Democrats who favored it were generally successful.

Supporters of the plan were heartened especially by Republican Thomas E. Martin's victory over Sen. Guy M. Gillette in Iowa and Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel's re-election over former Democratic Sen. George McGill in Kansas. The farm issue was sharply drawn in both states.

Some Republicans who won elsewhere differed with Eisenhower on that issue but the over-all results, observers felt' at least provided no repudiation of the program. Most Democratic gains were confined to urban areas.

Actually, the flexible support plan is not yet in operation, and may face an even more significant test in 1956 after its effects become known. But a spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation, which favored a flexible program even before Eisenhower proposed it, said he thought farmers had taken it fully into consideration in casting their votes this year.

Schuman Says "No"

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Former Premier Robert Schuman said today he has refused the job of French ambassador to the United States.

Army Men Who Handled Peress Papers Censured

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Army said today it had given official reprimands to two officers for tardy handling of papers in the case of Dr. Irving Peress, the New York dentist involved in Sen. McCarthy's bitter row with the Army.

And a third officer who handled some of the Peress papers has since been discharged for a "totally unrelated reason," the Army said.

This information was given to McCarthy by Secretary of the Army Stevens in a letter to the Wisconsin Republican which the Army made public.

The letter was in reply to an inquiry by McCarthy Oct. 25.

The names of the three officers were not revealed by the Army either in the letter or in a news release explaining the correspondence.

In his letter to McCarthy, Stevens said no action has been taken against the three principal officers involved in the honorable discharge of Peress, because none of the officers "manifested the slightest indication of Communist sympathy nor any other dereliction of duty."

Stevens added that in the absence of any evidence of any "collusion, conspiracy, or 'coddling of Communists' there has been no reason" to change the normal routine for promotion or assignment of any of the officers, aside from the two receiving reprimands, connected with the handling of papers or involved in the Peress matter.

Peress has been described repeatedly by McCarthy as a "Fifth-Amendment Communist" who, he says, was promoted and honorably discharged despite a refusal to answer questions about alleged Red ties. The Army conceded previously that the case was badly handled.

Outcome Of Key State Elections

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Following is a rundown on some of the states in Tuesday's election. All states elected full delegations to the House of Representatives and some also voted for governors and senators:

ARKANSAS

Democrats on top all the way. They elected Orval Faubus governor, sent John L. McClellan back to the Senate and kept six House seats in the Democratic column.

CALIFORNIA

Republican Gov. Goodwin F. "Goody" Knight cleaned up in his bid for a full term in the statehouse and Thomas F. Kuchel, Republican, eased back into the Senate for the two-year unexpired term of Vice President Nixon. The House delegation split 19 Republicans, 11 Democrats. Old line-up: 19 Republicans, 11 Democrats. James Roosevelt is one of the new Democratic congressmen.

COLORADO

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, a powerful Democratic vote-getter in this normally Republican state, got elected governor but Republican Gordon Allot nosed out former Rep. John A. Carroll in a close fight for the Senate seat Johnson vacated. House delegation remains unchanged: 2 to 2.

CONNECTICUT

Abraham A. Ribicoff copped enough votes to edge incumbent John D. Lodge, Republican, in the fight for governor. House seats stay the same: 5 Republicans, 1 Democrat.

DELAWARE

Voters here returned J. Allen Frear, Democrat, to the Senate with a comfortable margin. Democrats also walked off with the only House seat, formerly held by Rep. Herbert B. Warburton, the man Frear licked in the Senate contest.

IDAHO

Republican Sen. Henry C. Dworshak swamped Glen H. Taylor, one-time vice presidential candidate on the Progressive party ticket, in the Senate contest. Republicans also elected their man governor. He is Robert E. Smylie. House delegation unchanged at 1-1.

ILLINOIS

Voters here gave Paul H. Douglas a quarter-million plurality in his bid for re-election to the Senate against Republican Joseph T. Meek. And Democrats picked up 12 House seats, a gain of 3. Republicans took 13. Old count: 16 Republicans, 9 Democrats.

IOWA

Guy M. Gillette, Democratic senator, went down to somewhat surprising defeat in this farm state at the hands of Republican Rep. Thomas E. Martin. Leo A. Hoegh, Republican, had a tougher time beating Democrat Clyde E. Herring, in the gubernatorial race, than Martin had with Gillette. Republicans kept all eight House seats.

KENTUCKY

Alben W. Barkley, aging former "veep" and one-time Democratic leader in the Senate, coasted comfortably to victory in his comeback bid against Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican incumbent. Democrats took six House seats, Republicans two, same as before.

MARYLAND

Republican Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin became the only Republican governor in history to win re-election. House seats split three Republicans, four Democrats, a net Democratic gain of one seat.

MASSACHUSETTS

Gov. Christian A. Herter and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, both Republicans, edged out Democratic opponents in their bids for re-election. Democrats and Republicans each picked up seven House seats. A net Democratic gain of one.

MICHIGAN

Sen. Homer Ferguson, an Eisenhower stalwart, got squeezed out by Democrat Patrick V. McNamara in a Senate horse race. Democrat G. Mennen Williams won tidily in his bid for a fourth successive term in the statehouse. Democrats also gained in the House, winning 7 seats against the Republicans' 11. Old count: 12 Republicans, 5 Democrats, one vacancy.

MINNESOTA

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey won in a walk in his bid to go back to the Senate. And Orville Freeman, a Humphrey protege, beat out Republican incumbent C. Elmer Anderson in a surprise race for governor. Republicans had 4 House seats, Democrats 5, a Democratic gain of one seat.

MONTANA

NEW JERSEY

Closest contest in the nation appeared to be the Senate race between Clifford P. Case, Republican, and Charles R. Howell, Democrat. Each claimed victory by less than a couple hundred votes. Nothing official yet. House seats were unchanged — 8 Republicans and 6 Democrats elected.

NEW MEXICO

Democratic sweep sent Sen. Clinton P. Anderson back to the Senate, elected John F. Simms Jr., governor, and kept both House seats in Democratic hands.

NEW YORK

W. Averell Harriman, candidate of the Democratic and Liberal parties, squeaked to election as governor over Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives. Harriman's apparent edge, in more than 5 million votes cast, was a bare 10,000 or so.

But Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., in his first statewide election bid, got trounced by Jacob K. Javits, Republican, in the race for attorney general. Javits beat young Roosevelt by close to 200,000, indicating an unusual amount of ticket-splitting by New Yorkers.

Democrats captured two House seats they hadn't held before. Total: Republicans 26, Democrats 17. Old line-up: Republicans 27, Democrats 15, 1 vacancy.

NORTH CAROLINA

Democrats sent W. Kerr Scott, a former governor, to the Senate and continued Sen. Samuel J. Ervin in office for the two-year unexpired term of the late Sen. Clyde Hoey. Republicans kept control of the 10th Congressional District, leaving House line-up unchanged at 11 Democrats, 1 Republican.

OHIO

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, a Democrat, won an unprecedented fifth term but Democrat Thomas A. Burke, the incumbent, lost a see-saw battle to Rep. George H. Bender in the Senate race. Bender will serve for two years, the unexpired term of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. In the House, Republicans took 17 seats, Democrats 6. Old line-up: 16 Republicans, 5 Democrats, 1 Independent and 1 vacancy.

PENNSYLVANIA

George M. Leader became the first Democratic governor since the 1930's, besting Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Republican, by a quarter of a million votes. And Democrats picked up a net gain of three House seats. The new line-up: 16 Republicans, 14 Democrats.

SOUTH CAROLINA

J. Strom Thurmond, former presidential candidate on the States Rights ticket, surprised some voters by getting himself elected Senator as a write-in candidate. He beat Edgar A. Brown, choice of the regular Democratic organization. Democrats elected George Bell Timmerman governor and all 6 House candidates.

TENNESSEE

Two Democratic incumbents got re-elected—Frank G. Clement governor and Estes Kefauver senator. House line-up is unchanged at 2 Republicans and 7 Democrats.

VIRGINIA

Democrats surprised no one by sending Sen. A. Willis Robertson back to the Senate. But Republicans showed they meant business in this strongly Democratic territory by keeping 2 seats in the House. Democrats took the other 8. Old count: 7 Democrats, 3 Republicans.

WEST VIRGINIA

Sen. Matthew M. Neely, reported to be the only Democratic candidate in the country who made President Eisenhower the central issue in the campaign, won handily in his bid for re-election. And Democrats kept the five House seats they had and added the single seat won by Republicans two years ago. New count: 0 Republicans, 6 Democrats.

West Va. GOP Hopes Drowned By Demo Tide

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — West Virginia Republicans, their off-year hopes drowned by the Democratic tide, even appeared tonight to have lost their lone foothold in the state's congressional delegation by a slim margin.

Former Rep. M. G. Burnside led the Republican incumbent, Rep. Will E. Neal, by 438 votes in complete but unofficial returns from the hair-breadth 4th District race.

Associated Press tabulations from the district's 476 precincts had Democrat Burnside leading the 79-year-old physician, 56,377 to 55,939.

Burnside failed to win re-election to a third term two years ago when he was beaten by Dr. Neal, who became the first Republican elected to the House of Representatives from West Virginia since 1946.

Otherwise, these were the results of yesterday's balloting in West Virginia:

U. S. Senate—Democratic Sen. Matthew M Neely of Fairmont, who will be 80 next Tuesday, re-elected to a fifth term. His bulge over Thomas B. Sweeney of Wheeling, who now has been beaten three times as a GOP Senate nominee, was 54,000 votes with nearly 95 per cent of the precincts reported.

House of Representatives—Five Democratic incumbents re-elected by unofficial margins ranging from 5,700 upstate in the 1st District to 85,600 in the southern 6th.

Legislature — Apparent Democratic gains of one seat in the Senate and eight seats in the House of delegates. Unofficial results indicate the Senate will have 23 Democrats and nine Republicans, the House 75 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

Legislative amendment — Approved by a margin of more than 60,000. The amendment to the state constitution boosts the yearly pay of state legislators from $500 and $1,500 a year. It also calls for a budget-making session of the legislature in the even-numbered years, in addition to the general sessions which heretofore have been held in the odd years.

Rebel Terrorists Cut Off French Columns

ALGIERS, Algeria, Nov. 3 (AP)—Two armored French relief columns battled their way into the little town of Arris in the Algeria-Tunisia border region today, then found themselves cut off by fierce attack from rebel terrorists operating from surrounding mountain hideouts.

The rebels slashed highway communications after the French entered Arris. Helicopters were used to maintain contact with the relief columns inside the town.

The village of Foumtoub in the same area was isolated by rebels who machine-gunned a bus and blew up two bridges.

About 12 per cent of the people in the Golden Gate area of California depend on shipping and foreign trade for a living.

New Jersey

To Adlai E. Stevenson the election was "a portent of things to come." But he quickly added it "has nothing whatever to do with whether I'll run again for the presidency."

Defeated by Eisenhower in 1952, Stevenson spearheaded the Democratic drive for a Democratic Congress this year. And former President Harry S. Truman said today that the former Illinois governor is his man for 1956.

Stevenson thanked Truman in a statement but said, "I have no present plans for future political activity."

Democrats swept into control of the House with the necessary 218 of 435 seats at 8:50 a.m. EST.

At 5:33 p.m. final but unofficial figures for the House gave Democrats 232 seats, Republicans 203.

They did it by hanging onto most of the seats they already held, bumping Republicans and one Independent out of 22 seats and giving up only five to the Republicans.

Early tonight, this was the situation in the crucial, undecided Senate races:

New Jersey—With all precincts reported, Republican Clifford P. Case, a "1,000 per cent" Eisenhower backer, clung to a margin of 1,315 votes out of more than 1,700,000 cast. It appeared that unpredictable absentee ballots or an official canvass would be required to settle the contest with Democratic Rep. Charles R. Howell.

Oregon—With returns in from 2,378 of the 2,499 precincts, Democrat Richard L. Neuberger held a slim lead of 286 notes, 269,020 to 268,734 over Republican Sen. Guy Cordon.

The GOP had a glimmer of hope for a while of salvaging Senate control without a New Jersey victory. Out in Montana, it was touch and go all the way between Republican Rep. Wesley D'Ewart and old-timer James Murray. But Murray finally nudged out a victory to keep the Senate seat he has held 20 years.

Republicans had 33 senators held over from the last Congress. They had re-elected 10 members and lost four seats to the Democrats. The Democrats had 24 holdovers, re-elected 19 and gave up three seats to the GOP.

Democrats Take 7 Governorships Away From GOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — Democrats took seven governorships away from Republicans in yesterday's elections without losing any of their own.

Including Maine, where Edmund Muskie scored an upset victory in September, the total of switchovers stood at eight with Wyoming's race still undecided.

Minnesota was the latest addition to the group which included such politically important states as New York and Pennsylvania. Others were Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut and New Mexico.

In Minnesota, Orville Freeman, Democrat-Farmer Labor candidate, upset incumbent Gov. C. Elmer Anderson to end the Republican party's 16-year hold on the office.

Counting Maine, 34 governorships were at stake this year.

With only Wyoming undecided, Democrats had won 19 of them and Republicans 14. The Republican candidate was ahead in Wyoming.

Holdovers include six Republicans and eight Democrats.

With their holdovers plus those newly elected, Democratic governors will outnumber Republicans, 27 to 21.

The Republicans went into this year's elections with 29 governors to 19 for the Democrats, the biggest GOP statehouse advantage since 1930, when the division was exactly the same.

The biggest political prize of all captured by the Democrats was in New York where Averell Harriman nosed out Sen. Irving Ives, picked as the GOP standard bearer after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey decided to retire after his third straight term.

Rain Or Snow Falls On Much Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

A cold air mass lay over the Southeastern states Wednesday, and rain or snow fell on much of the rest of the country.

Most temperatures in the Southeast were in the 40s during the day as far south as Central Florida. Temperatures in the 40s and 50s also were common across the plains from Texas to the Dakotas and over the Rockies to the Western Plateau.

Rain or snow fell from Central Pennsylvania northward over most of New England. Six inches of snow was reported at Binghamton, N. Y., and five inches at Phillipsburg and Blairsville in Pennsylvania.

Ability To

With tabulating still to be completed in some contests, Democrats appeared to have added 26 seats in the House of Delegates to give them a margin of 97 to 18. Democrats were leading in three incomplete races and Republicans were in front in five.

In the Senate, the Democrats appeared assured of 22 seats compared to 18 against the Republicans' 11 last year. Republicans could count only five definite but were leading in two close but incomplete contests. In traditionally Republican Charles County, GOP State Sen. James Monroe had won reelection by only 99 votes.

The "Cleaningest" Cleaner!

There's Been a Change Made in FINA FOAM

The new Triple Strength Fina Foam produces the highest level cleaning efficiency. It has a definite advantage where the resoiling of carpeting or upholstery is considered. When carpets are home cleaned, a good portion of the cleaner remains in the pile because rinsing has been omitted. Any of the new Fina Foam left in the carpet dries to a fine invisible crystalline powder which is easily removed by vacuuming. Ordinarily, soaps and some synthetic detergents leave a gummy deposit in the pile; this traps dirt and causes the carpet to resoil rapidly. The new Fina Foam does not cause the fibres to mat and on drying leaves the rugs or upholsetry fabrics with an open lofty pile. The new Fina Foam is triple strength. One gallon makes 3 gallons, so not only is it much more efficient and easy to apply, it is much less costly to use. The new Triple Strength Fina Foam is available at Rosenbaum's.

Republican Gov. Goodwin F. "Goody" Knight cleaned up in his bid for a full term in the statehouse and Thomas F. Kuchel, Republican, eased back into the Senate for the two-year unexpired term of Vice President Nixon. The House delegation split 19 Republicans, 11 Democrats. Old line-up: 19 Republicans, 11 Democrats. James Roosevelt is one of the new Democratic congressmen.

COLORADO

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, a powerful Democratic vote-getter in this normally Republican state, got elected governor but Republican Gordon Allot nosed out former Rep. John A. Carroll in a close fight for the Senate seat Johnson vacated. House delegation remains unchanged: 2 to 2.

CONNECTICUT

Abraham A. Ribicoff copped enough votes to edge incumbent John D. Lodge, Republican, in the fight for governor. House seats stay the same: 5 Republicans, 1 Democrat.

DELAWARE

Voters here returned J. Allen Frear, Democrat, to the Senate with a comfortable margin. Democrats also walked off with the only House seat, formerly held by Rep. Herbert B. Warburton, the man Frear licked in the Senate contest.

IDAHO

Republican Sen. Henry C. Dworshak swamped Glen H. Taylor, one-time vice presidential candidate on the Progressive party ticket, in the Senate contest. Republicans also elected their man governor. He is Robert E. Smylie. House delegation unchanged at 1-1.

ILLINOIS

Voters here gave Paul H. Douglas a quarter-million plurality in his bid for re-election to the Senate against Republican Joseph T. Meek. And Democrats picked up 12 House seats, a gain of 3. Republicans took 13. Old count: 16 Republicans, 9 Democrats.

IOWA

Guy M. Gillette, Democratic senator, went down to somewhat surprising defeat in this farm state at the hands of Republican Rep. Thomas E. Martin. Leo A. Hoegh, Republican, had a tougher time beating Democrat Clyde E. Herring, in the gubernatorial race, than Martin had with Gillette. Republicans kept all eight House seats.

KENTUCKY

Alben W. Barkley, aging former "veep" and one-time Democratic leader in the Senate, coasted comfortably to victory in his comeback bid against Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Republican incumbent. Democrats took six House seats, Republicans two, same as before.

MARYLAND

Republican Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin became the only Republican governor in history to win re-election. House seats split three Republicans, four Democrats, a net Democratic gain of one seat.

MASSACHUSETTS

Gov. Christian A. Herter and Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, both Republicans, edged out Democratic opponents in their bids for re-election. Democrats and Republicans each picked up seven House seats. A net Democratic gain of one.

MICHIGAN

Sen. Homer Ferguson, an Eisenhower stalwart, got squeezed out by Democrat Patrick V. McNamara in a Senate horse race. Democrat G. Mennen Williams won tidily in his bid for a fourth successive term in the statehouse. Democrats also gained in the House, winning 7 seats against the Republicans' 11. Old count: 12 Republicans, 5 Democrats, one vacancy.

MINNESOTA

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey won in a walk in his bid to go back to the Senate. And Orville Freeman, a Humphrey protege, beat out Republican incumbent C. Elmer Anderson in a surprise race for governor. Republicans had 4 House seats, Democrats 5, a Democratic gain of one seat.

MONTANA

NEW JERSEY

Closest contest in the nation appeared to be the Senate race between Clifford P. Case, Republican, and Charles R. Howell, Democrat. Each claimed victory by less than a couple hundred votes. Nothing official yet. House seats were unchanged — 8 Republicans and 6 Democrats elected.

NEW MEXICO

Democratic sweep sent Sen. Clinton P. Anderson back to the Senate, elected John F. Simms Jr., governor, and kept both House seats in Democratic hands.

NEW YORK

W. Averell Harriman, candidate of the Democratic and Liberal parties, squeaked to election as governor over Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives. Harriman's apparent edge, in more than 5 million votes cast, was a bare 10,000 or so.

But Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., in his first statewide election bid, got trounced by Jacob K. Javits, Republican, in the race for attorney general. Javits beat young Roosevelt by close to 200,000, indicating an unusual amount of ticket-splitting by New Yorkers.

Democrats captured two House seats they hadn't held before. Total: Republicans 26, Democrats 17. Old line-up: Republicans 27, Democrats 15, 1 vacancy.

NORTH CAROLINA

Democrats sent W. Kerr Scott, a former governor, to the Senate and continued Sen. Samuel J. Ervin in office for the two-year unexpired term of the late Sen. Clyde Hoey. Republicans kept control of the 10th Congressional District, leaving House line-up unchanged at 11 Democrats, 1 Republican.

OHIO

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, a Democrat, won an unprecedented fifth term but Democrat Thomas A. Burke, the incumbent, lost a seesaw battle to Rep. George H. Bender in the Senate race. Bender will serve for two years, the unexpired term of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. In the House, Republicans took 17 seats, Democrats 6. Old line-up: 16 Republicans, 5 Democrats, 1 Independent and 1 vacancy.

PENNSYLVANIA

George M. Leader became the first Democratic governor since the 1930's, besting Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, Republican, by a quarter of a million votes. And Democrats picked up a net gain of three House seats. The new line-up: 16 Republicans, 14 Democrats.

SOUTH CAROLINA

J. Strom Thurmond, former presidential candidate on the States Rights ticket, surprised some voters by getting himself elected Senator as a write-in candidate. He beat Edgar A. Brown, choice of the regular Democratic organization. Democrats elected George Bell Timmerman governor and all 6 House candidates.

TENNESSEE

Two Democratic incumbents got re-elected—Frank G. Clement governor and Estes Kefauver senator. House line-up is unchanged at 2 Republicans and 7 Democrats.

VIRGINIA

Democrats surprised no one by sending Sen. A. Willis Robertson back to the Senate. But Republicans showed they meant business in this strongly Democratic territory by keeping 2 seats in the House. Democrats took the other 8. Old count: 7 Democrats, 3 Republicans.

WEST VIRGINIA

Sen. Matthew M. Neely, reported to be the only Democratic candidate in the country who made President Eisenhower the central issue in the campaign, won handily in his bid for re-election. And Democrats kept the five House seats they had and added the single seat won by Republicans two years ago. New count: 0 Republicans, 6 Democrats.

West Va. GOP Hopes Drowned By Demo Tide

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — West Virginia Republicans, their off-year hopes drowned by the Democratic tide, even appeared tonight to have lost their lone foothold in the state's congressional delegation by a slim margin.

Former Rep. M. G. Burnside led the Republican incumbent, Rep. Will E. Neal, by 438 votes in complete but unofficial returns from the hair-breadth 4th District race.

Associated Press tabulations from the district's 476 precincts had Democrat Burnside leading the 79-year-old physician, 56,377 to 55,939.

Burnside failed to win re-election to a third term two years ago when he was beaten by Dr. Neal, who became the first Republican elected to the House of Representatives from West Virginia since 1946.

Otherwise, these were the results of yesterday's balloting in West Virginia:

U. S. Senate—Democratic Sen. Matthew M Neely of Fairmont, who will be 80 next Tuesday, re-elected to a fifth term. His bulge over Thomas B. Sweeney of Wheeling, who now has been beaten three times as a GOP Senate nominee, was 54,000 votes with nearly 95 per cent of the precincts reported.

House of Representatives—Five Democratic incumbents re-elected by unofficial margins ranging from 5,700 upstate in the 1st District to 85,600 in the southern 6th.

Legislature — Apparent Democratic gains of one seat in the Senate and eight seats in the House of delegates. Unofficial results indicate the Senate will have 23 Democrats and nine Republicans, the House 75 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

Legislative amendment — Approved by a margin of more than 60,000. The amendment to the state constitution boosts the yearly pay of state legislators from $500 and $1,500 a year. It also calls for a budget-making session of the legislature in the even-numbered years, in addition to the general sessions which heretofore have been held in the odd years.

Rebel Terrorists Cut Off French Columns

ALGIERS, Algeria, Nov. 3 (AP)—Two armored French relief columns battled their way into the little town of Arris in the Algeria-Tunisia border region today, then found themselves cut off by fierce attack from rebel terrorists operating from surrounding mountain hideouts.

The rebels slashed highway communications after the French entered Arris. Helicopters were used to maintain contact with the relief columns inside the town.

The village of Foumtoub in the same area was isolated by rebels who machine-gunned a bus and blew up two bridges.

About 12 per cent of the people in the Golden Gate area of California depend on shipping and foreign trade for a living.

New Jersey

To Adlai E. Stevenson the election was "a portent of things to come." But he quickly added it "has nothing whatever to do with whether I'll run again for the presidency."

Defeated by Eisenhower in 1952, Stevenson spearheaded the Democratic drive for a Democratic Congress this year. And former President Harry S. Truman said today that the former Illinois governor is his man for 1956.

Stevenson thanked Truman in a statement but said, "I have no present plans for future political activity."

Democrats swept into control of the House with the necessary 218 of 435 seats at 8:50 a.m. EST.

At 5:33 p.m. final but unofficial figures for the House gave Democrats 232 seats, Republicans 203.

They did it by hanging onto most of the seats they already held, bumping Republicans and one Independent out of 22 seats and giving up only five to the Republicans.

Early tonight, this was the situation in the crucial, undecided Senate races:

New Jersey—With all precincts reported, Republican Clifford P. Case, a "1,000 per cent" Eisenhower backer, clung to a margin of 1,315 votes out of more than 1,700,000 cast. It appeared that unpredictable absentee ballots or an official canvass would be required to settle the contest with Democratic Rep. Charles R. Howell.

Oregon—With returns in from 2,378 of the 2,499 precincts, Democrat Richard L. Neuberger held a slim lead of 286 notes, 269,020 to 268,734 over Republican Sen. Guy Cordon.

The GOP had a glimmer of hope for a while of salvaging Senate control without a New Jersey victory. Out in Montana, it was touch and go all the way between Republican Rep. Wesley D'Ewart and old-timer James Murray. But Murray finally nudged out a victory to keep the Senate seat he has held 20 years.

Republicans had 33 senators held over from the last Congress. They had re-elected 10 members and lost four seats to the Democrats. The Democrats had 24 holdovers, re-elected 19 and gave up three seats to the GOP.

Democrats Take 7 Governorships Away From GOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — Democrats took seven governorships away from Republicans in yesterday's elections without losing any of their own.

Including Maine, where Edmund Muskie scored an upset victory in September, the total of switchovers stood at eight with Wyoming's race still undecided.

Minnesota was the latest addition to the group which included such politically important states as New York and Pennsylvania. Others were Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut and New Mexico.

In Minnesota, Orville Freeman, Democrat-Farmer Labor candidate, upset incumbent Gov. C. Elmer Anderson to end the Republican party's 16-year hold on the office.

Counting Maine, 34 governorships were at stake this year.

With only Wyoming undecided, Democrats had won 19 of them and Republicans 14. The Republican candidate was ahead in Wyoming.

Holdovers include six Republicans and eight Democrats.

With their holdovers plus those newly elected, Democratic governors will outnumber Republicans, 27 to 21.

The Republicans went into this year's elections with 29 governors to 19 for the Democrats, the biggest GOP statehouse advantage since 1930, when the division was exactly the same.

The biggest political prize of all captured by the Democrats was in New York where Averell Harriman nosed out Sen. Irving Ives, picked as the GOP standard bearer after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey decided to retire after his third straight term.

Rain Or Snow Falls On Much Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

A cold air mass lay over the Southeastern states Wednesday, and rain or snow fell on much of the rest of the country.

Most temperatures in the Southeast were in the 40s during the day as far south as Central Florida. Temperatures in the 40s and 50s also were common across the plains from Texas to the Dakotas and over the Rockies to the Western Plateau.

Rain or snow fell from Central Pennsylvania northward over most of New England. Six inches of snow was reported at Binghamton, N. Y., and five inches at Phillipsburg and Blairsville in Pennsylvania.

Ability To

The preponderant Democratic registration in Maryland (more than 2 to 1) was borne out strongest in the legislative races.

With tabulating still to be completed in some contests, Democrats appeared to have added 26 seats in the House of Delegates to give them a margin of 97 to 18. Democrats were leading in three incomplete races and Republicans were in front in five.

In the Senate, the Democrats appeared assured of 22 seats compared to 18 against the Republicans' 11 last year. Republicans could count only five definite but were leading in two close but incomplete contests. In traditionally Republican Charles County, GOP State Sen. James Monroe had won reelection by only 99 votes.

Md. Vote Larger Than 1950 When McKeldin Won

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP)—More Marylanders voted in Tuesday's elections than in 1950, when Gov. McKeldin first upset the Democrats.

The total vote in his contest yesterday with Democrat Harry Clifton Byrd promises to run to almost 680,000 with the Republican governor on top by about 59,000.

Four years ago, when he beat William Preston Lane Jr. by almost 94,000 votes, their combined count totaled 645,631.

McKeldin's vote yesterday promises to match his 369,807 total four years ago. Byrd apparently will do about 35,000 better than Lane's 275,824.

The combined vote Tuesday — about 680,000—falls far short of the 894,761 who voted in the contest between President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson two years ago.

Eisenhower won that one 499,424 to 395,337—a margin of 104,087. Stevenson got about 25,000 more votes when he lost in 1952 than McKeldin did in winning on Tuesday.

The latest figures compiled by the secretary of state showed 1,093,087 were eligible to vote Tuesday, so the turnout was about 65 per cent.

Since only 313,360 of those registered profess Republican affiliation, McKeldin obviously got some help from outside his party in rolling up almost 370,000 votes.

A suspicion of where that help might have come from is the fact Byrd could corral no more than 310,000 or so votes from the 756,000 registered Democrats.

First Negro Elected To Legislature Says He's "Rarin' To Go"

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP)—Truly Hatchett, 73, first Negro ever elected to the Maryland Legislature, said today he is "rarin' to go" on "such laws as may be helpful to all the people."

Hatchett, a Democrat elected to the House of Delegates from Baltimore City's 4th District, said he has no specific laws in mind.

A former employe of the Postoffice Department, Hatchett is a real estate man and developer of Morgan Park. He said his interest in business led him to "meddle in politics."

Hatchett about 20 years ago was considered for appointment as recorder of deeds in the District of Columbia, but the appointment went to another. He has been senior claims examiner of the Unemployment Compensation Board of Maryland and has served on the Interracial Commission on appointment by former Gov. Ritchie.

He is a native of Baltimore where he was educated in city schools and later attended a business school. He is married but has no children.

Bar Committee Suggests Possible Judge Appointees

ELLICOTT CITY, Md., Nov. 3 (AP)—Names of the two Howard County lawyers have been suggested to Gov. McKeldin as suitable appointees for the 5th Judicial bench vacancy caused by the retirement of Judge James Clark.

A committee of the Maryland State Bar Association submitted the names of Charles E. Hogg and James Macgill. Macgill also had the recommendation of the Howard County Bar.

Judge Clark stepped down upon reaching 70, the mandatory retirement age, last week.

Democrats Back In Montgomery County Saddle

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 3 (AP) — The Democrats are back in control of the Montgomery County government today—eight years after the voters tossed them out of the courthouse.

They won all seven seats on the County Council, governing body of the county. They also took over the other county jobs up for election and captured five of the six county seats in the Maryland House of Delegates.

But they handed Republican Gov. McKeldin a 5,000 vote majority over Democrat Harry C. Byrd. The vote: McKeldin, 33,350; Byrd, 28,251.

Democratic voters in the county outnumber the Republicans 50,565 to 33,312. Their win for the most part yesterday was their first since the Republican-supported charter movement in 1946 brought the switch to the council-manager system from the old commissioner form of government.

It was the first time in more than a decade that the Democrats hadn't been split by dissension and factionalism.

Political Experiment Fails In Baltimore 4th District

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — The trouble with voters in Baltimore's Fourth District is they don't understand political science. Or, at least, a political scientist might think so.

Young Arthur W. Sherwood, a Republican, was a scientifically selected candidate for Congress—politically speaking.

According to a recent article in the Johns Hopkins Magazine the 29-year-old lawyer was chosen to play the major role in an experiment in practical politics.

The article by I. William Zartman, who taught political Science at Hopkins this summer, described how the scientists apparently examined every nook and corner of the Fourth Congressional District and found its makeup to their liking.

The experts then checked past voting records in the district and decided upon what population groups to concentrate.

Sherwood's campaign was elaborately planned featuring telephone campaigns, bandwagon stumping and a flock of scientifically designed literature.

Zartman wrote in the article: "The group of political scientists expect success, but they feel that their approach will at least have been proved if their candidate loses by no less than a few thousand, as compared with his opponent's victories of 10,000 and more in past elections."

Something went wrong some place. Maybe Sherwood's veteran opponent, Rep. George Fallon, attended too many oyster roasts.

Rep. Condon Unseated In California Election

VALLEJO, Calif. Nov. 3 (AP)—John F. Baldwin, a Republican lawyer, today won the 6th Dist. congressional seat held by Democrat Rep. Robert L. Condon.

Condon, barred as a security risk from a Nevada atomic test, was a special target of GOP campaigners.

All but 10 precincts gave Baldwin 70,062 votes to 68,570 for Condon.

The 10 unreported precincts all were in Baldwin territory.

Memorial For Little Emma

By REX STANLEY
Central Press Correspondent

CLIFTON, Ariz. — It's been 70 years since she saved this copper town from certain massacre, but at long last there may be a proper memorial raised to history-making Little Emma.

Not that the townsfolk have forgotten about her. Until the old-timers told the story so unique in the annals of the old west, few people knew anything about Little Emma. Her 4½ tons of iron and wood didn't make the history books.

However, it's now firmly established that Little Emma is the only locomotive in America that once saved a whole community from sure death at the hands of a bloodthirsty Apache Indian band. She not only stopped the impending massacre, but killed and wounded many Apaches, and routed the rest.

Now that the story's known, the people of Clifton are planning to raise a monument in the center of town, and top it with the little narrow-gauge engine on a section of original track. There will be a bronze plaque, with a description of this great moment in history, and a likeness of her courageous engineer, Henry Arbuckle, too.

After her historic exploit was confirmed, townsfolk were embarrassed to find Little Emma rusting in a junkyard. She must have been in about the same condition when Arbuckle won her in a frontier crap game in 1882.

Two years later, the little engine and 12 ore cars became the first mining railroad in Arizona territory. Every day, the ore train rattled from the smelters at Clifton to the mines on a high mountainside.

After her cars were loaded, Little Emma would back down the steep tracks, spinning her wheels against the thin steel to slow down the winding descent. A mile away from Clifton, the tracks straightened through a deep, narrow gorge.

On the morning of her battle with the Apache band, Little Emma had been doomed by an announcement from the smelter foreman — that a bigger engine was being ordered to replace her and she would be junked. He told Arbuckle to make one more trip, "then get her off the company's tracks."

It was on the down-mountain return of this trip that she made history. As Little Emma squealed along a cliff, Arbuckle could see down into the gorge leading to Clifton. Lances and rifles glinted in the sun. He knew what that meant—a large Apache war party was sneaking through the narrow gorge to the smelter town!

Arbuckle reversed the locomotive's wheels. Instead of braking, they added to the ore train's downgrade speed. Little Emma and her cars careened down the mountainside and into the warrior-packed gorge. Arbuckle knew that the Apaches could wipe out the town without warning. His only weapon was Little Emma and her battering-ram of loaded cars. They hit the Indians full-speed.

Warriors were thrown from their horses, ground under the flashing wheels. A few Apaches managed to squeeze between the gorge walls and the hot engine boiler. Then, screaming with pain and defeat, the few survivors fled.

Clifton was saved and so was the little locomotive. When Arbuckle told his story to the foreman, it was decided that Little Emma had earned the right to stay.

Today, 70 years later, the people of Clifton agree. They're going to make a permanent place for her.

Robert Taft Jr. Wins

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3 (AP)—Robert Taft Jr. will sit in the Ohio House of Representatives next January as his famous father did three decades ago.

He was elected yesterday along with eight other Republicans from Hamilton County. Taft led the field.

Roosevelt Assured Seat In Congress

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3 (AP) — James Roosevelt was assured of a seat in Congress today as he continued to pile up a lead in California's heavily Democratic district.

With 721 of 914 precincts counted, the eldest son of the late President led Republican Theodore Owings 72,198 to 50,206.

But while California voters sent the son of the late President Roosevelt to Congress, they failed to do the same for the one-time personal physician of FDR.

Retired Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire, running as a Democrat, lost to the Republican incumbent, Bob Wilson, in San Diego county's 30th Dist.

Christmas Seal Sale Plans Are Being Completed

The 1954 Christmas seal sale for the benefit of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association will get under way November 22. This year marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the National Tuberculosis Association, the first lay medical group organized to combat a specific disease.

Throughout the country thousands of workers are busy preparing the seals for mailing, and local workers have been busy also.

Glenn K. Davis, this city, is again chairman of the campaign for Allegany-Garrett counties. Chairman have also been appointed in all other counties of the state and in Baltimore City.

Dr. Russell A. Nelson, president of the Maryland Association, has stated that while deaths from tuberculosis have shown a sharp decline in the last decade, newly reported cases have remained fairly constant.

To meet the need for broadening the program of prevention as well as care after stricken, it is hoped that the 1954 seal sale will bring in more than the $450,711.21 raised in Maryland last year.

Of this total, $289,064.77 was raised by the county tuberculosis associations. However, $161,646.44 was raised by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

Meet Tomorrow

The board of directors of the Cumberland Lions Club will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the George Williams Room at Central Y.M.C.A.

A new second vice president will be elected to succeed Thomas Blash, who has left town to enter business in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Before your skin becomes dehydrated from winter wind and steam heat, let's see what we can do about it. Take a good look at your skin. Does the epidermis (outer layer) already appear dry, hard, and dead-looking? Don't be alarmed. This is the layer of your skin that is dead cuticle. In time nature will replace this outer layer with soft, pliable tissue. If you're eager to look your best, help nature along by taking some skin-care tips from the Powers Girls.

Start With Cleansing

First step is to cleanse your face gently but thoroughly. Apply skin cleanser lavishly, and with upward movements gently massage your face and neck. Light slapping motions with the palms help firm the jawline. Around the eyes pat, don't rub, with the fingers, using plenty of cleanser.

If your skin is oily, follow your cosmetic cleansing with a good wash of mild soap and water and a thorough rinsing. Now, you're ready for a steam bath—the best skin-toning routine ever.

Stir a teaspoon of witch hazel into a bowl of steaming hot water. Hold your face about a foot over the bowl so it can catch the steam until it ceases. This expedites the shedding of the dead outer skin, and has a softening, healing effect on the new skin.

Now, stir a tablespoon of oatmeal or almond meal into a basin of warm water and splash this conditioning rinse on your face for several minutes. Let it dry by itself, or pat it dry with a soft cloth.

Beauty Treatment

This is a weekly treatment you shouldn't miss. You won't see results in lovelier, softer skin immediately; improvement comes gradually. But if you continue this toning routine, supplemented by nightly use of a lubricating cream or oil, winter will be far less abusive to your beauty.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow—The art of graciousness.

Baby Sitter Directory Is Being Revised

The City Recreation Department is revising its Baby Sitter Service lists, and plans to issue a new directory within the next 10 days.

Robert E. Pence, recreation director, said applications will be taken all this week.

The 1954-55 baby sitter service will include names of those who will be available in LaVale and other suburban areas.

Pence said the names of all applicants are checked for reliability by the Police Department for all adult sitters and school authorities for girls who are still in school.

The new lists will be arranged according to sections, so that parents may choose from sitters who live in their neighborhood.

This will be the sixth year that the Recreation Department has sponsored a baby sitters service.

Rules and minimum wages for baby sitters are expected to remain unchanged—35 cents an hour until midnight and 50 cents an hour after midnight, with a minimum charge of 50 cents.

Ladies! Why ask for backache?
Look . . .
• You have a washer that takes the hard work out of washing!
• You have a range that takes the fatigue out of cooking!
• You have a vacuum that takes the muscle out of cleaning!

Ironrite Model 850
The appliances you have are wonderful! They help you live longer, look younger, feel better. So why let hand ironing . . . the last tough, mean, dreary job in the house . . . rob you of your looks, your health and your youth? You don't have to!
For now there's a simple way to iron, too. There's a wonderful appliance that lets you sit down, relax, and iron beautifully, in less than half the time it takes you by hand. That appliance is the Ironrite Automatic Ironer. It's simple to operate and amazingly inexpensive. It will iron anything you can wash, and it will end, once and for all, the achy, worn-out, tired-all-over feeling of old-fashioned ironing days.
We want you to try ironing the simple way . . . on an Ironrite. We want you to come in, sit down at one of our floor models, and see for yourself how simple, how relaxing this revolutionary way of ironing really is.

How Gulf's new super-refined gasoline delivers
thousands of extra miles of full engine power
Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result: more power-with-protection than you've ever known!

Here's proof: This spark plug is from one of the many sets of original equipment plugs used in Gulf test fleet cars. Though spark plugs normally need cleaning or replacement after 5,000 to 10,000 miles, this plug and its mates did not need cleaning or replacement in over 15,000 miles of city and country driving with Super-Refined NO-NOX Gasoline.

Here's proof: Instead of trying to fight harmful deposits with so-called "miracle additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place, removes the cause—the "dirty-burning tail-end"—at the refinery. Just look at the plates in the unretouched photo at left and see what a difference Gulf super-refining makes!
What's more, besides giving your engine more complete protection, new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you extra gas mileage in the short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most . . . no knock, no pre-ignition . . . stall-proof smoothness . . . instant starts and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

Christmas Seal Sale Plans Are Being Completed

The 1954 Christmas seal sale for the benefit of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association will get under way November 22. This year marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the National Tuberculosis Association, the first lay medical group organized to combat a specific disease.

Throughout the country thousands of workers are busy preparing the seals for mailing, and local workers have been busy also.

Glenn K. Davis, this city, is again chairman of the campaign for Allegany-Garrett counties. Chairman have also been appointed in all other counties of the state and in Baltimore City.

Dr. Russell A. Nelson, president of the Maryland Association, has stated that while deaths from tuberculosis have shown a sharp decline in the last decade, newly reported cases have remained fairly constant.

To meet the need for broadening the program of prevention as well as care after stricken, it is hoped that the 1954 seal sale will bring in more than the $450,711.21 raised in Maryland last year.

Of this total, $289,064.77 was raised by the county tuberculosis associations. However, $161,646.44 was raised by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

Meet Tomorrow

The board of directors of the Cumberland Lions Club will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the George Williams Room at Central Y.M.C.A.

A new second vice president will be elected to succeed Thomas Blash, who has left town to enter business in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Before your skin becomes dehydrated from winter wind and steam heat, let's see what we can do about it. Take a good look at your skin. Does the epidermis (outer layer) already appear dry, hard, and dead-looking? Don't be alarmed. This is the layer of your skin that is dead cuticle. In time nature will replace this outer layer with soft, pliable tissue. If you're eager to look your best, help nature along by taking some skin-care tips from the Powers Girls.

Start With Cleansing

First step is to cleanse your face gently but thoroughly. Apply skin cleanser lavishly, and with upward movements gently massage your face and neck. Light slapping motions with the palms help firm the jawline. Around the eyes pat, don't rub, with the fingers, using plenty of cleanser.

If your skin is oily, follow your cosmetic cleansing with a good wash of mild soap and water and a thorough rinsing. Now, you're ready for a steam bath—the best skin-toning routine ever.

Stir a teaspoon of witch hazel into a bowl of steaming hot water. Hold your face about a foot over the bowl so it can catch the steam until it ceases. This expedites the shedding of the dead outer skin, and has a softening, healing effect on the new skin.

Now, stir a tablespoon of oatmeal or almond meal into a basin of warm water and splash this conditioning rinse on your face for several minutes. Let it dry by itself, or pat it dry with a soft cloth.

Beauty Treatment

This is a weekly treatment you shouldn't miss. You won't see results in lovelier, softer skin immediately; improvement comes gradually. But if you continue this toning routine, supplemented by nightly use of a lubricating cream or oil, winter will be far less abusive to your beauty.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem — whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same — YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation! For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost, plus stamped self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow—The art of graciousness.

Baby Sitter Directory Is Being Revised

The City Recreation Department is revising its Baby Sitter Service lists, and plans to issue a new directory within the next 10 days.

Robert E. Pence, recreation director, said applications will be taken all this week.

The 1954-55 baby sitter service will include names of those who will be available in LaVale and other suburban areas.

Pence said the names of all applicants are checked for reliability by the Police Department for all adult sitters and school authorities for girls who are still in school.

The new lists will be arranged according to sections, so that parents may choose from sitters who live in their neighborhood.

This will be the sixth year that the Recreation Department has sponsored a baby sitters service.

Rules and minimum wages for baby sitters are expected to remain unchanged—35 cents an hour until midnight and 50 cents an hour after midnight, with a minimum charge of 50 cents.

Ladies! Why ask for backache?
Look . . .
• You have a washer that takes the hard work out of washing!
• You have a range that takes the fatigue out of cooking!
• You have a vacuum that takes the muscle out of cleaning!

Ironrite Model 850
The appliances you have are wonderful! They help you live longer, look younger, feel better. So why let hand ironing . . . the last tough, mean, dreary job in the house . . . rob you of your looks, your health and your youth? You don't have to!
For now there's a simple way to iron, too. There's a wonderful appliance that lets you sit down, relax, and iron beautifully, in less than half the time it takes you by hand. That appliance is the Ironrite Automatic Ironer. It's simple to operate and amazingly inexpensive. It will iron anything you can wash, and it will end, once and for all, the achy, worn-out, tired-all-over feeling of old-fashioned ironing days.
We want you to try ironing the simple way . . . on an Ironrite. We want you to come in, sit down at one of our floor models, and see for yourself how simple, how relaxing this revolutionary way of ironing really is.

How Gulf's new super-refined gasoline delivers
thousands of extra miles of full engine power
Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result: more power-with-protection than you've ever known!

Here's proof: This spark plug is from one of the many sets of original equipment plugs used in Gulf test fleet cars. Though spark plugs normally need cleaning or replacement after 5,000 to 10,000 miles, this plug and its mates did not need cleaning or replacement in over 15,000 miles of city and country driving with Super-Refined NO-NOX Gasoline.

AAUW Great Books Group Changes Next Meeting Date

Euripides' "Medea" was reviewed by Mrs. John A. Cupler II, after which Mrs. Milton Granet and Mrs. A. J. Mirkin described a modern setting and the life of Euripides at the meeting of the Great Books Group of the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. Ralph Webster was hostess for the meeting at her hom Camden Avenue, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Cupler first explained how "Medea" was one of the Greek plays presented in contest at the Olympic games, approximately 450 B.C.; the action is continuous with no division into acts or scenes and the action all takes place in front of Medea's home, in Corinth.

She went on to explain that Medea was the wife of Jason of "Golden Fleece" fame, and how it was she who helped him get the Golden Fleece, killing her brother in the process.

In the play Jason has told Medea that he is to take another wife and will marry the daughter of Creon, who is king of Corinth. He explains that in this way he will promote his family socially, economically and politically. However Medea, who is an enchantress and the daughter of Hecate, goddess of evil and granddaughter of Apollo, the Sun God, plots the destruction of Creon, his daughter and Jason. Destroying her two children, Medea escapes to Athens where she becomes the wife of Aegeus, king of Athens.

Mrs. Granet gave a description of the setting and action of the play used six years ago when Judith Anderson played the part of Medea on Broadway.

Mrs. Mirkin told of the life of Euripides, the author, and the rules which governed plays entered in the Olympic contests.

Fall flowers were used in the decorations of the house and buffet table for the meeting.

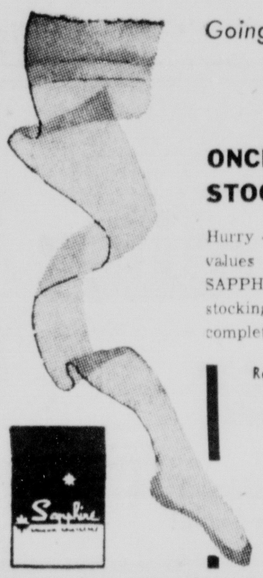

The group changed the date for the next meeting, because of the presentation of the Messiah and a dinner honoring Miss Lillian Compton on that date. Instead it will be held December 6 at the home of Mrs. Cupler, Park Heights. Mrs. Howard Briggs will lead the discussion on Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Other members present were Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer, Mrs. A. L. Rogers, Miss Margery Muncaster, Dr. Carolyn Dunlap, Mrs. Briggs, Mrs. Amer Suter, Mrs. Finley Thompson, Mrs. John Hafer and Dr. Leila Stevens.

Social Chart

The Sixth Grade, with Mrs. John Aaron home room mother, will be in charge of the SS. Peter and Paul parish card party at 8 tonight in the parish hall.

Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid will hold a rummage sale at 6:30 tonight in the youth building, Smith Street.

AAUW Great Books Group Changes Next Meeting Date

Euripides' "Medea" was reviewed by Mrs. John A. Cupler II, after which Mrs. Milton Granet and Mrs. A. J. Mirkin described a modern setting and the life of Euripides at the meeting of the Great Books Group of the Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. Ralph Webster was hostess for the meeting at her hom Camden Avenue, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Cupler first explained how "Medea" was one of the Greek plays presented in contest at the Olympic games, approximately 450 B.C.; the action is continuous with no division into acts or scenes and the action all takes place in front of Medea's home, in Corinth.

She went on to explain that Medea was the wife of Jason of "Golden Fleece" fame, and how it was she who helped him get the Golden Fleece, killing her brother in the process.

In the play Jason has told Medea that he is to take another wife and will marry the daughter of Creon, who is king of Corinth. He explains that in this way he will promote his family socially, economically and politically. However Medea, who is an enchantress and the daughter of Hecate, goddess of evil and granddaughter of Apollo, the Sun God, plots the destruction of Creon, his daughter and Jason. Destroying her two children, Medea escapes to Athens where she becomes the wife of Aegeus, king of Athens.

Mrs. Granet gave a description of the setting and action of the play used six years ago when Judith Anderson played the part of Medea on Broadway.

Mrs. Mirkin told of the life of Euripides, the author, and the rules which governed plays entered in the Olympic contests.

Fall flowers were used in the decorations of the house and buffet table for the meeting.

The group changed the date for the next meeting, because of the presentation of the Messiah and a dinner honoring Miss Lillian Compton on that date. Instead it will be held December 6 at the home of Mrs. Cupler, Park Heights. Mrs. Howard Briggs will lead the discussion on Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Other members present were Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer, Mrs. A. L. Rogers, Miss Margery Muncaster, Dr. Carolyn Dunlap, Mrs. Briggs, Mrs. Amer Suter, Mrs. Finley Thompson, Mrs. John Hafer and Dr. Leila Stevens.

Social Chart

The Sixth Grade, with Mrs. John Aaron home room mother, will be in charge of the SS. Peter and Paul parish card party at 8 tonight in the parish hall.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

DAVID W. LIKINS

PETERSBURG — David William Likins, 65, of nearby Medley, died Tuesday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where he was admitted the evening before.

A native of Grant County, he was a son of the late Joseph and Mahala (Rotruck) Likins.

Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Laura Likins, Medley.

The body will remain at the Schaeffer Funeral Home here until noon today when it will be taken to Knobley Brethren Church for services at 2 p.m. Rev. Owen D. Schultz, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Knobley Cemetery.

MRS. ANNIE M. G. CALDWELL

MARTINSBURG—Rites for Mrs. Annie M. G. (Jolley) Caldwell, 79, widow of Raymond N. Caldwell, who died last Wednesday at her home here, were held Saturday. Burial was in Green Hill Cemetery.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Mrs. Verna Reynolds, and a brother, Elwood Jolley, both of Cumberland.

MRS. ELLEN C. BECK

Mrs. Ellen Christina Beck, 74, died yesterday morning at her home in LaVale.

A native and life-long resident of LaVale, she was a daughter of the late William H. and Mary (Laird) Brown. Her husband was the late John S. F. Beck and she was a sister of the late George W. Brown, prominent local insurance agent who died last Thursday.

Mrs. Beck was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the Ladies Aid Society of the church; McKinley Chapter 12, Order Eastern Star; Ladies Shrine Club; Dames of Malta 284; Past Councilos Club 110, Daughters of America; the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company Auxiliary; LaVale Homemakers Club and the Women's Beneficial Association of Cumberland. Mrs. Beck had also been deputy over Lodge 111, Dames of Malta, for 20 years, and deputy over Lodge 100, Daughters of America.

Surviving are three daughters, Misses Mildred, teacher at Penn Avenue School, and Margaret, teacher at LaVale, and Kathryn Ann Beck, all at home, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Goldsworthy, Keyser.

The body is at Stein's Funeral Home where a service will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Dr. Hixon T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiating. Interment will be in Greenmount Cemetery.

MORGAN FUNERAL

Services for Harry J. Morgan, 63, who was found dead Monday in his room at 137 North Mechanic Street, will be conducted today at 10 a. m. at the Stein Funeral Home. Rev. S. R. Neel, retired Methodist minister, will officiate and interment will be in Allegany County Cemetery.

FLOYD R. NICKLESON

WINCHESTER—Floyd R. Nickleson, 40, died last week in Aurbendale, Fla., where he had taken a load of fruit.

Mr. Nickleson was born February 17, 1914 in Romney, a son of Charles Nickleson of Romney and the late Nettie Nickleson. A veteran of World War II, he operated a trucking business and hauled local fruit to the southern markets.

In addition to his father and widow, the former Cora Stultz of Hagerstown, he leaves five brothers including James and George Nickleson, Romney, and four sisters, Mrs. Mildred Barsavage, New Orleans; Mrs. Martha Whitmire, Romney; Mrs. Edna Self and Miss Bessie Nickleson, Ridgeley.

MRS. IDA KNARR

PARSONS, W. Va. — Mrs. Ida (Miller) Knarr, 74, died unexpectedly yesterday morning at her home near Hambleton.

A native of Pendleton County, she was born January 5, 1880 and was a daughter of the late Solon and Hannah (Miley) Miller. Her husband, Orien Knarr, died in 1930.

Surviving are two sons, Oscar Knarr, at home; Glenn Knarr, Montrose; three daughters, Mrs. Minnie Knaggs, Cleveland; Mrs. Zettie White, Elkins; Mrs. Bertha Stemple, Hambleton.

Two brothers, Preston Miller, Beverly; Oscar Miller, Hambleton; three sisters, Miss Cerena Miller, Miss Anna Miller, here; and Mrs. Sarah McCrum, Hendricks.

The body will be at the residence where a service will be conducted on Saturday at 2 p. m. with interment in the Miller family cemetery near Hambleton.

MRS. EARL J. MELINTZ

MARTINSBURG — Mrs. Hazel (Michael) Melintz, 45, wife of Earl J. Melintz, died October 28 in King's Daughters Hospital.

Assigned as a nurse to the Pentagon Building in Washington during World War II, she also nursed about seven years in Children's Hospital, Berkeley Springs.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three brothers, Arthur, John and Richard Michael, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Lyons, all of Antioch, and several nieces and nephews. Mrs. Melintz was born in Antioch, but she had resided here about 25 years.

Services were held Saturday and interment was in Rosedale Cemetery.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 3 (INS) — I have a secret that not even Judy Garland has an inkling I know. This is it. There is a big discussion about co-starring Judy and Mario Lanza in "South Pacific."

Judy and Sid Luft had a meeting with Dick Rodgers on Monday to discuss the possibility. Al Teitelbaum, who represented Mario Lanza, was in New York at the get-together.

Wouldn't Judy be great in the Mary Martin role? My Judy would be great in any role. Since Mario sang on a recent TV show and did so well, proving that he can face audiences again, he is very much sought after.

Judy and Lanza have much in common. Both have conquered illnesses, with Judy going on to even greater heights in "A Star Is Born."

While I was resting I got a chuckle when I read that Marlon Brando was engaged to marry Josiane Mariani-Berenger.

On Sunday, Sept. 26 I said, "Marlon Brando is completely surrounded by his own pals, his makeup man, his secretary and his standin and his private life is so completely his own that only a few people knew that Josiane Mariani, his girl friend, has been here with him all the time he was making 'Desiree.'"

Well, I would like to place a good-sized wager that Marlon and Josiane will be engaged a long time. He is returning to 20th Century-Fox to make another picture. He signed a contract for two pictures and his option was taken up after he finished "Desiree."

Guy Mitchell has been transatlantic telephoning his ex-wife, Jackie Loughery, and his bosses at Columbia Records don't like this at all, at all.

When Guy was in New York a few days ago from England, he was asked to keep the trip very secret because the execs were afraid Jackie would hear he was in the country and fly there to take Guy's mind off his recording.

He gave his word of honor he wouldn't tell anyone he was in the country, and he kept his promise.

Girls, he is married. I mean Walter Dick, the 29-year-old millionaire who goes into the Moulin Rouge with his All - American Boys (acrobats).

Besides his acrobatic act, Dick owns two banks in his hometown of Wheeling, West Virginia. He wants to make a picture with his acrobats and he is the boy who can do it with all that cash.

By the way, the Moulin Rouge still has a show that all our visitors should see, as well as the people who live here. It is so beautifully staged.

I had a lot of time for reading when I was in the hospital and one of the books I enjoyed was "Go in Peace," the story of a doctor, by Dr. Logan Davis. He sent it to me with an inscription saying he thought I would understand it. It is a very readable novel, simply told, about a country physician, and it touches on "mercy" deaths.

Dr. Davis is the father of Mrs. Ronald Reagan, the former Nancy Davis, and it was at her suggestion that he sent me the book. She and Ronnie and the baby have been visiting the proud grandparents.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dale Robertson is a victim of snow blindness—and here's the odd angle—it was caused by artificial snow containing camphor flakes used in a movie.

Fay MacKenzie and her husband, Tom Waldman, glimpsed at Sportsman's Lodge with the Billy Gilberts. Fay, who was once married to Steve Cochrane, now has two children.

Election night was very gay and one of the gala spots was the Mocambo, where Eileen (Bake-a-Cake) Barton opened. She is terrific, that's all.

Jacques Sernas likes America so well he'll apply for citizenship after he goes to France and brings his mother here.

Perez Prado, Cuban mambo king, is another who loves our great country and he, too, wants to become a citizen.

Mickey Rooney's wife, Elaine Davis, may soon become known as a TV star before she becomes a movie personality. She has signed to play in the Daniel Boone TV series opposite Touch O'Connor. The Mick is producing the shows.

Phyllis Gates, who is in Henry Willson's office, is sharing Rock Hudson with Betty Abbott, or vice versa. Rock was out on the town with Phyllis earlier this week.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

GLENN DUNNING

This pleasant, friendly business man is known as the "Money Man" because he furnishes good folks here with cash when they need it—any amount from $25 to $1000.

"I like people," he said, "and I like to make loans. You can get a small amount like $25 to $75 on just your name. Or as much as several hundred dollars to consolidate bills with one easy payment a month. Available on signature or other plan. Next time you need cash, come and see me. You'll like me, and I'll give you fast courteous service." (Loans over $300 made under Md. Industrial Finance Act). Aetna Finance Co., 48 N. Centre St., Phone 5293.

Confirmation Slated At St. Anthony's

The first episcopal visit to this section of Most Rev. Joseph H. Hodges DD, Auxiliary Bishop of Richmond, will be made Sunday and Monday when he will administer the Sacrament of Confirmation in Keyser and Ridgeley.

Confirmation at St. Anthony's, Ridgeley, will be at 7:30 p. m. Monday. There are 30 to be confirmed including children from Paw Paw, Fort Ashby area, Wiley Ford and Ridgeley. A dinner for visiting clergy will be served at 5 o'clock. Priests are expected from an area extending from Berkeley Springs to Oakland.

This is the first confirmation at Ridgeley in four years, according to the Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's.

Bishop Hodges is a son of the late Dr. J. Howard Hodges who was Baltimore and Ohio physician here a generation ago. He was consecrated Auxiliary Bishop of Richmond two years ago.

Local Firms Ask Data On Fire Detection Unit

The Cumberland Fire Department has received a number of requests from local business firms for information concerning a new type fire detection unit which has been placed into service in the Allegany County Home.

Fire Chief V. A. Parker said officials of the firms have asked firemen to inspect their buildings with a view of installing the devices in recommended locations.

The units, Chief Parker said, set off the master fire alarm box protecting a building whenever the temperature reaches a predetermined point.

He said the devices are placed at 15-foot intervals in rooms, similar to a sprinkler system, to provide complete coverage.

The detection units, he added, are not a substitute for the standard sprinkler system but have the advantage of cutting down water damage and are especially useful in enclosed places, such as cupboards or basements, where they provide an immediate warning of a dangerous rise in temperature or an actual fire.

Voters Approve Home Rule Amendment For Md. Cities

Allegany County voters Tuesday followed a statewide trend in all but one instance by marking their approval of the amendments on the ballot.

County voters differed only in rejecting the plan for increasing the number of circuit judges in all counties, except those on the Eastern Shore, each judge to be selected from his own county.

Although the nine amendments passed statewide, one of the proposals — the one increasing the number of circuit judges — automatically cancelled proposals providing for extra judges in Baltimore and Montgomery counties.

Home Rule Favored

Allegany County currently has two associate judges in the Fourth Judicial Circuit and the new amendment, if approved as is indicated in returns from about half of the state's 1,345 polling places, will take one of the judgeships away from the county in the event one retires or dies.

The home rule amendment was favored by an approximate 2-to-1 edge by county voters, while statewide it was approved nearly 4-to-1.

The home rule amendment for municipalities will give Maryland's incorporated city and town governments much more freedom in running their own affairs.

At the same time it will relieve the General Assembly of considering such local questions as the salary of Podunk's dog catcher.

The State Legislature still will retain some measure of control over municipal debts limits and other phases of community government. The exact ground rules will be set in enabling legislation to come before the General Assembly.

Gov. McKeldin has promised to work for home rule for the counties, now that municipal home rule has been approved.

Returns from 22 of the county's 91 precincts show the following voting on the amendments:

Road, Bridge Construction Speeded As Winter Nears

Contractors engaged in road and bridge work in the Cumberland area are speeding up work schedules in an attempt to wrap up the jobs before freezing weather halts the 1954 construction season.

Work on the new Valley Street Bridge, which is being built by the City of Cumberland as part of the $18,000,000 Cumberland - Ridgeley flood protection program, is about 83 per cent complete.

The contractor, the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, has laid the deck for the bridge and is preparing forms for sidewalks on the downstream side.

Laying of the walks and approaches for the bridge will complete the concrete work for the span.

Meanwhile, city water department and gas company crews are beginning to lay new water and gas lines beneath the span.

Speeds Street Work

The supply lines will be attached to the lower part of the span by metal hangers. Utility lines were enclosed in the former bridge which was badly damaged by an explosion in 1945.

The same company is speeding preliminary phases of the Frederick Street improvement project. Last week, crews were installing a 42-inch storm sewer, which will extend some 1,500 feet north of Linden Street.

Current plans calls for completing all drainage work and grading this fall and winter so that paving and curbing work can begin with the opening of the 1955 construction season in the spring.

Are Checking Plans

Plans for the next Wills Creek span at Market Street have been approved by the City Engineering Department and forwarded to the Corps of Engineers for review.

The J. E. Greiner Company, which prepared the plans, has recommended that construction of the Market Street bridge begin as soon as soon as Valley Street is opened to traffic.

Satisfactory progress is reported on the rehabilitation of the 12 old filters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant. This work is being done by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

At present, the firm has opened and is cleaning the surface of six of the filters, while city filtration plant crews rehabilitate wrought iron lateral pipes of the filters.

To be completed within the next few days are cleanup phases of the West Side Flood Wall. The wall was built by the Wright Contracting Company, Columbus, Ga., under a $208,000 contract let by the Corps of Army Engineers.

The massive wall, averaging 17 feet in height, extends some 780 feet upstream from the Moose Home.

The same firm was the low bidder on a contract, still to be let by the Maryland State Roads Commission, for the deck of the new Blue Bridge at Riverside Park.

Nearly Half Completed

The American Bridge Company, which is erecting the superstructure of the bridge, will soon have the Maryland half of the steelwork completed, and has begun erection of steel on the West Virginia side.

Planning work on an upcoming city project, the construction of a water line to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant, is being pushed by the City Engineering Department.

The field survey for the line has extended as ar as Evitts Creek, and crews will be kept on the job each clear day in order to expedite the planning.

The city hopes to advertise the water line project in December in order to learn costs. The line must be financed by a bond issue which would have to be authorized by the General Assembly.

Officials said the route is being planned so right of way costs will be minimized.

Mrs. McGill Named Leader Of County March Of Dimes

Mrs. Lester R. McGill, Vocke Drive, has been named general chairman of the 1955 March of Dimes campaign by John M. Robb, chairman of Allegany County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mrs. McGill has started selecting a special campaign committee, and plans to hold a preliminary organization meeting Wednesday, November 17, at the office of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Compressed air for tunnel construction was first used in the United States in 1879.

Road, Bridge Construction Speeded As Winter Nears

Contractors engaged in road and bridge work in the Cumberland area are speeding up work schedules in an attempt to wrap up the jobs before freezing weather halts the 1954 construction season.

Work on the new Valley Street Bridge, which is being built by the City of Cumberland as part of the $18,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program, is about 83 per cent complete.

The contractor, the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, has laid the deck for the bridge and is preparing forms for sidewalks on the downstream side.

Laying of the walks and approaches for the bridge will complete the concrete work for the span.

Speeds Street Work

The supply lines will be attached to the lower part of the span by metal hangers. Utility lines were enclosed in the former bridge which was badly damaged by an explosion in 1945.

The same company is speeding preliminary phases of the Frederick Street improvement project. Last week, crews were installing a 42-inch storm sewer, which will extend some 1,500 feet north of Lincen Street.

Current plans calls for completing all drainage work and grading this fall and winter so that paving and curbing work can begin with the opening of the 1955 construction season in the spring.

Are Checking Plans

Plans for the next Wills Creek span at Market Street have been approved by the City Engineering Department and forwarded to the Corps of Engineers for review.

The J. E. Greiner Company, which prepared the plans, has recommended that construction of the Market Street bridge begin as soon as soon as Valley Street is opened to traffic.

Satisfactory progress is reported on the rehabilitation of the 12 old filters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant. This work is being done by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

At present, the firm has opened and is cleaning the surface of six of the filters, while city filtration plant crews rehabilitate wrought iron lateral pipes of the filters.

To be completed within the next few days are cleanup phases of the West Side Flood Wall. The wall was built by the Wright Contracting Company, Columbus, Ga., under a $208,000 contract let by the Corps of Army Engineers.

The massive wall, averaging 17 feet in height, extends some 780 feet upstream from the Moose Home.

The same firm was the low bidder on a contract, still to be let by the Maryland State Roads Commission, for the deck of the new Blue Bridge at Riverside Park.

Nearly Half Completed

The American Bridge Company, which is erecting the superstructure of the bridge, will soon have the Maryland half of the steelwork completed, and has begun erection of steel on the West Virginia side.

Planning work on an upcoming city project, the construction of a water line to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant, is being pushed by the City Engineering Department.

The field survey for the line has extended as ar as Evitts Creek, and crews will be kept on the job each clear day in order to expedite the planning.

The city hopes to advertise the water line project in December in order to learn costs. The line must be financed by a bond issue which would have to be authorized by the General Assembly.

Officials said the route is being planned so right of way costs will be minimized.

Mrs. McGill Named Leader Of County March Of Dimes

Mrs. Lester R. McGill, Vocke Drive, has been named general chairman of the 1955 March of Dimes campaign by John M. Robb, chairman of Allegany County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mrs. McGill has started selecting a special campaign committee, and plans to hold a preliminary organization meeting Wednesday, November 17, at the office of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Compressed air for tunnel construction was first used in the United States in 1879.

"Turkey In Straw" Dance Set Tomorrow At KC Home Here

The annual "Turkey In The Straw" dance will be held tomorrow night at the home of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus. Members and friends are invited.

Francis Ford, general chairman, last night said the affair, which will get underway at 10 p. m. will be informal and those who attend are asked to be attired in "old clothes." Awards will be given to the worst dressed. Music for the affair will be furnished by the Cavaliers and admission will be 13c and two labels from the bottles of local beer. Among awards will be a "real live turkey."

The hall has been redecorated and will be trimmed in a fall motif. Assisting Ford in arrangements are Thomas Simons, Joseph Sirna, Joseph Soethe, Frank Werner, Robert Barnhill, Leo Powers and Bruce White.

Frostburg Business Property Is Sold

Property including a two-story brick and tile store and apartment building at the corner of West Main Street and South Water Street in Frostburg has been sold, according to a deed filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The T&S Cut Rate Store is operated in this building which just changed owners.

Holdup

Linn ordered Meconi to get on the floor, and then he fled.

Detective Smith and Sgt. James W. Brown, who were in a cruising car in the Oldtown Road section, reached the store shortly afterwards and were given a description of Linn.

Patrolman Charles E. Cubbage recalled seeing a man fitting the description and Linn was picked up in his room at the "Y" about an hour after the holdup.

Linn was quoted as saying he stole the gun and a half-box of cartridges from Clarence Hemmis, 109 West First Street, yesterday.

To Meet Tomorrow

The Allegany County Committee to Promote Employment of the Physically Handicapped will meet tomorrow at noon in the Fort Cumberland Hotel for a luncheon-meeting.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the selection of an outstanding employer employing a handicapped worker, and also to name a handicapped individual who has successfully overcome the handicap.

Recommendations will be made by the county group to the Governor's Committee which meets next month in Baltimore, at which time awards will be made.

How They Finished

These unofficial returns in Tuesday's general election, as compiled by the Associated Press, show the standings of candidates for governor and attorney general on the basis of complete returns from 1,332 of the state's 1,345 precincts.

Crash Of Prince's Plane Blamed On Overloading

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 3 (AP)—Royal court sources today blamed overloading and bad weather for the plane crash that killed Prince Ali Reza, the Shah's brother.

Wreckage of the one-engine plane was found yesterday in mountainous country about 36 miles northeast of Tehran. The prince, his private pilot ad two other persons died when the aircraft, its fuel supply exhausted, smashed into a jagged cliff face.

Colts Place Enke On Waiver List

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — The Baltimore Colts announced today that Fred Enke, the team's No. 1 quarterback in 1953, has been placed on waivers.

The former University of Arizona back has seen little service this season. Last year Enke completed 71 of 168 passes for 1,054 yards and ranked eighth in the National Football League. He missed the last four games of the season with a shoulder separation.

City Voting List Still Totals 14,909

The number of registered voters in the City of Cumberland remained unchanged through the month of October, according to City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

During the past month there were 16 new registran' . However, during the same period the names of 14 deceased citizens were stricken from the books. Two others were dropped to eliminate duplications. There also were nine changes from one precinct to another.

The 14,909 registered voters included 7,829 white men, 6,779 white women, 192 colored men and 109 colored women.

Red "Emancipation" Not Very Realistic

If the Kremlin had admitted a mistake had been made and offered an insincere diplomatic apology, the incident involving a brief illegal dentention of two American embassy wives would have attracted less attention. The two women were stopped from taking photographs and detained at a factory club, in violation of laws concerning treatment of diplomatic personnel. They were handled roughly when they tried to leave.

If the Russians had simply blamed an overzealous official, the incident would have been regarded as merely a manifestation of Communist manners. Instead, the Kremlin has ordered one of the women, the wife of the second secretary of the U. S. Embassy, to leave the country. She was, according to the Bolsheviks, guilty of "hooliganism."

Two things stand out. One is the curious fact that it isn't safe to show a camera in Communist lands. No military secrets were involved. Moscow recently lifted restrictions on foreigners to permit the taking of snapshots except in restricted areas, but Communist hackles still rise at the sight of a foreigner with a camera.

It is noteworthy that Russian high cockalorums, ostensibly in this country on U.N. business, roam New York City accompanied by armed Russian guards. An American citizen carrying a concealed weapon in the metropolis gets a stiff term in the hoosegow.

Involved in this case is the attitude of Communist governments toward women. The "emancipation of women" is a Communist slogan. The boast is made that communism has freed women from domestic drudgery and made her man's equal as a factory worker.

But in 1948 Mrs. Oskana Kosenkina jumped from a high window in the Russian consulate in New York, risking her life and suffering serious injuries, to escape the Communist oppressors who had slain her husband and sent her son untrained to die in the Leningrad fighting in 1942. In Australia last April, Russian officials tried to hustle Mrs. Vladimir Petrov out of the country.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Curious Vendetta

The Manchester "Guardian," in an editorial on Owen Lattimore, has this to say concerning an article written by him in 1947:

". . . Its treatment of Greece may be clumsy and mistaken, but on China, the real point at issue, it is remarkably perceptive. It makes the point, not widely appreciated in 1947, that the Communists in China were not simply a small clique but had wide support in certain areas, and that they had proved their independence of Russia. But the point was not popular in America, then or now . . ."

It was not true in 1947 that the Communist party of China was independent of Russia. It is not true in 1954. It was not true in 1925 when Chiang Kai-shek seized power in Canton assisted by cadets of the Russian-managed Whampoa Academy. (He was then the darling of the Russians.) General Bluecher-Galens (his correct name was Bluecher) was in Canton at the time as the military adviser of the Kuomintang which Communists temporarily joined as individuals by an agreement between Sun Yat-sen and the Russians. Michael Borodin was the head Russian adviser. The Communists between March 12, 1925, when Sun Yat-sen died, and Christmas Week of 1926 attempted not only to infiltrate the Kuomintang but to conquer China in the interest of Soviet Russia.

At no time between the organization of the Communist party of China by Chen Tu-shiu and today has this party shown any independence of Soviet Russia. The "Guardian" editorial was published on October 20, 1954. More in consonance with the facts is an article which appeared in the Tientsin "Ta Kung Pao," one of the most important newspapers in China and now a spokesman for the Communist government in Peking. It said on October 13, 1954:

"Every achievement of China in the past five years—from the restoration to the development of the nation's economy and the beginning of the first Five Year Plan — is inseparable from the unselfish aid of the Soviet Union.

". . . the great friendship of the Soviet Union is the guarantee for the building of a Socialist society in China and for the welfare of the Chinese people and their younger generations."

Further the "Ta Kung Pao" says:

"The international aid — in particular the unselfish aid of the Soviet Union to China — is an important factor for building up socialism in this country."

Naturally, the view that the Communist party of China is or has ever been independent of the authority of the Kremlin is not popular in the United States because it is not true. It has never been true. Furthermore, the Communist party of China is the first anti-American party ever to have come into existence in that country. "Pravda," on October 12, published the Russo-China Communist line toward the United States:

"It is clear to every objective person that the obstructionist policy of the United States with regard to the lawful rights of People's China in the United Nations, the direct acts of aggression committed by the United States against the Chinese People's Republic, and in particular the continued occupation of part of the Chinese territory—the island of Taiwan—by American troops, as well as the military and financial support given to the Chiang Kai-shek clique which is hostile to the Chinese people, are incompatible with the maintenance of peace in the Far East and an easing of international tension."

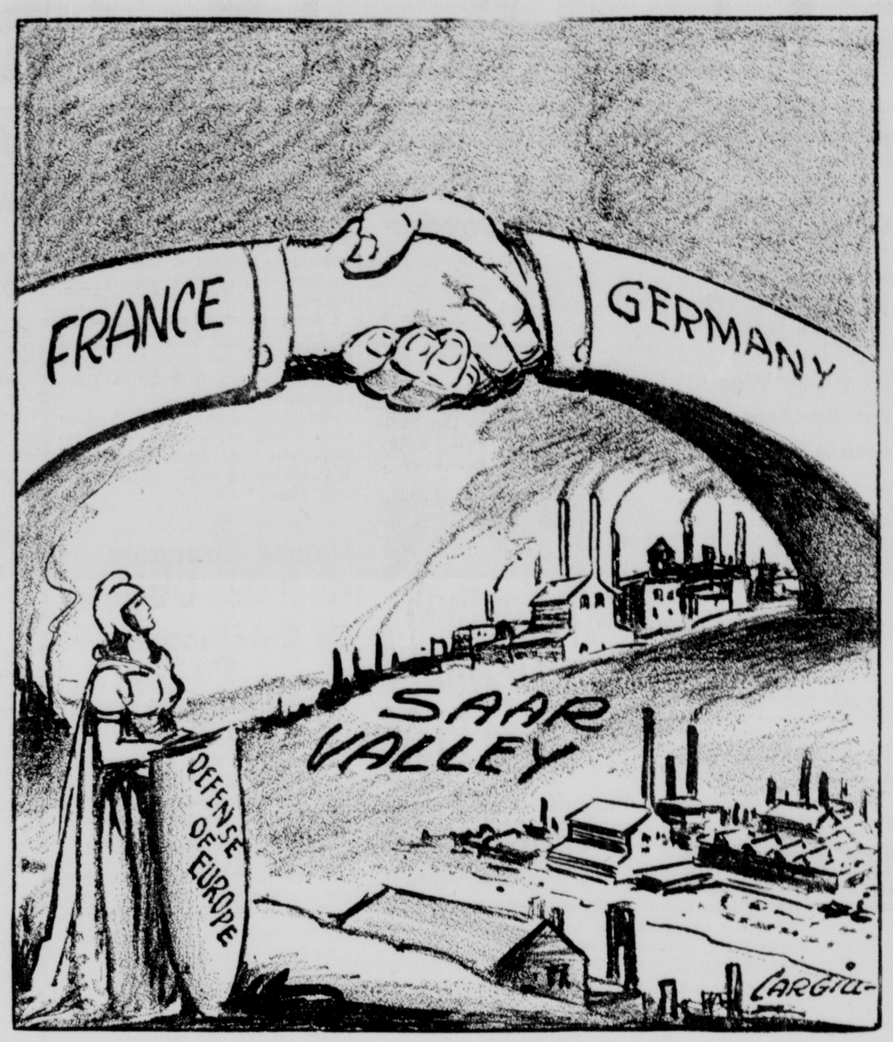

The Lattimore case which deals with perjury has to stand or fall on its merits, but the use of this case by the Manchester "Guardian" to rewrite the history of the Communist party of China from 1921 to 1954 so that the true nature of its relationship to the Comintern and the Kremlin is denied is beyond understanding.

Among the documents seized in the Soviet embassy in Peking in 1927, a record was found of a statement by Borodin, delivered on October 17, 1926, which tells the whole story:

"In the press I spoke of the Kuomintang, but to us it means that I was speaking of the increase, in the end, of the influence of the Communist party." The minutes continue: "Further on Borodin pointed out that while working for the stabilization of the Kuomintang it must never be forgotten that in the reality the work is done for the stabilisation of the Communist party, which aim should be always kept in mind."

Problem Inside Eisenhower's Cabinet Will Demand His Immediate Attention

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Now that the President has the elections and his Denver vacation out of the way, there is a problem right inside his own cabinet which will require expert and immediate attention. Otherwise, he's likely to have a cabinet resignation blow up in his face.

Only the phenomenal patience of Secretary of Labor James Mitchell has prevented such a blow-up before this. All summer he has been turning the other cheek to the roughhouse tactics of his colleague, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, but how long it will continue is uncertain.

This, of course, may be officially denied, but nevertheless here are some of the inside facts regarding this cabinet friction.

The chief current issue between the two men is the fact that Secretary of Commerce Weeks wants labor put under the antitrust laws. Secretary of Labor Mitchell does not.

However, the issue actually goes even deeper, to the fact that Weeks, reared in a conservative Boston business background, considers it his job to champion every form of business, even to the extent of barging into the preserve of his cabinet colleague who handles the problems of labor.

Mitchell, too, has represented business a good part of his life but his chief job was to represent it in dealing with labor. He was handpicked by Governor Dewey for Ike's labor post because he knew how to deal with labor, and in a short period of time he has done a creditable job. Labor leaders, though disliking the Eisenhower administration, like Mitchell.

The Weeks-Mitchell cabinet squabble probably would be no worse than the personality tiffs that have occurred in most cabinets in the past were it not for the fact that Weeks seems so determined to prevail on the question of the anti-trust laws.

FOA Stalls

There's a big difference between the way the American Red Cross operates and the Foreign Operations Administration when it comes to relieving human suffering.

After the disastrous flash flood that killed more than 200 people at Salerno, Italy, the Red Cross was most cooperative in informing this column about the operation of its international organization in Geneva and just what steps were being taken to help alleviate the tragic disaster.

It was further suggested that since President Eisenhower had set a public policy of using American farm surpluses to relieve distress abroad, the Foreign Operations Administration also might tell us what it was doing to help at Salerno.

The door of 804 was open, and Miss Ripps, a lady of about 30, was seated at her desk.

"I'd like to get any information available on what FOA is doing in connection with the recent flood in Italy," she was asked.

Miss Ripps made no immediate reply. Instead she began turning over all the papers on her desk so that the blank backs stared up.

"When you people come strolling around here, we just turn everything over," she remarked. "And as far as what we are doing in Italy is concerned, you read the papers, don't you?

"I just thought there might be some recent development that I hadn't heard about, or something that the papers had overlooked," was the reply.

"Well, I'll tell you," confided Miss Ripps, "the first thing you find after a flood is that a good many bodies are missing. Does that answer your question?"

"Have I done anything to antagonize you? I didn't mean to, but I'm sorry if I did."

Miss Ripps was not to be appeased

"I don't think that has anything to do with the case," she snapped, and returned to her phone book.

By this time she had turned all her papers over, and was looking in an FOA telephone directory.

Mohammed Ali's Miracle

Before Prime Minister Mohammed Ali rushed back to Pakistan, he achieved the near miracle of bringing CBS colored television to NBC—a diplomatic feat equal to coaxing India's Prime Minister Nehru to the capital of Pakistan, Karachi.

NBC and CBS take their rivalry over colored television so seriously that it's taboo around NBC to watch a CBS program. The competition has lasted for years, is deep-rooted and bitter. But Mohammed Ali didn't know this when he was invited up to NBC's executive suite in Radio City.

A public-relations man suggested that the prime minister might like to watch colored television. Mohammed agreed enthusiastically, and an NBC official recommended an appropriate NBC program. But the prime minister had a conflicting engagement and arranged to come back later.

At the time he selected, however, there was nothing on colored television except a CBS show. So NBC was stuck with a prime minister and nothing to show him but a CBS program. Sheepishly, the NBC officials switched on CBS.

But the unfamiliar spectacle of a CBS show on an RCA set in the NBC executive offices was too much. The set, tuned to pick up NBC shows exclusively, refused to show more than a fuzzy image of the CBS program.

So embarassed NBC officials sent their engineers up on the roof to tinker with the antennas. Finally, after considerable adjusting, the CBS show got through to NBC.

Democrats Begin Campaign For '56 Under Handicap

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The presidential campaign of 1956 begins this week—and it starts with a handicap imposed on the Democratic party by its own leaders which, before the next session of Congress is many weeks old, they will probably regret. The Republicans, if they are alert about it, will not fail to take advantage of what may prove to have been a big political blunder by their opponents.

Both Representative Rayburn of Texas and Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the leaders of the Democratic party in the House of Representatives and the Senate, respectively, joined during the congressional campaign in a statement pledging that their party would, in the main, support the legislative program and foreign policy of President Eisenhower. Indeed, the Democrats, as a part of their campaign tactics, boasted that the Democrats had supported Mr. Eisenhower on the important roll-call votes of the last session of Congress more than did the members of his own party. Actually this argument didn't measure up on statistical examination, but it seemed a good way to keep those admirers of President Eisenhower who had been Democrats but who voted for him in 1952 from voting the Republican ticket in the congressional elections this year.

Matter Of Record

Now, however, the pledge remains a matter of record, and the President will be in a position to hold the Democratic party accountable for its fulfillment. Again and again, as Mr. Eisenhower seeks supporting votes in Congress, he can remind the Democrats of their campaign promise. If they attempt to wriggle out of it or if they disregard it, the opportunity will be there for the President to say about the Democratic party's behavior in the coming 84th Congress what Mr. Truman said about the Republicans in the 80th Congress—that the opposition member were more occupied with party politics than with giving support to measures designed to advance the nation's welfare.

The Democratic party's pledge to cooperate with the President was given on the theory that Mr. Eisenhower's popularity was very high with the voters and that the best way to prevent it from being an advantage to the Republicans was not to attack Mr. Eisenhower's leadership but to appear to be even a better instrument of support than the Republican party. This strategy, however, while expedient in the congressional campaign, puts the Democratic party on the spot in the next two years.

There are many measures on which the President is anxious to get action. One of them, for example, is the revision of the Taft-Hartley law on labor-management relations. It was passed in the 80th Congress, when the Republicans were in control, and has been a political football ever since. The union bosses have centered their attack on a few alleged defects in the law. Some of the suggested revisions have been unpalatable to the conservative Democrats from the South but, when the Eisenhower administration finally did get an amended bill before Congress, it was a coalition of Northern Democrats and Southern Democrats which prevented the Republicans from putting through any legislation at all. Whether the purpose was to prevent the Republicans from getting any credit with labor-union voters or whether the Southern Democrats secretly aimed at preventing any change whatsoever in the Taft-Hartley law, the fact remains that the legislation was buried.

Democrats Pledged Support

Now comes another chance for the Eisenhower administration to test the good faith of the Democrats. Will they pass an Eisenhower-backed measure to revise the Taft-Hartley Act? Or will they clutter up the bill with crippling amendments which would make a presidential veto imperative? In any event, if the latter contingency arises, Mr. Eisenhower would be able to make the claim that the Democratic party had not kept faith with the country—that it had violated its pledge to support him.

This could be the beginning of a build-up for 1956 such as Mr. Truman carried on so successfully in 1948 when he repeatedly told the country that he could not function with a divided government and that he needed a Democratic Congress to support him.

The argument will hold good even if there are a few Republicans who also do not vote with the President on his program. For the Democratic leaders pledged their entire party to support the President and, while this allows for a few defections, it can be held to mean that the majority of the Democrats in Congress, in both houses, are committed to support the Eisenhower program. Otherwise they will be offering their opponents a clear-cut issue for 1956 on the basis of a broken pledge. If the Republicans are politically alert, they will during the next two years never let the nation forget that pledge.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

The flitsom and jotsam of postcranial aftermath indicates the election was closer than boiled berries.

Politics is like the present of a potted geranium. You never know whether you are getting the flower or the dirt.

Back here in New York there was some pretty squeamish parliamentary procedure. Casey Stengel was accused of oiling the turnstiles.

They sure dug up some interesting facts about the early life of the candidates. There's no small type in politics or on circus billboards.

It's our opinion that honest men are still swapping high bicycles. They closed the saloons on Tuesday because they know what makes all men think they are equal.

In the old days the beer bazaars had signs on the mirrors, "No political arguments allowed here."

But in the backroom they were selecting the candidates. In the front, the barkeeper was presiding over the debates and using a bungstarter as a moderator. He knew you had to crack cocoanuts to get the milk.

If the Marquis de Lafayette were to run for office we would prove that he was a wife deserter, we would prove that Ben Franklin flew that kite to get rid of a latch key and that George Washington stood up in a rowboat crossing the Delaware.

This was a gummy campaign for control of the House and Senate. The GOP realized a Democratic swing would support the White House program worse than a beggar's wife. The Demmies were thirsting for power with water on both shoulders. That's why the calling of names was a roster of the incredible.

The Satellite

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

These words are written before the votes have been counted. But whatever the election's outcome may be, its most important lesson is already very clear indeed. The campaign has shown that our most important national problems are no longer being solved by the democratic process.

Solving a problem by the democratic process means solving it in accordance with the popular will. In the simpler past electoral campaigns were biennial consultations of the popular will. On every hustings, the great national problems were debated. Then the votes were cast, and the outcome crudely announced the popular will, not only as to individual candidates, but also as to the national problems that had formed the main topics of debate.

Until 1940 or thereabouts, that was the American way. Until 1940, it was inconceivable that any great national problem of real life-and-death significance should not be thrashed out in public debate. But that is not the American way any longer, as anyone can see who has followed the last two months of strident political arguments.

Everyone will agree, surely, that the decision on the H-bomb was one of the major American choices of the post-war period. In that case, the popular will had a certain influence, although not a decisive influence.

Generated Public Pressure

While those with "Q-clearance" were arguing about whether or not to build the H-bomb, the face that an H-bomb was feasible was published to the world (by these reporters, incidentally). When that fact became known, public pressure was generated which considerably hastened President Truman's decision. And if the President had wished to decide the problem the other way (which he did not) public pressure would have prevented him from doing so.

Now, however, problems just as important as the H-bomb problem are being daily weighed in the secret circles of the government. Yet the popular will has no influence at all, for the very simple reason that the country does not know enough about these problems or have any will or view about them.

One example is the air defense problem. Another, fantastically enough, is the problem of the artificial satellite of the earth. It is curious, but it is also true that while the politicians have been arguing about "peace and prosperity," those with Q-clearance have been arguing about a crash program to build a man-made heavenly body.

The technicalities of the debate about the satellite must be covered in another report. It is enough to say here that the feasibility of an artificial satellite has long been admitted, and that the present argument about a satellite crash program started because of a boast in one of the Soviet military publications that a Soviet satellite would take the air within 10 years.

Such a small, man-controlled moon, circling the earth several times daily, telemetering reconnaissance reports back to its controllers, could be another military development almost as decisive as the H-bomb itself. As in the case of the H-bomb debate, the American fate and future is quite probably bound up in the satellite debate. But far from being carried on before the American people, this debate that may so deeply influence the people's future has been most closely restricted to the most secret circles.

Talked Balderdash

Not only weapons problems, either, are now restricted to the tiny minority of the Q-cleared. International problems of the utmost gravity and urgency have been handled in this campaign with the wildest unrealism. But because great parts of those problems are hidden behind the classification curtain, and because every one of the problems is enormously remote from common, every day experience, the orators who have touched on them have got away with talking the most transparent balderdash.

Last spring, a majority of the National Security Council, conspicuously including Vice President Nixon, was convinced that we ought to fight to save Indochina if necessary to preserve the free world's position in Asia. This summer, a majority of Republican politicians, again including Vice President Nixon, has been representing the new Munich in Indochina as a triumph for Republican peacefulness. A good many Republicans have come very close to echoing Neville Chamberlain's boast, that he had brought "peace in our time."

No Democrat called these Republican boasters, despite the fact that every informed man in Washington knows that the second phase of the Indochinese Munich is probably imminent; and knows too that a Chinese Communist attack on the island outposts of Formosa may well take place next spring. One way or another, in short, just those national problems which are likely to determine what kind of world our children will live in, have ceased to be subject to popular will and the democratic process.

Increase In Dental Caries Blamed On Food Pattern

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The increase in dental caries frequently is blamed on the changing food pattern of civilized races. An accusing finger is pointed at carbohydrates, particularly sugar. This factor was partially refuted recently by a five year study among inmates of a large Swedish mental institution. Researchers found it was not the amount of sugar in the diet that produced cavities but the form in which sugar was consumed and when.

Participants were divided into seven groups and for the first nine months of the study all were given menus composed of typical Swedish foods. Snacks between meals were prohibited.

For four years, the eating program of each unit varied as follows: The first group acted as a control and continued to eat the institutional diet along with an extra ration of margarine.

The second group had the same basic diet plus a large glass of sugar solution with each meal. Sugar-containing bread was given to the third group with each repast whereas the fourth drank the sucrose solution at mealtime for the first two years and consumed milk chocolate between meals during the next two. The remainder were placed on complicated programs that varied during the four years of the experiment.

Some chewed 22 sticky caramels between meals; others munched on toffee or drank the sugar solutions which were mixed in every conceivable combination. Final tabulations showed little increase in the incidence of dental caries when the carbohydrates were ingested with meals. There was a definite rise, however, when milk chocolate was consumed between the three squares and an even greater increase when the inmates nibbled on toffee.

The outcome indicates that the longer the teeth are in contact with sugar, the more cavities develop. Holding toffee in the mouth is a greater offender than chewing sticky caramels or consuming milk chocolate. On the other hand, when the sweets are incorporated in the diet the incidence is less.

The study also reemphasized a well known fact. Some individuals are more resistant to dental caries than are others. During the caramel experiment a number acquired from four to nine new cavities whereas others escaped entirely. This innate susceptibility also has been demonstrated in many animal experiments. We know now that resistance to decay is established early in life. This lends support to those who believe in fluoridation. Strengthening the teeth at an early age may leave the incisors and molars with lifetime resistance.

TOMORROW: Desirable objectives.

SPINAL X-RAYS

S. W. writes: What is a myelogram?

REPLY

Special X-rays of the spinal cord, which are taken after the injection of a radiopaque substance. In this way certain defects of the spine, such as a herniated disk, can be visualized.

CHANGE HANDS

J. P. writes: I have always written with my left hand but wish to change to my right. Is this safe at age 14?

REPLY

Yes, if you initiate the process yourself and are not forced into it.

REFRACTIVE ERRORS

L. P. writes: I had my eyes tested for glasses and the slip said "hyperopia and presbyopia." What does this mean?

REPLY

Hyperopia, or hypermetropia, is farsightedness. Presbyopia is the change in vision that occurs with age. For the latter condition, glasses are constructed to include vision at the near working distance such as reading the telephone directory in a telephone booth.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Matt Weinstock tells about a lovely cat lover who was dining with her husband in her apartment one night when she fancied she heard a cat meowing a floor or two away. "I'll bet that pussy is lonely," she remarked, and playfully meowed back.

To her surprise the cat answered her! She repeated her meow, this time putting extra feeling into her performance, and there then ensued the darndest cat conversation ever heard in that neighborhood. It continued for a full half hour, while the husband marveled.

The next day her triumph was deflated when a neighbor dropped down to borrow some sugar. "The funniest thing happened last night," said the neighbor. "I meowed at a cat and he meowed back—and we must have kept it up for forty minutes!"

Overheard at a bus stop on Madison Avenue:

"Driver, do you think you can squeeze me in here?"

But in 1948 Mrs. Oskana Kosenkina jumped from a high window in the Russian consulate in New York, risking her life and suffering serious injuries, to escape the Communist oppressors who had slain her husband and sent her son untrained to die in the Leningrad fighting in 1942. In Australia last April, Russian officials tried to hustle Mrs. Vladimir Petrov out of the country.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Curious Vendetta

The Manchester "Guardian," in an editorial on Owen Lattimore, has this to say concerning an article written by him in 1947:

". . . Its treatment of Greece may be clumsy and mistaken, but on China, the real point at issue, it is remarkably perceptive. It makes the point, not widely appreciated in 1947, that the Communists in China were not simply a small clique but had wide support in certain areas, and that they had proved their independence of Russia. But the point was not popular in America, then or now . . ."

It was not true in 1947 that the Communist party of China was independent of Russia. It is not true in 1954. It was not true in 1925 when Chiang Kai-shek seized power in Canton assisted by cadets of the Russian-managed Whampoa Academy. (He was then the darling of the Russians.) General Bluecher-Galens (his correct name was Bluecher) was in Canton at the time as the military adviser of the Kuomintang which Communists temporarily joined as individuals by an agreement between Sun Yat-sen and the Russians. Michael Borodin was the head Russian adviser. The Communists between March 12, 1925, when Sun Yat-sen died, and Christmas Week of 1926 attempted not only to infiltrate the Kuomintang but to conquer China in the interest of Soviet Russia.

At no time between the organization of the Communist party of China by Chen Tu-shiu and today has this party shown any independence of Soviet Russia. The "Guardian" editorial was published on October 20, 1954. More in consonance with the facts is an article which appeared in the Tientsin "Ta Kung Pao," one of the most important newspapers in China and now a spokesman for the Communist government in Peking. It said on October 13, 1954:

"Every achievement of China in the past five years—from the restoration to the development of the nation's economy and the beginning of the first Five Year Plan — is inseparable from the unselfish aid of the Soviet Union.

". . . the great friendship of the Soviet Union is the guarantee for the building of a Socialist society in China and for the welfare of the Chinese people and their younger generations."

Further the "Ta Kung Pao" says:

"The international aid — in particular the unselfish aid of the Soviet Union to China — is an important factor for building up socialism in this country."

Naturally, the view that the Communist party of China is or has ever been independent of the authority of the Kremlin is not popular in the United States because it is not true. It has never been true. Furthermore, the Communist party of China is the first anti-American party ever to have come into existence in that country. "Pravda," on October 12, published the Russo-China Communist line toward the United States:

"It is clear to every objective person that the obstructionist policy of the United States with regard to the lawful rights of People's China in the United Nations, the direct acts of aggression committed by the United States against the Chinese People's Republic, and in particular the continued occupation of part of the Chinese territory—the island of Taiwan—by American troops, as well as the military and financial support given to the Chiang Kai-shek clique which is hostile to the Chinese people, are incompatible with the maintenance of peace in the Far East and an easing of international tension."

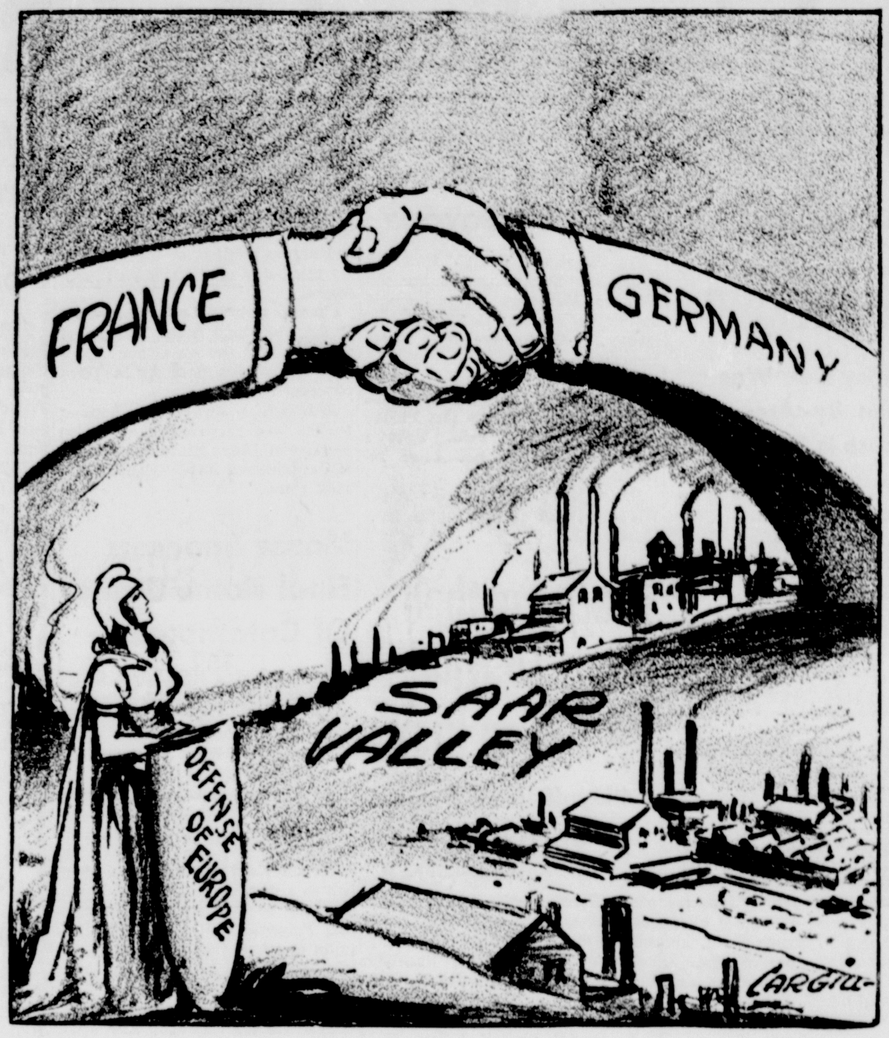

The Lattimore case which deals with perjury has to stand or fall on its merits, but the use of this case by the Manchester "Guardian" to rewrite the history of the Communist party of China from 1921 to 1954 so that the true nature of its relationship to the Comintern and the Kremlin is denied is beyond understanding.

Among the documents seized in the Soviet embassy in Peking in 1927, a record was found of a statement by Borodin, delivered on October 17, 1926, which tells the whole story:

"In the press I spoke of the Kuomintang, but to us it means that I was speaking of the increase, in the end, of the influence of the Communist party." The minutes continue: "Further on Borodin pointed out that while working for the stabilization of the Kuomintang it must never be forgotten that in the reality the work is done for the stabilisation of the Communist party, which aim should be always kept in mind."

Arch Of Triumph

Democrats Begin Campaign For '56 Under Handicap

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The presidential campaign of 1956 begins this week—and it starts with a handicap imposed on the Democratic party by its own leaders which, before the next session of Congress is many weeks old, they will probably regret. The Republicans, if they are alert about it, will not fail to take advantage of what may prove to have been a big political blunder by their opponents.

Both Representative Rayburn of Texas and Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the leaders of the Democratic party in the House of Representatives and the Senate, respectively, joined during the congressional campaign in a statement pledging that their party would, in the main, support the legislative program and foreign policy of President Eisenhower. Indeed, the Democrats, as a part of their campaign tactics, boasted that the Democrats had supported Mr. Eisenhower on the important roll-call votes of the last session of Congress more than did the members of his own party. Actually this argument didn't measure up on statistical examination, but it seemed a good way to keep those admirers of President Eisenhower who had been Democrats but who voted for him in 1952 from voting the Republican ticket in the congressional elections this year.

Matter Of Record

Now, however, the pledge remains a matter of record, and the President will be in a position to hold the Democratic party accountable for its fulfillment. Again and again, as Mr. Eisenhower seeks supporting votes in Congress, he can remind the Democrats of their campaign promise. If they attempt to wriggle out of it or if they disregard it, the opportunity will be there for the President to say about the Democratic party's behavior in the coming 84th Congress what Mr. Truman said about the Republicans in the 80th Congress—that the opposition member were more occupied with party politics than with giving support to measures designed to advance the nation's welfare.

The Democratic party's pledge to cooperate with the President was given on the theory that Mr. Eisenhower's popularity was very high with the voters and that the best way to prevent it from being an advantage to the Republicans was not to attack Mr. Eisenhower's leadership but to appear to be even a better instrument of support than the Republican party. This strategy, however, while expedient in the congressional campaign, puts the Democratic party on the spot in the next two years.

There are many measures on which the President is anxious to get action. One of them, for example, is the revision of the Taft-Hartley law on labor-management relations. It was passed in the 80th Congress, when the Republicans were in control, and has been a political football ever since. The union bosses have centered their attack on a few alleged defects in the law. Some of the suggested revisions have been unpalatable to the conservative Democrats from the South but, when the Eisenhower administration finally did get an amended bill before Congress, it was a coalition of Northern Democrats and Southern Democrats which prevented the Republicans from putting through any legislation at all. Whether the purpose was to prevent the Republicans from getting any credit with labor-union voters or whether the Southern Democrats secretly aimed at preventing any change whatsoever in the Taft-Hartley law, the fact remains that the legislation was buried.

Democrats Pledged Support

Now comes another chance for the Eisenhower administration to test the good faith of the Democrats. Will they pass an Eisenhower-backed measure to revise the Taft-Hartley Act? Or will they clutter up the bill with crippling amendments which would make a presidential veto imperative? In any event, if the latter contingency arises, Mr. Eisenhower would be able to make the claim that the Democratic party had not kept faith with the country—that it had violated its pledge to support him.

This could be the beginning of a build-up for 1956 such as Mr. Truman carried on so successfully in 1948 when he repeatedly told the country that he could not function with a divided government and that he needed a Democratic Congress to support him.

The argument will hold good even if there are a few Republicans who also do not vote with the President on his program. For the Democratic leaders pledged their entire party to support the President and, while this allows for a few defections, it can be held to mean that the majority of the Democrats in Congress, in both houses, are committed to support the Eisenhower program. Otherwise they will be offering their opponents a clear-cut issue for 1956 on the basis of a broken pledge. If the Republicans are politically alert, they will during the next two years never let the nation forget that pledge.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

The flitsom and jotsam of postcranial aftermath indicates the election was closer than boiled berries.

Politics is like the present of a potted geranium. You never know whether you are getting the flower or the dirt.

Back here in New York there was some pretty squeamish parliamentary procedure. Casey Stengel was accused of oiling the turnstiles.

They sure dug up some interesting facts about the early life of the candidates. There's no small type in politics or on circus billboards.

It's our opinion that honest men are still swapping high bicycles. They closed the saloons on Tuesday because they know what makes all men think they are equal.

In the old days the beer bazaars had signs on the mirrors, "No political arguments allowed here." But in the backroom they were selecting the candidates. In the front, the barkeeper was presiding over the debates and using a bung-starter as a moderator. He knew you had to crack cocoanuts to get the milk.

If the Marquis de Lafayette were to run for office we would prove that he was a wife deserter, we would prove that Ben Franklin flew that kite to get rid of a latch key and that George Washington stood up in a rowboat crossing the Delaware.

This was a gummy campaign for control of the House and Senate. The GOP realized a Democratic swing would support the White House program worse than a beggar's wife. The Demmies were thirsting for power with water on both shoulders. That's why the calling of names was a roster of the incredible.

Problem Inside Eisenhower's Cabinet Will Demand His Immediate Attention

By Drew Fearson

WASHINGTON — Now that the President has the elections and his Denver vacation out of the way, there is a problem right inside his own cabinet which will require expert and immediate attention. Otherwise, he's likely to have a cabinet resignation blow up in his face.

Only the phenomenal patience of Secretary of Labor James Mitchell has prevented such a blow-up before this. All summer he has been turning the other cheek to the roughhouse tactics of his colleague, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, but how long it will continue is uncertain.

This, of course, may be officially denied, but nevertheless here are some of the inside facts regarding this cabinet friction.

The chief current issue between the two men is the fact that Secretary of Commerce Weeks wants labor put under the antitrust laws. Secretary of Labor Mitchell does not.

However, the issue actually goes even deeper, to the fact that Weeks, reared in a conservative Boston business background, considers it his job to champion every form of business, even to the extent of barging into the preserve of his cabinet colleague who handles the problems of labor.

Mitchell, too, has represented business a good part of his life but his chief job was to represent it in dealing with labor. He was handpicked by Governor Dewey for Ike's labor post because he knew how to deal with labor, and in a short period of time he has done a creditable job. Labor leaders, though disliking the Eisenhower administration, like Mitchell.

The Weeks-Mitchell cabinet squabble probably would be no worse than the personality tiffs that have occurred in most cabinets in the past were it not for the fact that Weeks seems so determined to prevail on the question of the anti-trust laws.

FOA Stalls

There's a big difference between the way the American Red Cross operates and the Foreign Operations Administration when it comes to relieving human suffering.

After the disastrous flash flood that killed more than 200 people at Salerno, Italy, the Red Cross was most cooperative in informing this column about the operation of its international organization in Geneva and just what steps were being taken to help alleviate the tragic disaster.

It was further suggested that since President Eisenhower had set a public policy of using American farm surpluses to relieve distress abroad, the Foreign Operations Administration also might tell us what it was doing to help at Salerno.

"Miss Evelyn Ripps in Room 804 at FOA is handling the Italian flood problem," explained Mr. William Breyer of the Red Cross.

The door of 804 was open, and Miss Ripps, a lady of about 30, was seated at her desk.

"I'd like to get any information available on what FOA is doing in connection with the recent flood in Italy," she was asked.

Miss Ripps made no immediate reply. Instead she began turning over all the papers on her desk so that the blank backs stared up.

"When you people come strolling around here, we just turn everything over," she remarked. "And as far as what we are doing in Italy is concerned, you read the papers, don't you?

"I just thought there might be some recent development that I hadn't heard about, or something that the papers had overlooked," was the reply.

"Well, I'll tell you," confided Miss Ripps, "the first thing you find after a flood is that a good many bodies are missing. Does that answer your question?"

"Have I done anything to antagonize you? I didn't mean to, but I'm sorry if I did."

Miss Ripps was not to be appeased

"I don't think that has anything to do with the case," she snapped, and returned to her phone book.

By this time she had turned all her papers over, and was looking in an FOA telephone directory.

Mohammed Ali's Miracle

Before Prime Minister Mohammed Ali rushed back to Pakistan, he achieved the near miracle of bringing CBS colored television to NBC—a diplomatic feat equal to coaxing India's Prime Minister Nehru to the capital of Pakistan, Karachi.

NBC and CBS take their rivalry over colored television so seriously that it's taboo around NBC to watch a CBS program. The competition has lasted for years, is deep-rooted and bitter. But Mohammed Ali didn't know this when he was invited up to NBC's executive suite in Radio City.

A public-relations man suggested that the prime minister might like to watch colored television. Mohammed agreed enthusiastically, and an NBC official recommended an appropriate NBC program. But the prime minister had a conflicting engagement and arranged to come back later.

At the time he selected, however, there was nothing on colored television except a CBS show. So NBC was stuck with a prime minister and nothing to show him but a CBS program. Sheepishly, the NBC officials switched on CBS.

But the unfamiliar spectacle of a CBS show on an RCA set in the NBC executive offices was too much. The set, tuned to pick up NBC shows exclusively, refused to show more than a fuzzy image of the CBS program.

So embarassed NBC officials sent their engineers up on the roof to tinker with the antennas. Finally, after considerable adjusting, the CBS show got through to NBC.

The Satellite

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

These words are written before the votes have been counted. But whatever the election's outcome may be, its most important lesson is already very clear indeed. The campaign has shown that our most important national problems are no longer being solved by the democratic process.

Solving a problem by the democratic process means solving it in accordance with the popular will. In the simpler past electoral campaigns were biennial consultations of the popular will. On every hustings, the great national problems were debated. Then the votes were cast, and the outcome crudely announced the popular will, not only as to individual candidates, but also as to the national problems that had formed the main topics of debate.

Until 1940 or thereabouts, that was the American way. Until 1940, it was inconceivable that any great national problem of real life-and-death significance should not be thrashed out in public debate. But that is not the American way any longer, as anyone can see who has followed the last two months of strident political arguments.

Everyone will agree, surely, that the decision on the H-bomb was one of the major American choices of the post-war period. In that case, the popular will had a certain influence, although not a decisive influence.

Generated Public Pressure

While those with "Q-clearance" were arguing about whether or not to build the H-bomb, the face that an H-bomb was feasible was published to the world (by these reporters, incidentally). When that fact became known, public pressure was generated which considerably hastened President Truman's decision. And if the President had wished to decide the problem the other ways (which he did not) public pressure would have prevented him from doing so.

Now, however, problems just as important as the H-bomb problem are being daily weighed in the secret circles of the government. Yet the popular will has no influence at all, for the very simple reason that the country does not know enough about these problems or have any will or view about them.

One example is the air defense problem. Another, fantastically enough, is the problem of the artificial satellite of the earth. It is curious, but it is also true that while the politicians have been arguing about "peace and prosperity," those with Q-clearance have been arguing about a crash program to build a man-made heavenly body.

The technicalities of the debate about the satellite must be covered in another report. It is enough to say here that the feasibility of an artificial satellite has long been admitted, and that the present argument about a satellite crash program started because of a boast in one of the Soviet military publications that a Soviet satellite would take the air within 10 years.

Such a small, man-controlled moon, circling the earth several times daily, telemetering reconnaissance reports back to its controllers, could be another military development almost as decisive as the H-bomb itself. As in the case of the H-bomb debate, the American fate and future is quite probably bound up in the satellite debate. But far from being carried on before the American people, this debate that may so deeply influence the people's future has been most closely restricted to the most secret circles.

Talked Balderdash

Not only weapons problems, either, are now restricted to the tiny minority of the Q-cleared. International problems of the utmost gravity and urgency have been handled in this campaign with the wildest unrealism. But because great parts of those problems are hidden behind the classification curtain, and because every one of the problems is enormously remote from common, every day experience, the orators who have touched on them have got away with talking the most transparent balderdash.

Last spring, a majority of the National Security Council, conspicuously including Vice President Nixon, was convinced that we ought to fight to save Indochina if necessary to preserve the free world's position in Asia. This summer, a majority of Republican politicians, again including Vice President Nixon, has been representing the new Munich in Indochina as a triumph for Republican peacefulness. A good many Republicans have come very close to echoing Neville Chamberlain's boast, that he had brought "peace in our time."

No Democrat called these Republican boasters, despite the fact that every informed man in Washington knows that the second phase of the Indochinese Munich is probabl imminent; and knows too that a Chinese Communist attack on the island outposts of Formosa may well take place next spring. One way or another, in short, just those national problems which are likely to determine what kind of world our children will live in, have ceased to be subject to popular will and the democratic process.

Increase In Dental Caries Blamed On Food Pattern

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The increase in dental caries frequently is blamed on the changing food pattern of civilized races. An accusing finger is pointed at carbohydrates, particularly sugar. This factor was partially refuted recently by a five year study among inmates of a large Swedish mental institution. Researchers found it was not the amount of sugar in the diet that produced cavities but the form in which sugar was consumed and when.

Participants were divided into seven groups and for the first nine months of the study all were given menus composed of typical Swedish foods. Snacks between meals were prohibited.

For four years, the eating program of each unit varied as follows: The first group acted as a control and continued to eat the institutional diet along with an extra ration of margarine.

The second group had the same basic diet plus a large glass of sugar solution with each meal. Sugar-containing bread was given to the third group with each repast whereas the fourth drank the sucrose solution at mealtime for the first two years and consumed milk chocolate between meals during the next two. The remainder were placed on complicated programs that varied during the four years of the experiment.

Some chewed 22 sticky caramels between meals; others munched on toffee or drank the sugar solutions which were mixed in every conceivable combination. Final tabulations showed little increase in the incidence of dental caries when the carbohydrates were ingested with meals. There was a definite rise, however, when milk chocolate was consumed between the three squares and an even greater increase when the inmates nibbled on toffee.

The outcome indicates that the longer the teeth are in contact with sugar, the more cavities develop. Holding toffee in the mouth is a greater offender than chewing sticky caramels or consuming milk chocolate. On the other hand, when the sweets are incorporated in the diet the incidence is less.

The study also reemphasized a well known fact. Some individuals are more resistant to dental caries than are others. During the caramel experiment a number acquired from four to nine new cavities whereas others escaped entirely. This innate susceptibility also has been demonstrated in many animal experiments. We know now that resistance to decay is established early in life. This lends support to those who believe in fluoridation. Strengthening the teeth at an early age may leave the incisors and molars with lifetime resistance.

TOMORROW: Desirable objectives.

SPINAL X-RAYS

S. W. writes: What is a myelogram?

REPLY

Special X-rays of the spinal cord, which are taken after the injection of a radiopaque substance. In this way certain defects of the spine, such as a herniated disk, can be visualized.

CHANGE HANDS

J. P. writes: I have always written with my left hand but wish to change to my right. Is this safe at age 14?

REPLY

Yes, if you initiate the process yourself and are not forced into it.

REFRACTIVE ERRORS

L. P. writes: I had my eyes tested for glasses and the slip said "hyperopia and presbyopia." What does this mean?

REPLY

Hyperopia, or hypermetropia, is farsightedness. Presbyopia is the change in vision that occurs with age. For the latter condition, glasses are constructed to include vision at the near working distance such as reading the telephone directory in a telephone booth.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Matt Weinstock tells about a lovely cat lover who was dining with her husband in her apartment one night when she fancied she heard a cat meowing a floor or two away. "I'll bet that pussy is lonely," she remarked, and playfully meowed back.

To her surprise the cat answered her! She repeated her meow, this time putting extra feeling into her performance, and there then ensued the darndest cat conversation ever heard in that neighborhood. It continued for a full half hour, while the husband marveled.

The next day her triumph was deflated when a neighbor dropped down to borrow some sugar. "The funniest thing happened last night," said the neighbor. "I meowed at a cat and he meowed back—and we must have kept it up for forty minutes!"

Overheard at a bus stop on Madison Avenue:

"Driver, do you think you can squeeze me in here?"

Fisherman Captures Rich International Turf Race At Laurel

FISHERMAN GETS KISS—Mrs. C. V. Whitney hugs and kisses Fisherman after the Whitney horse yesterday captured the third International race at Laurel's racetrack. Running for the first time on grass in the $65,000 Washington, D. C. International Fisherman also became the first U. S. horse to win the big turf event. Jockey Eddie Arcaro sits astride the winner.

Spunky Horse Substituted For High Gun

Whitney Colt Was Ridden By Arcaro; Banassa Is Second

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 3 (AP) — Spunky little Fisherman, a substitute running on the grass for the first time, won the third running of the $65,000 Washington D. C. International today to give the United States its first victory in the global classic as Queen Elizabeth's Landau was last.

Eddie Arcaro, America's top jockey, gave the 3-year-old Fisherman, owned by C.V. Whitney of New York, a terrific ride as he bested six other thoroughbreds from four nations in a tremendous horse race.

Fisherman Takes Lead

Fisherman took the lead going under the finish wire the first time, and held off the fast closing filly Banassa from France to take the $50,000 first prize by three quarters of a length. Brush Burn, another American horse finished third, 3½ lengths behind Banassa, the $2.60 to $1.00 favorite owned by Julien Decrion of Paris and Algeria.

Landau, the black 3-year-old colt owned by Queen Elizabeth of England, battled Fisherman for the lead after the first mile, then tired and finished last. The Queen's trainer had said Landau "did not like the soft going" produced by heavy rains of yesterday.

Fisherman, a little brown son of Phalanx-Crawfish, got into the race only Monday when the King Ranch's High Gun was withdrawn after suffering an injury. Hurried calls were made to Trainer Syl Veitch in New York, and they brought the colt from Belmont Park by motor van that night.

Beaten By High Gun

The colt, beaten only a nose by High Gun in the mile and one half Belmont Stakes, same distance as today's International, never set foot on a turf course until yesterday morning.

He galloped around the course again this morning, came back this raw and windy afternoon to run his greatest race, and bring cheer after cheer from the half frozen Laurel track crowd of 20,562.

The Whitney colt was sent off the second choice at $3.30 to $1 and his backers at the mutuels collected $8.60, $4.00 and $3.00.

Heavy Snowstorm Postpones Soccer Tilt At Mt. Savage

For the second straight time the Bruce-Mt. Savage game in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League was postponed yesterday, at Mt. Savage, by a fierce snowstorm.

The original contest was called off because the playing field at Mt. Savage was too muddy last Friday after a day-long rain. Today's postponement has not been rescheduled.

Touch Football Loops To Wind Up Season Play

Playoff In Southern League Is Necessary

Four divisions of the City Recreation Department's touch football leagues program will complete the season this week. Only on the high school division where the Ramblers have completed their season undefeated has the championship been decided.

A special playoff today at 2 o'clock between Carver and Johnson Heights at Penn Avenue field will determine the Southern grade school division crown. The winner will then play the Columbia Street Blues who have captured the Northern division title for the grade school diadem.

The junior high school championship will be decided today, also, with the clash between Ernie's Fruit Market and the Penn Avenue Cubs on the Penn Avenue field. Game time is 3 p. m.

The men's division will be decided Sunday when the unbeaten Clowns meet the also- undefeated Parabees in the top engagement of the week at 2 p. m. on the Penn Avenue field.

A full schedule of men's division games is carded Sunday but none will have a bearing on the title other than the contest between the victory-minded Parabees and Clowns.

Other men's games include Little Egypt vs. Johnson's Grocery at 1 p. m. at Penn Avenue field; Park Punks vs. Columbia Cash Grocery at 1 p. m. at Allegany field; Post Playground vs. Terrapins at 2 p. m. at Allegany; and Red Raiders vs. Spotters, 3 p. m. at Penn Avenue.

Although bad weather forced cancellation of several games in all divisions the past week, Bob Pence, city rec director, said last night none had any bearing on the title races and would not be rescheduled.

Deer Again Blank County Hunters

Allegany County deer are still batting 1.000 against intrepid bow and arrow hunters at the close of the third day of the special 12-day season.

Checkers at the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police and at Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge reported no kills made for the third consecutive day.

Although several deer hunting parties are reported camping in the Green Ridge state forest none of the bowmen have "sighted sub, sank same."

Moose Sponsors Final Home Game Of Catamounts

Keyser Lodge 622, Loyal Order of Moose, will sponsor the final home football game of the Potomac State Catamounts Saturday when they play the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats.

An advance ticket sale is being conducted by the Moose and halftime ceremonies at the game on Stayman Field are planned. Besides the Keyser High School band, which will play at halftime, trophies will be awarded the outstanding Potomac State back and lineman for their performances in the Cats-Shepherd Homecoming game two weeks ago.

The Catamounts, coached by Dana "Horse" Lough, has a 3-2 grid record this year.

Writer Asks Probe Of A's

Frick Should Check Detrimental Interests

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP) — Sports Editor Ed Pollock of the Philadelphia Bulletin today called upon Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to conduct a full scale probe into Philadelphia Athletics' situation.

Pollock, in his column, "Playing the Game," and that the proposed sale of A's "has been so bungled and the public left in such a quandary about what has transpired that it should be certified to the commissioner of baseball for a full scale probe."

He cited that Frick has no authority to intervene unless some action has been taken which he believes is detrimental to the best interests of baseball, and then said:

"The opinion is held here that detrimental acts already are on the record and that certain statements and circumstances made or created by American League officials and-or clubowners demand an investigation by the highest executive in the game."

Beagle Named Best Lineman

Navy End Starred In Loss To Irish

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 3 (AP) — His selection as Associated Press Lineman of the Week came as a complete surprise today to Navy end Ron Beagle, blond crew-cut youngster who has been cutting a wide swath through the opposition this season.

But to Navy football coaches who work with him, and those gridders who play against him, it justified a respect already accorded him as one of the best all-around players to wear the Blue and Gold.

"Gee, that's great," the 6-foot, 185-pound junior from Covington, Ky., said today when advised of his selection on the basis of his play in a 6-0 loss to Notre Dame Saturday.

Coach Eddie Erdelatz, who before the season called Beagle one of the great football players he has coached, flashed a big smile and commented: "He certainly deserves it."

Beagle, in addition to leading Navy's pass receivers with 19 completions for 243 yards and three touchdowns, is also credited by Erdelatz with being a major reason for Navy's standing as No. 1 defensive team in the nation.

His crashing tackles and ability to diagnose plays have earned a high respect from the opposition. He moves swiftly, and with catlike grace, whether he's cutting downfield for a pass or performing on defense.

Rams Have Best Offensive Team In Pro Grid League

Detroit Has Tightest Mark Against Passes

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams continued to lead the National Football League in total offense at the halfway mark of the NFL season with a total of 2,748 yards, 1,136 from rushing.

San Francisco, the league's best running club, ranks second with a total of 2,403, 1,371 by rushing. In third are the Chicago Bears who jumped from seventh to their new rating by rolling for 469 yards against the 49ers Sunday. The Bears now have gained 2,201, only 483 by rushing. Their 1,718 yards by passing lead the league.

Cleveland and Detroit have each played one game less than the other league teams.

Other statistics released today showed Cleveland, with Otto Graham tossing, having the best pass completion record, 87 out of 140 for a 62.1 percentage. Pittsburgh, with 110 completed out of 191 tried, ranks second at 57.6 per cent.

Detroit's punting average is the best, 45.7 yards per boot; San Francisco is the high scoring team, 193 points; the Philadelphia Eagles have the best record against rushing, 2.2 yards per try and Detroit continues to have the tightest pass defense, allowing completion of only 39.7 per cent of the passes to be attempted by its opposition.

High School Teams Invited To Game

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 3—Football teams, coaches and principals of eight eastern West Virginia panhandle and other high schools have been invited to be guests of Shepherd College, Friday, Nov. 12, for the gridiron battle with Salem College.

Guests expected to attend are from Musselman High School, Inwood; Martinsburg High; Hagerstown, Md.; Handley High of Winchester, Va.; Charles Town High; Harpers Ferry High; Berkeley Springs High and Hedgesville High School.

WOW Shufflers Lose 3-0 Match To Clingerman's

Clingerman's league-leading shufflers smashed back the WOW team's challenge for first place last night with a 3-0 victory in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League.

Evelyn Gray topped the pace-setters with 22 points while Vi Gibson had 16 for WOW who dropped out a tie for second place.

In two other matches last night Purple Heart defeated Cas Taylor's, 2-1, shoving the latter deeper into the league's cellar, and Golden Nuggets scored a 3-0 sweep over Pocahontas.

High scorer for Golden Nugget was Virginia Maley with 21 points. Lois Wilson has 20 for the losers. Gibson was high with 20 points for Purple Heart. Agnes McCall tallied the highest score of the night, 30 points, for Cas Taylor's.

The Hi-Dee lost to Stadium Inn 2-1 and the Frostburg American Legion-Cresaptown game was postponed. Pat Green was high with 28 for Stadium. Lynch had 17 for Hi-Dee.

Fisher & Robinette Will Oppose Redmen

Fisher and Robinette's first place team will play host to the Cumberland Redmen in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League tonight.

The F. & M. aggregation with a 19-2 record holds a two-game lead over Hann's Tavern, which occupies second place in the 16-team circuit.

Stadium Inn, of Frostburg, will engage Hann's tonight on the latter's board.

Purple Heart Club, holder of third place, plays host to the Hi Dee Club.

Other matches on tap for tonight are:

Clingerman's at Frostburg Golden Nugget, Cas Taylor's at Frostburg American Legion, Goodfellowship Club at the Frostburg K. of C., and Frostburg Eagles at Mt. Savage V.F.W.

Olson TKOs Panter

RICHMOND, Calif., Nov. 3 (INS) — Middleweight champion Carl "Bobo" Olson scored a seventh-round technical knockout over Garth Panter of Salt Lake City, Utah, tonight in a non-title bout televised nationally from the Richmond Auditorium.

Deadline On Friday

The deadline for the filing of forfeit fees by teams in the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League is Friday night, Clifton Van Roby, director of the circuit said last night.

Cold Weather Doesn't Hamper Terps Drills

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 3 (AP)—Freezing temperatures and a biting cold wind kept Maryland's football players from getting overheated today as they went through a full speed scrimmage for one hour.

Coach Jim Tatum worked the Terps another hour under the lights in preparation for Saturday's homecoming game here with North Carolina State.

Charlie Boxold, injured first string quarterback continued to work out with the second squad. Nursing a bruised shoulder, Boxold didn't play in last Saturday's 20-0 win over South Carolina and Tatum was undecided today whether Boxold or Frank Tamburello would start against N. C. State.

Fisherman Captures Rich International Turf Race At Laurel

FISHERMAN GETS KISS—Mrs. C. V. Whitney hugs and kisses Fisherman after the Whitney horse yesterday captured the third International race at Laurel's racetrack. Running for the first time on grass in the $65,000 Washington, D. C. International Fisherman also became the first U. S. horse to win the big turf event. Jockey Eddie Arcaro sits astride the winner.

Spunky Horse Substituted For High Gun

Whitney Colt Was Ridden By Arcaro; Banassa Is Second

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 3 (AP) — Spunky little Fisherman, a substitute running on the grass for the first time, won the third running of the $65,000 Washington D. C. International today to give the United States its first victory in the global classic as Queen Elizabeth's Landau was last.

Eddie Arcaro, America's top jockey, gave the 3-year-old Fisherman, owned by C.V. Whitney of New York, a terrific ride as he bested six other thoroughbreds from four nations in a tremendous horse race.

Fisherman Takes Lead

Fisherman took the lead going under the finish wire the first time, and held off the fast closing filly Banassa from France to take the $50,000 first prize by three quarters of a length. Brush Burn, another American horse finished third, 3½ lengths behind Banassa, the $2.60 to $1.00 favorite owned by Julien Decrion of Paris and Algeria.

Landau, the black 3-year-old colt owned by Queen Elizabeth of England, battled Fisherman for the lead after the first mile, then tired and finished last. The Queen's trainer had said Landau "did not like the soft going" produced by heavy rains of yesterday.

Fisherman, a little brown son of Phalanx-Crawfish, got into the race only Monday when the King Ranch's High Gun was withdrawn after suffering an injury. Hurried calls were made to Trainer Syl Veitch in New York, and they brought the colt from Belmont Park by motor van that night.

Beaten By High Gun

The colt, beaten only a nose by High Gun in the mile and one half Belmont Stakes, same distance as today's International, never set foot on a turf course until yesterday morning.

He galloped around the course again this morning, came back this raw and windy afternoon to run his greatest race, and bring cheer after cheer from the half frozen Laurel track crowd of 20,562.

The Whitney colt was sent off the second choice at $3.30 to $1 and his backers at the mutuels collected $8.60, $4.00 and $3.00.

Heavy Snowstorm Postpones Soccer Tilt At Mt. Savage

For the second straight time the Bruce-Mt. Savage game in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League was postponed yesterday, at Mt. Savage, by a fierce snowstorm.

The original contest was called off because the playing field at Mt. Savage was too muddy last Friday after a day-long rain. Today's postponement has not been rescheduled.

Touch Football Loops To Wind Up Season Play

Playoff In Southern League Is Necessary

Four divisions of the City Recreation Department's touch football leagues program will complete the season this week. Only on the high school division where the Ramblers have completed their season undefeated has the championship been decided.

A special playoff today at 2 o'clock between Carver and Johnson Heights at Penn Avenue field will determine the Southern grade school division crown. The winner will then play the Columbia Street Blues who have captured the Northern division title for the grade school diadem.

The junior high school championship will be decided today, also, with the clash between Ernie's Fruit Market and the Penn Avenue Cubs on the Penn Avenue field. Game time is 3 p. m.

The men's division will be decided Sunday when the unbeaten Clowns meet the also- undefeated Parabees in the top engagement of the week at 2 p. m. on the Penn Avenue field.

A full schedule of men's division games is carded Sunday but none will have a bearing on the title other than the contest between the victory-minded Parabees and Clowns.

Other men's games include Little Egypt vs. Johnson's Grocery at 1 p. m. at Penn Avenue field; Park Punks vs. Columbia Cash Grocery at 1 p. m. at Allegany field; Post Playground vs. Terrapins at 2 p. m. at Allegany; and Red Raiders vs. Spotters, 3 p. m. at Penn Avenue.

Although bad weather forced cancellation of several games in all divisions the past week, Bob Pence, city rec director, said last night none had any bearing on the title races and would not be rescheduled.

Deer Again Blank County Hunters

Allegany County deer are still batting 1.000 against intrepid bow and arrow hunters at the close of the third day of the special 12-day season.

Checkers at the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police and at Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge reported no kills made for the third consecutive day.

Although several deer hunting parties are reported camping in the Green Ridge state forest none of the bowmen have "sighted sub, sank same."

Moose Sponsors Final Home Game Of Catamounts

Keyser Lodge 622, Loyal Order of Moose, will sponsor the final home football game of the Potomac State Catamounts Saturday when they play the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats.

An advance ticket sale is being conducted by the Moose and halftime ceremonies at the game on Stayman Field are planned. Besides the Keyser High School band, which will play at halftime, trophies will be awarded the outstanding Potomac State back and lineman for their performances in the Cats-Shepherd Homecoming game two weeks ago.

The Catamounts, coached by Dana "Horse" Lough, has a 3-2 grid record this year.

Writer Asks Probe Of A's

Frick Should Check Detrimental Interests

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP) — Sports Editor Ed Pollock of the Philadelphia Bulletin today called upon Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick to conduct a full scale probe into Philadelphia Athletics' situation.

Pollock, in his column, "Playing the Game," and that the proposed sale of A's "has been so bungled and the public left in such a quandary about what has transpired that it should be certified to the commissioner of baseball for a full scale probe."

He cited that Frick has no authority to intervene unless some action has been taken which he believes is detrimental to the best interests of baseball, and then said:

"The opinion is held here that detrimental acts already are on the record and that certain statements and circumstances made or created by American League officials and-or clubowners demand an investigation by the highest executive in the game."

Beagle Named Best Lineman

Navy End Starred In Loss To Irish

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 3 (AP) — His selection as Associated Press Lineman of the Week came as a complete surprise today to Navy end Ron Beagle, blond crew-cut youngster who has been cutting a wide swath through the opposition this season.

But to Navy football coaches who work with him, and those gridders who play against him, it justified a respect already accorded him as one of the best all-around players to wear the Blue and Gold.

"Gee, that's great," the 6-foot, 185-pound junior from Covington, Ky., said today when advised of his selection on the basis of his play in a 6-0 loss to Notre Dame Saturday.

Coach Eddie Erdelatz, who before the season called Beagle one of the great football players he has coached, flashed a big smile and commented: "He certainly deserves it."

Beagle, in addition to leading Navy's pass receivers with 19 completions for 243 yards and three touchdowns, is also credited by Erdelatz with being a major reason for Navy's standing as No. 1 defensive team in the nation.

His crashing tackles and ability to diagnose plays have earned a high respect from the opposition. He moves swiftly, and with catlike grace, whether he's cutting downfield for a pass or performing on defense.

Rams Have Best Offensive Team In Pro Grid League

Detroit Has Tightest Mark Against Passes

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams continued to lead the National Football League in total offense at the halfway mark of the NFL season with a total of 2,748 yards, 1,136 from rushing.

San Francisco, the league's best running club, ranks second with a total of 2,403, 1,371 by rushing. In third are the Chicago Bears who jumped from seventh to their new rating by rolling for 469 yards against the 49ers Sunday. The Bears now have gained 2,201, only 483 by rushing. Their 1,718 yards by passing lead the league.

Cleveland and Detroit have each played one game less than the other league teams.

Other statistics released today showed Cleveland, with Otto Graham tossing, having the best pass completion record, 87 out of 140 for a 62.1 percentage. Pittsburgh, with 119 completed out of 191 tried, ranks second at 57.6 per cent.

Detroit's punting average is the best, 45.7 yards per boot; San Francisco is the high scoring team, 193 points; the Philadelphia Eagles have the best record against rushing, 2.2 yards per try and Detroit continues to have the tightest pass defense, allowing completion of only 39.7 per cent of the passes to be attempted by its opposition.

Yogi Berra Inks Yankee Contract

Only DiMag, Ruth Surpassed Salary

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — Larry (Yogi) Berra became the highest paid catcher in baseball when he signed a New York Yankee contract today for "between $45,000 and $50,000."

Baseball's No. 1 receiver last season, Berra explained his early signing in his own characteristically direct manner.

"Why fool around?" he asked. "Mr. Weiss (General Manager George Weiss) offered me a fine contract. I got a good raise. It's the most money I ever made."

Terms were not disclosed but an official volunteered that Berra earned more than the $41,000 he was reported to have made last season and that he was given a "substantial raise."

"You can say that Yogi's salary next year will be closer to $50,000 than to $45,000," he said.

Only Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggion ever received more money as Yankees. Ruth once signed a two-year contract at $80,000 per and DiMaggio was paid $100,000 a season for several years. Lou Gehrig's highest salary was $39,000.

Berra enjoyed one of his best years last season. The 29-year-old slugger caught in 149 of the 151 games in which he participated, batted .307 and drove in 125 runs.

"We haven't mailed out contracts yet," Weiss explained, "so I can't say that Berra will be the highest paid Yankee of 1955. I'd say, however, he stands a very good chance. I know of nobody on the club more deserving."

Berra disclosed his first baseball contract, as a Yankee farmhand with Norfolk, Va., in 1943, netted him $90 a month.

Sazio Named SC Player Of Week

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — William and Mary's tackle Jerry Sazio is the Southern Conference "player of the week."

Sazio, a 225-pounder, was selected by the Southern Conference Sports Writers' Assn. for his performance in William and Mary's 7-7 tie with undefeated Virginia Tech.

By TONY GALLI

Saturday Night

Detroit 35, Baltimore 14 . . . Lions keep first place.

Sunday

Philadelphia 28, Chicago Cardinals 20 . . . Crippled Eagles stave off Matson.

Chicago Bears 27, Green Bay 21 . . . Blanda vs Rote in aerial duel.

San Francisco 31, Los Angeles 28 . . . McElhenny's loss may knock out 49'ers.

Cleveland 24, Washington 14 . . . Browns showing form.

Hillegass At Guard

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — Don Hillegass, a sophomore from Pittsburgh, was running at right guard today as the University of Richmond completed its heavy work for Saturday's homecoming engagement here with Wake Forest.

Dickie Beard Leads In Two Departments

Halfback Dickie Beard of Virginia Tech's unbeaten once-tied Gobblers, is now the leader in total offense and rushing in the Southern Conference.

The former Fort Hill High School player picked up 105 yards against William and Mary to up his total to 523 yards. Last week's leader, Jim Boyle of Furman, is a close second with 520 yards.

Beard maintained his leadership in the rushing department with the identical 523-yard total.

Yogi Berra Inks Yankee Contract

Only DiMag, Ruth Surpassed Salary

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — Larry (Yogi) Berra became the highest paid catcher in baseball when he signed a New York Yankee contract today for "between $45,000 and $50,000."

Baseball's No. 1 receiver last season, Berra explained his early signing in his own characteristically direct manner.

"Why fool around?" he asked. "Mr. Weiss (General Manager George Weiss) offered me a fine contract. I got a good raise. It's the most money I ever made."

Terms were not disclosed but an official volunteered that Berra earned more than the $41,000 he was reported to have made last season and that he was given a "substantial raise."

"You can say that Yogi's salary next year will be closer to $50,000 than to $45,000," he said.

Only Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggion ever received more money as Yankees. Ruth once signed a two-year contract at $80,000 per and DiMaggio was paid $100,000 a season for several years. Lou Gehrig's highest salary was $39,000.

Berra enjoyed one of his best years last season. The 29-year-old slugger caught in 149 of the 151 games in which he participated, batted .307 and drove in 125 runs.

"We haven't mailed out contracts yet," Weiss explained, "so I can't say that Berra will be the highest paid Yankee of 1955. I'd say, however, he stands a very good chance. I know of nobody on the club more deserving."

Berra disclosed his first baseball contract, as a Yankee farmhand with Norfolk, Va., in 1943, netted him $90 a month.

Sazio Named SC Player Of Week

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — William and Mary's tackle Jerry Sazio is the Southern Conference "player of the week."

Sazio, a 225-pounder, was selected by the Southern Conference Sports Writers' Assn. for his performance in William and Mary's 7-7 tie with undefeated Virginia Tech.

Democrats Keep Vote Control In Pendleton

FRANKLIN, W. Va.—Traditionally Democratic Pendleton County went down the line in Tuesday's election for the majority party's candidates.

Roughly 60 per cent of those eligible to vote went to the polls yesterday despite the cold, blowing weather.

U. S. Senator Matthew M. Neely and Rep. Harley O. Staggers received substantial margins over their opponents, Tom Sweeney and Albert M. Morgan, respectively.

William McCoy Jr., Franklin, running unopposed for House of Delegates, received 2,065 token votes.

Garrett County Holds Traditional Republican Position In Balloting

Ryan Loses To Hyde; McKeldin Defeats Byrd; Democrats Challenge Some Local Candidates

OAKLAND—Garrett County, as expected, voted overwhelmingly Republican, in Tuesday's "off-year" election with only two contested offices being close.

When the long all-night struggle of tabulation finally ended at 7:30 a. m. today, Clifford Friend of Accident, former state senator, had won his way back into that office. Friend polled 3,472 votes to 3,105 for Joseph Hinebaugh, a plurality of only 367.

There was only one office-holder who sought re-election against opposition and he won handily. Sheriff Paul Fisher piled up a tremendous advantage over Democrat Lee McRobie, 4,760 to 1,732.

Hyde Wins Handily

Republican DeWitt S. Hyde of Montgomery County polled over 1,000 more votes than Democrat Edward J. Ryan of neighboring Allegany County. Final figures in this contest were 3,725 for Hyde to Ryan's 2,739.

Gov. McKeldin, in sweeping into office for an unprecedented second Republican term, defeated Dr. H. C. Byrd by 1,175 votes in this GOP stronghold.

However, leading the entire ticket in offices with opposition was Harvey D. Swartzentruber who was elected county commissioners from District 3. Swartzentruber was backed by 4,383 voters, with his Democratic foe, Harvey B. Sines, getting only 1,627 votes.

Ellsworth G. Moon was re-elected judge of the Orphans Court, with his Republican running mates, Charles F. Hammond and Roy C. Turney, being newcomers. They were the only three in contention for that office.

All members of the House of Delegates, county commissioner and state senator are new. Neil C. Fraley, the incumbent state senator, did not seek re-election.

State's Attorney Race Close

Elected to the House of Delegates were Jesse J. Ashby, Harry C. Edwards and Kermit S. Glotfelty. They had opposition only from Helen T. Baumgartner, Democrat.

Closest race of the day was waged for state's attorney with Republican Stephen R. Pagenhardt winning by the slim margin of 45 votes over William O. Treacy, Democrat. Final unofficial counts were 3,170 to 3,125.

Approximately 70 per cent of the 9,850 registered voters in 27 precincts cast ballots in the 1954 general election. There are 6,135 Republicans and 3,673 Democrats in Garrett County, along with 38 belonging to miscellaneous parties.

Here is how the voting went in contested offices:

GOVERNOR
McKeldin, Republican ... 3,899
Byrd, Democrat 2,724

CONGRESS
Hyde, Republican 3,725
Ryan, Democrat 2,739

ATTORNEY GENERAL
Rollins, Republican 3,769
Sybert, Democrat 2,366

STATE SENATOR
Friend, Republican 3,472
Hinebaugh, Democrat ... 3,105

HOUSE OF DELEGATES
Edwards, Republican 4,183
Glotfelty, Republican 4,129
Ashby, Republican 3,997
Baumgartner, Democrat . 3,036

STATE'S ATTORNEY
Pagenhardt, Republican . 3,170
Treacy, Democrat 3,125

COUNTY COMMISSIONER (District 1)
Roth, Republican 3,507
Shaffer, Democrat 2,640

COUNTY COMMISSIONER (District 2)
Brenneman, Republican . 3,974
Savage, Democrat 2,186

COUNTY COMMISSIONER (District 3)
Swartzentruber, Republ'n 4,383
Sines, Democrat 1,627

SHERIFF
Fisher, Republican 4,760
McRobie, Democrat 1,732

In the unopposed offices, J. Millard Tawes (Democrat) received 3,465 votes for comptroller; Richard L. Davis (Republican), 4,496 for clerk of Circuit Court; Joseph H. Welch (Republican), 4,103 for county treasurer; Vernie R. Smouse (Republican), 4,306 for register of wills, and judges of Orphans Court (all Republicans), Charles F. Hammond, 3,676; Ellsworth G. Moon, 3,588, and Roy C. Turney, 3,796.

Berkeley Co. Voters Pass School Bonds

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va.—The third time proved a charm during Tuesday's election in the controversial bond issue for the increase of educational facilities in Morgan County.

Twice the issue failed to gain the necessary 60 per cent favoring the plan. On May 29, 1951 a total of 1,036 favored the issue, but the needed majority fell short. In August of the same year, more voted against than for the issue.

Yesterday, however, found an overwhelming 2,238 casting ballots for the issue and only 809 against, a winning percentage of 73.44.

County residents will be taxed over a 15-year period on a bond of $483,000. Of that amount, $195,000 will be used to construct a new high school at Paw Paw. North Berkeley will get an eight-room grade school for $130,000; Berkeley Springs Grade School a $90,000 eight-room addition and $50,000 for a three-room grade school at Greenwood. The other $18,000 will be used in the purchase of land and equipment.

Morgan County, traditionally Republican, voted just that way yesterday, GOP candidates in the Congressional, senatorial and county offices getting substantial pluralities.

Unofficial results from the county's 20 precincts showed:

U. S. SENATE
Sweeney, Republican 2,017
Neely, Democrat 1,010

CONGRESS
Morgan, Republican 1,964
Staggers, Democrat 1,086

Winning in unopposed races were Clarence E. Martin (Democrat), State Senate; Ward M. Dawson Sr., (Republican), House of Delegates; Gladstone Mechem (Republican), and Lewis W. Butts (Republican), county commissioners, and M. L. Miller (Republican), constable.

Staggers Wins Easily To Gain Fourth Term In US Congress

KEYSER — Democratic incumbent Rep. Harley O. Staggers of Keyser has been returned to Congress for a fourth term from West Virginia's Second District with nearly a 9,500 vote lead over his Republican opponent, Albert W. Morgan of Morgantown.

Returns from the widespread, populous 15-county district are complete except for one in Randolph County. These figures make Staggers the winner by 9,480.

The unofficial tally shows Staggers with 50,059 to Morgan's 40,579.

There was little doubt about the outcome after the first few precincts had been counted and the margin by which Staggers won represents a sizeable gain in popularity since he was successful in his third attempt for re-election in 1952.

In the vote two years ago, Staggers won by 3,852. Tuesday's unofficial result represents a gain over that figure of 5,628. However, the total vote cast in 1952 was higher with Staggers receiving 67,172 to 63,320 for Kermit Mason of Morgantown, the unsuccessful GOP candidate.

Staggers led in 12 of the 15 counties and lost only in Morgan where his opponent received 1,964 to 1,086; in Grant where he lost 2,103 to 642; and in Preston where Morgan had 4,526 to 3,131.

The unofficial tally in the other counties is as follows:

	Staggers	Morgan
Berkeley	4,956	4,257
Jefferson	2,631	1,463
Hampshire	2,151	1,088
Mineral	4,384	3,260
Hardy	1,953	845
Pendleton	1,968	1,208
Barbour	3,909	3,174
Pocahontas	2,256	1,628
Randolph	6,204	3,556
Tucker	2,005	1,333

Democrats Keep Vote Control In Pendleton

FRANKLIN, W. Va. — Traditionally Democratic Pendleton County went down the line in Tuesday's election for the majority party's candidates.

Roughly 60 per cent of those eligible to vote went to the polls yesterday despite the cold, blowing weather.

U. S. Senator Matthew M. Neely and Rep. Harley O. Staggers received substantial margins over their opponents, Tom Sweeney and Albert M. Morgan, respectively.

William McCoy Jr., Franklin, running unopposed for House of Delegates, received 2,065 token votes.

SENATOR
Neely, Democrat 1,880
Sweeney, Republican 1,289

CONGRESS
Staggers, Democrat 1,898
Morgan, Republican 1,208

STATE SENATOR

Garrett County Holds Traditional Republican Position In Balloting

Ryan Loses To Hyde; McKeldin Defeats Byrd; Democrats Challenge Some Local Candidates

OAKLAND—Garrett County, as expected, voted overwhelmingly Republican, in Tuesday's "off-year" election with only two contested offices being close.

When the long all-night struggle of tabulation finally ended at 7:30 a. m. today, Clifford Friend of Accident, former state senator, had won his way back into that office. Friend polled 3,472 votes to 3,105 for Joseph Hinebaugh, a plurality of only 367.

There was only one office-holder who sought re-election against opposition and he won handily. Sheriff Paul Fisher piled up a tremendous advantage over Democrat Lee McRobie, 4,760 to 1,732.

Hyde Wins Handily

Republican DeWitt S. Hyde of Montgomery County polled over 1,000 more votes than Democrat Edward J. Ryan of neighboring Allegany County. Final figures in this contest were 3,725 for Hyde to Ryan's 2,739.

Gov. McKeldin, in sweeping into office for an unprecedented second Republican term, defeated Dr. H. C. Byrd by 1,175 votes in this GOP stronghold.

However, leading the entire ticket in offices with opposition was Harvey D. Swartzentruber who was elected county commissioners from District 3. Swartzentruber was backed by 4,383 voters, with his Democratic foe, Harvey B. Sines, getting only 1,627 votes.

Ellsworth G. Moon was re-elected judge of the Orphans Court, with his Republican running mates, Charles F. Hammond and Roy C. Turney, being newcomers. They were the only three in contention for that office.

All members of the House of Delegates, county commissioner and state senator are new. Neil C. Fraley, the incumbent state senator, did not seek re-election.

State's Attorney Race Close

Elected to the House of Delegates were Jesse J. Ashby, Harry C. Edwards and Kermit S. Glotfelty. They had opposition only from Helen T. Baumgartner, Democrat.

Closest race of the day was waged for state's attorney with Republican Stephen R. Pagenhardt winning by the slim margin of 45 votes over William O. Treacy, Democrat. Final unofficial counts were 3,170 to 3,125.

Approximately 70 per cent of the 9,850 registered voters in 27 precincts cast ballots in the 1954 general election. There are 6,135 Republicans and 3,673 Democrats in Garrett County, along with 38 belonging to miscellaneous parties.

Here is how the voting went in contested offices:

GOVERNOR
McKeldin, Republican ... 3,899
Byrd, Democrat 2,724

CONGRESS
Hyde, Republican 3,725
Ryan, Democrat 2,739

ATTORNEY GENERAL
Rollins, Republican 3,769
Sybert, Democrat 2,366

STATE SENATOR
Friend, Republican 3,472
Hinebaugh, Democrat ... 3,105

HOUSE OF DELEGATES
Edwards, Republican 4,183
Glotfelty, Republican 4,129
Ashby, Republican 3,997
Baumgartner, Democrat . 3,036

STATE'S ATTORNEY
Pagenhardt, Republican . 3,170
Treacy, Democrat 3,125

COUNTY COMMISSIONER (District 1)

COUNTY COMMISSIONER (District 2)
Brenneman, Republican . 3,974
Savage, Democrat 2,186

COUNTY COMMISSIONER (District 3)
Swartzentruber, Republ'n 4,383
Sines, Democrat 1,627

SHERIFF
Fisher, Republican 4,760
McRobie, Democrat 1,732

In the unopposed offices, J. Millard Tawes (Democrat) received 3,465 votes for comptroller; Richard L. Davis (Republican), 4,496 for clerk of Circuit Court; Joseph H. Welch (Republican), 4,103 for county treasurer; Vernie R. Smouse (Republican), 4,306 for register of wills, and judges of Orphans Court (all Republicans), Charles F. Hammond, 3,676; Ellsworth G. Moon, 3,588, and Roy C. Turney, 3,796.

Berkeley Co. Voters Pass School Bonds

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va. —The third time proved a charm during Tuesday's election in the controversial bond issue for the increase of educational facilities in Morgan County.

Twice the issue failed to gain the necessary 60 per cent favoring the plan. On May 29, 1951 a total of 1,036 favored the issue, but the needed majority fell short. In August of the same year, more voted against than for the issue.

Yesterday, however, found an overwhelming 2,238 casting ballots for the issue and only 809 against, a winning percentage of 73.44.

County residents will be taxed over a 15-year period on a bond of $483,000. Of that amount, $195,000 will be used to construct a new high school at Paw Paw. North Berkeley will get an eight-room grade school for $130,000; Berkeley Springs Grade School a $90,000 eight-room addition and $50,000 for a three-room grade school at Greenwood. The other $18,000 will be used in the purchase of land and equipment.

Morgan County, traditionally Republican, voted just that way yesterday, GOP candidates in the Congressional, senatorial and county offices getting substantial pluralities.

Unofficial results from the county's 20 precincts showed:

U. S. SENATE
Sweeney, Republican 2,017
Neely, Democrat 1,010

CONGRESS
Morgan, Republican 1,964
Staggers, Democrat 1,086

Winning in unopposed races were Clarence E. Martin (Democrat), State Senate; Ward M. Dawson Sr., (Republican), House of Delegates; Gladstone Mechem (Republican), and Lewis W. Butts (Republican), county commissioners, and M. L. Miller (Republican), constable.

Staggers Wins Easily To Gain Fourth Term In US Congress

KEYSER — Democratic incumbent Rep. Harley O. Staggers of Keyser has been returned to Congress for a fourth term from West Virginia's Second District with nearly a 9,500 vote lead over his Republican opponent, Albert W. Morgan of Morgantown.

Returns from the widespread, populous 15-county district are complete except for one in Randolph County. These figures make Staggers the winner by 9,480.

The unofficial tally shows Staggers with 50,059 to Morgan's 40,579.

There was little doubt about the outcome after the first few precincts had been counted and the margin by which Staggers won represents a sizeable gain in popularity since he was successful in his third attempt for re-election in 1952.

In the vote two years ago, Staggers won by 3,852. Tuesday's unofficial result represents a gain over that figure of 5,628. However, the total vote cast in 1952 was higher with Staggers receiving 67,172 to 63,320 for Kermit Mason of Morgantown, the unsuccessful GOP candidate.

Staggers led in 12 of the 15 counties and lost only in Morgan where his opponent received 1,964 to 1,086; in Grant where he lost 2,103 to 642; and in Preston where Morgan had 4,526 to 3,131.

The unofficial tally in the other counties is as follows:

	Staggers	Morgan
Berkeley	4,956	4,257
Jefferson	2,631	1,463
Hampshire	2,151	1,088
Mineral	4,384	3,260
Hardy	1,953	845
Pendleton	1,968	1,208

City Of Cincinnati Declares Shooting War On Starlings

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3 (AP) — The city of Cincinnati today declared a shooting war on starlings.

In past maneuvers against the pests, the city used fake owls, phonograph records of a starling's distress screech and roman candles. The hordes of birds were not fooled.

The the city safety director Oris Hamilton, generalissimo in the war against the starlings, ordered shotguns.

He deployed four hunters on each of two buildings about two blocks apart in the heart of downtown Cincinnati. They fired away, killing scores of birds and scaring hundreds from their normal roosting places.

The dead birds were picked up by a man with a gunny sack.

While starlings are the declared enemy, if a pigeon gets in the way, he's considered a foe.

Some bird fanciers protested. A representative of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals earlier said there weren't enough shotgun shells in the city to drive out the birds. But Hamilton said today's tests of the shotgun blasts "sure are busting up the big flocks," and more shoots will be scheduled later.

IS IT FOURTH-BEST?

A CAREFUL card-reader can sometimes tell for sure, if he has a good partner, that the latter's opening lead of a spot card could not possibly be the fourth-best of his suit. Let him pause to figure out exactly what his higher three cards could be. If they would have to include three cards higher than an eight-spot, with some two of them touching, then his partner would have led one of the touching honors instead of a low card. Hence the lead was not from a long suit, but the top of a short one.

	♠ K 5 ♥ J 10 9 4 ♦ A Q J 4 2 ♣ 9 5
♠ Q 10 8 7 3 2 ♥ K 2 ♦ K 9 5 ♣ 7 4	N W E S	♠ 9 4 ♥ A 8 7 6 ♦ 10 8 7 ♣ A J 8 2
	♠ A J 6 ♥ Q 5 3 ♦ 6 3 ♣ K Q 10 6 2

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

Both East and West knew South as a fancy bidder addicted to the practice of bidding a suit in which he had nothing of note, for the purpose of preventing a lead of it. So his opening club call was suspect as soon as they heard him bid No Trumps. West therefore opened the 7 of that suit, which East won with the A.

Sure now that his pair had picked the best defense against South, and reckoning West's lead as a fourth-best, East returned his club 2. South won that with the 10 and then made merry, finessing diamonds, returning with the spade A, scoring three more clubs, finessing diamonds a second time, felling the K with the A, cashing two more diamonds and the spade K to have a total of eleven tricks. That was one more than anyone else took in the duplicate tournament, giving his pair a top North-South score and East-West a bottom score.

East should have paused a bit before deciding the club 7 was a fourth-best. If West had three higher ones, they would have to be the K, Q and 10. In that event, the sound lead from a suit headed by K-Q-10 would have been the K. Hence, East should have determined, West had led the top of nothing in clubs, and South had the others. In that event, he would have returned a heart, two tricks resulting quickly there. That would have given his side three tricks instead of just two, and would have gained a tie with the other pairs against whom only ten tricks were taken.

How should South play for 3-No Trumps if the spade 3 is led to the J?

City Of Cincinnati Declares Shooting War On Starlings

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3 (AP) — The city of Cincinnati today declared a shooting war on starlings.

In past maneuvers against the pests, the city used fake owls, phonograph records of a starling's distress screech and roman candles. The hordes of birds were not fooled.

The city safety director Oris Hamilton, generalissimo in the war against the starlings, ordered shotguns.

He deployed four hunters on each of two buildings about two blocks apart in the heart of downtown Cincinnati. They fired away, killing scores of birds and scaring hundreds from their normal roosting places.

The dead birds were picked up by a man with a gunny sack.

While starlings are the declared enemy, if a pigeon gets in the way, he's considered a foe.

Some bird fanciers protested. A representative of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals earlier said there weren't enough shotgun shells in the city to drive out the birds. But Hamilton said today's tests of the shotgun blasts "sure are busting up the big flocks," and more shoots will be scheduled later.

So his opening club call was suspect as soon as they heard him bid No Trumps. West therefore opened the 7 of that suit, which East won with the A.

Sure now that his pair had picked the best defense against South, and reckoning West's lead as a fourth-best, East returned his club 2. South won that with the 10 and then made merry, finessing diamonds, returning with the spade A, scoring three more clubs, finessing diamonds a second time, felling the K with the A, cashing two more diamonds and the spade K to have a total of eleven tricks. That was one more than anyone else took in the duplicate tournament, giving his pair a top North-South score and East-West a bottom score.

East should have paused a bit before deciding the club 7 was a fourth-best. If West had three higher ones, they would have to be the K, Q and 10. In that event, the sound lead from a suit headed by K-Q-10 would have been the K. Hence, East should have determined, West had led the top of nothing in clubs, and South had the others. In that event, he would have returned a heart, two tricks resulting quickly there. That would have given his side three tricks instead of just two, and would have gained a tie with the other pairs against whom only ten tricks were taken.

How should South play for 3-No Trumps if the spade 3 is led to the J?

Ill. Governor Target Wins Sheriff Battle

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP) — Republican Gov. William G. Stratton lost his fight to defeat Joseph D. Lohman, the Democratic candidate for Cook County (Chicago) sheriff.

Lohman, target of Stratton in the last three weeks of the campaign, along with other Democratic candidates, scored a sweeping victory in yesterday's election.

Stratton criticized Lohman for remarks the governor said Lohman made in 1952 while chairman of the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board. Stratton made public a recording of a speech he said Lohman gave to parole agents in which he said a "disproportionate number of policemen's wives were former prostitutes." Stratton charged Lohman was "unfit for office."

Lohman said the recording had been "doctored," and charged Stratton with "trying to extend his iron-clad downstate control into Cook County, trying to elect a hand-picked sheriff."

With about 700 of the county's 5,328 precincts unreported, Lohman had 890,943 votes to 613,316 for his Republican opponent, William L. Runzel.

Post-Election Buying Spree Sends Stock Prices Ahead

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — The Stock Market launched its greatest buying spree in 15 years today in an election celebration.

Prices shot ahead with the heaviest gains since the start of World War II.

On average they neared the highest levels since the grim October days of the great crash of 1929.

Gains amounted to $1 to nearly $5 a share in many instances in key areas. All major divisions of the market advanced. There were few laggard sections.

Harold L. Bache of Bache & Co.: "Confidence was the market keynote today. The anticipated condemnation of the administration by the electors did not take place. . . The market seems to say that the administration's accomplishments of the past two years will continue to exert their influence in the future to the benefit of the American economy and ultimately to the entire world."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $2.60. That gain tops any single day since Sept. 5, 1939. On that day the average jumped ahead $3.50.

Today the average closed at $137.30, only 10 cents under the 1954 peak which was the highest since Oct. 18, 1929.

The industrial component of the average was up $4.20, the rails were ahead $1.30, and the utilities in an unusually buoyant display of strength added $1.10.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

S P J Z D C J V A L V D P N R' D C B F C D D C-
Z P J D , S L P Q P C F J P C Z N H P W L V J
V J J C W Z D A P C W Z E J P — L P S V R R.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: FOLKS GOT TO TAKING ME FOR HIM, AND EACH FOR ONE ANOTHER — LEIGH.

Valley High To Hold Open House Tuesday

LONACONING — "Open House" will be held on November 9, at Valley High School with room visitation from 7 p. m. until 8 p. m.

The auditorium program features "The Longest Way Round" by ninth and tenth grade pupils and selections by the Valley High band.

A student forum, "Our Schools Today," will be presented by Robert Mundeno, moderator; Edward Ross, "Teaching the Fundamentals Today;" Juanita Deniker, "Effective Citizenship;" Joyce Tharpe, "Teachers of Tomorrow."

The senior choir will sing "Battle Hymn of Republic," Fred Waring arrangement, and the Girls Ensemble will sing "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," by Irving Berlin. "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," an English Folk tune, will be sung by the boys' quartet.

Two Keyser Women Hurt In Car Mishap

KEYSER — Two residents were admitted yesterday to Potomac Valley Hospital there with minor injuries suffered in a highway accident on the Laureldale Road near the Mineral-Grant County line.

Mrs. Freda Paugh, 45, of 86 Third Street, was a passenger in a car operated by her sister, Mrs. Otis Johnson, 54, of 90 Third Street, when it skidded on an icy spot on the highway and crashed into an embankment. Both women suffered facial lacerations and injuries.

Presbyterian Women Elect At Davis

Ill. Governor Target Wins Sheriff Battle

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP) — Republican Gov. William G. Stratton lost his fight to defeat Joseph D. Lohman, the Democratic candidate for Cook County (Chicago) sheriff.

Lohman, target of Stratton in the last three weeks of the campaign, along with other Democratic candidates, scored a sweeping victory in yesterday's election.

Stratton criticized Lohman for remarks the governor said Lohman made in 1952 while chairman of the Illinois Pardon and Parole Board. Stratton made public a recording of a speech he said Lohman gave to parole agents in which he said a "disproportionate number of policemen's wives were former prostitutes." Stratton charged Lohman was "unfit for office."

Lohman said the recording had been "doctored," and charged Stratton with "trying to extend his iron-clad downstate control into Cook County, trying to elect a hand-picked sheriff."

Fort Ashby Church Services Underway

FORT ASHBY, W. V.—Spiritual Emphasis Week is being observed at the Presbyterian Church with Rev. Robert D. Goshorn, pastor as speaker.

The evening services are being held through Friday at 7:30 o'clock. Tonight's topic will be "Maybe" or "The Undecided;" and Friday, Power or "The Holy Spirit." Rev. Goshorn is a graduate of Union Theological Seminary in Virginia.

VFW Auxiliary Plan Activities

FROSTBURG—The John R. Fairgrieve Ladies Auxiliary to Post 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met recently at the post home with Mrs. Bettie Lloyd, president, presiding.

A donation was made to the Department for a Christmas treat for the veterans hospital. Following the meeting a birthday party was held in observance of all members whose birthdays were in October. A prize was won by Betty Whetstone. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, November 10.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — The Stock Market launched its greatest buying spree in 15 years today in an election celebration.

Prices shot ahead with the heaviest gains since the start of World War II.

Gains amounted to $1 to nearly $5 a share in many instances in key areas. All major divisions of the market advanced. There were few laggard sections.

Harold L. Bache of Bache & Co.: "Confidence was the market keynote today. The anticipated condemnation of the administration by the electors did not take place. . . The market seems to say that the administration's accomplishments of the past two years will continue to exert their influence in the future to the benefit of the American economy and ultimately to the entire world."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $2.60. That gain tops any single day since Sept. 5, 1939. On that day the average jumped ahead $3.50.

Today the average closed at $137.30, only 10 cents under the 1954 peak which was the highest since Oct. 18, 1929.

The industrial component of the average was up $4.20, the rails were ahead $1.30, and the utilities in an unusually buoyant display of strength added $1.10.

Volume came to 2,700,000 shares as compared with 1,790,000 shares traded Monday.

Rt. 40 Traffic Is Snarled By Snow, High Wind

Storm Reported Bad West Of Frostburg

Highway travel was snarled yesterday afternoon several times along U. S. Route 40 west of Frostburg, as tractor-trailers and automobiles "hung up" due to blizzard-like winter weather which brought high winds and five inches of snow.

Continued cold weather was forecast for last night, with a few snow flurries in the higher mountain areas. Fair and milder temperatures are expected this afternoon.

Visibility for traffic was poor in the area of Big and Little Savage mountains and on roads in the Grantsville and Finzel areas of Garrett County.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said cindering crews were called into action to make the highways passable.

Winds Are Strong

Added tons of salt were moved to the section as the first real taste of winter weather struck. Chaires said the winds were so strong yesterday afternoon that cinders were being blown off the highway in some areas.

Heavy tractor-trailers going west to Uniontown "hung up" on the highway, causing several snarls and tie-ups. State Police said traffic on Little Savage was halted for about an hour and a half around 1 p. m. yesterday.

The heavy winds swirled the snow about the area and at 4 p. m. conditions along the highway from Frostburg and Guntertown were bad. Cindering crews remained on the job yesterday evening to cope with the weatherman's blizzardy blast.

At Frostburg yesterday morning motorists had trouble getting around the streets of that city. Heavy winds coupled with some four inches of snow caused traffic to move along at a slow pace.

Temperatures in that city were well below freezing yesterday morning.

The brunt of the storm was felt in Frostburg and west through the Garrett County area, Chaires added. He said Oakland was not hit quite so hard, although at least an inch of snow had fallen there.

Route 40 east of here was reported clear last night by State Police. In Cumberland yesterday rather high winds hit during the early part of the day. Later in the afternoon a mixture of rain and snow fell and was whipped around by the winds.

Snow In Pennsylvania

The unofficial downtown temperature here yesterday about 6 a. m. was 34 degrees and the mercury slowly rose to about 44 degrees during the afternoon.

The mountain areas of nearby Pennsylvania had their share of snow. Seven inches was reported at Deal and three inches at Rockwood. Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said the Turnpike from Allegheny Mountain to Laurel Tunnel was covered with snow and was slippery in spots.

Plows and cindering crews were called out to clear the Turnpike. Police said other mountain roads of Pennsylvania had snow although it was reported raining in the Bedford area yesterday afternoon.

West Virginia State Police at Romney reported yesterday evening that U. S. Route 50 east and west of there was clear.

The official high temperature in Cumberland yesterday was 42 degrees, the low reading was 29 degrees and at 8 p. m. the mercury stood at 39. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 62 per cent and precipitation amounted to .02 inches of melted snow.

Weather Data Instrument Is Retrieved Here

A radiosonde, an instrument used for the purpose of obtaining weather information from altitudes as high as 14 miles, floated down to earth yesterday in the vicinity of Campobello and was retrieved by two city firemen, Raymond Leidinger and Arthur Nave.

The instrument was released by the Army Signal Corps at Pittsburgh on October 3 and as the balloon on which it was suspended in the air broke, the gadget parachuted to the earth.

Instructions on a tag notified the person who recovered it to return it to the commanding officer of the Lexington Signal Depot, Lexington, Ky., as parts of the mechanism can be reused. A resident of the area where the radiosonde was spotted telephoned police, who in turn notified firemen. They took it to postal authorities.

County Farm Bureau Will Hear Dean

Plans are complete for the 17th annual meeting of the Allegany County Farm Bureau at 8 o'clock tonight at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Dr. Gordon M. Caines, dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Both the Farm Bureau and the Associated Women will elect officers. Floyd Buser is president of the Farm Bureau and Miss Ruth Clauson heads the Associated Women.

School Census Time Again

Today and tomorrow afternoon all Allegany County public school teachers will be busy visiting homes around the county in their house-to-house canvass of children of pre-school and post-school age. In the picture Miss Nan Livingston, Fourth Grade teacher at West Side School, is shown talking with three-year-old Tommy Carscaden, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Arthur Carscaden, 211 South Allegany Street. She obtained information about Tommy from his mother so that school authorities will be assisted in preparing for future school needs.

Parents Requested To Aid Teachers In School Census

Full cooperation on the part of parents was requested by Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in Allegany County public schools, as teachers throughout the county prepared to start their house-to-house census to compile information for future school needs.

All high schools will be dismissed at 12:30 p. m. today and tomorrow, and the elementary schools will close at 12:45 p. m. both days. The canvass will be conducted from 1 until 5 p. m. each day.

Higgins appealed especially for information about handicapped children so that school officials might take the necessary measures to remedy the situation if possible. Concerning handicapped children, the teachers want detailed information about the handicap as well as doctor's diagnosis and prognosis.

The house-to-house census is being undertaken to get information on pre-school and post-school children in families in which no one is in school. Information about all other children has been compiled at schools throughout the county.

Information desired by the inquiring teachers include full name of the child, name of parents or legal guardian, home address, birthday of child, sex and race, whether handicapped, employed or married.

From information furnished the teachers will be able to determine the school to which pre-school children should go, the school number, school election district and home election district.

Local Man's Mother Shot In Pittsburgh

Edward "Bunnie" Smith, 116 South Lee Street, has gone to Pittsburgh to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Harris, 65, who was shot and killed there by a 52-year-old tenant at her home Monday.

Smith was notified of the fatal shooting and left immediately for Pittsburgh. He has been employed for a number of years at Medical Arts Pharmacy here and has been a lifelong resident of Cumberland. His mother formerly lived here. After her husband died, she moved to Pittsburgh and remarried.

According to Pittsburgh police, Mrs. Harris was shot by a roomer identified as Major James, 52. The shooting followed an argument in Mrs. Harris' home in Pittsburgh's Hill District, after James reportedly had spent most of the day in his room drinking.

Police said James shot Mrs. Harris with a revolver in the kitchen of the residence and she stumbled to a fire escape before collapsing.

Jaycee Dance Profits Will Aid Needy Youth

Profits from the Winter Frolic dance which the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will stage at the Clary Club Friday, December 3, will be used for the purchase of clothing for needy children at Christmas time.

That decision was made at the Jaycees' meeting last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

George L. Carney Jr., Jaycee president, reported that the organization collected $27.42 at the LaSalle-Allegany football game last Friday night for the Olympic Fund Drive. Another solicitation will be made at the Fort Hill-Allegany game on Thanksgiving Day.

Principal speaker last night was Myer (K. O.) Christner, who discussed amusing incidents in his sports career.

George Eskin Wins Honors Among Fort Hill Senior Boys

Members of the Senior Class of Fort Hill High School have selected George Eskin, their president, as "The Senior Boy Most Likely To Succeed." He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert C. Eskin, 1905 Bedford Street.

The class held the election, in which all Senior boys were candidates, in cooperation with Thom McAn and Scholastic Roto companies. These companies are sponsoring, for the second year, the Thom McAn Success Award which consist of scholarships and defense bonds.

Having won the school election, based on academic standing, extra-curricular activities, leadership, and student respect, Eskin will submit a 300-word paper on "My Plans For The Future." He will also submit his scholastic records.

He is sports editor of the school paper, a member of the Hi-Y, is a student council member, is active in dramatics and is a member of the National Honor Society.

The winner of the national contest will get a $1,000 scholarship to the college or university of his choice. He will also receive a one week, all-expense trip to Washington and New York City. If no higher education is planned, a $500 defense bond will be awarded in place of the scholarship.

Preliminary eliminations will be done by graduate students at a leading teachers' college. The 12 best entries will be selected and these will be submitted to a board of judges for final rating of the national winners.

The judges will be five prominent people in the fields of education,, religion, government, welfare, and business.

Holdup Suspect Will Be Given Hearing Today

Thomas Linn Held In County Lockup

A 22-year-old man who allegedly slugged a local grocery store operator and took $25, is being held in Allegany County Jail on an armed robbery count and will be given a preliminary hearing today in Trial Magistrate's Court.

Thomas Linn, of Central YMCA, was arrested by City Police early yesterday morning and was later questioned at the State's Attorney's office. Authorities said a .32 caliber German automatic pistol, reportedly used in the holdup, was stolen property.

Detective Donald H. Smith, of the City Police Department, said Linn signed a statement admitting he had staged the holdup about 1:50 a. m. at the Liberty Fruit Exchange, 108 Park Street, and injured the owner, Edward Meconi, about 50, of 449 Walnut Street.

Police pieced together this story:

Linn visited the store between Union and Harrison streets shortly after 12:30 a. m. yesterday but "got nervous and couldn't do it (the holdup)."

The suspect went back to the "Y" but decided he "had to have some money to get out of town." Linn returned to the store and told Meconi to lock the door and turn off the lights. He reportedly had his hand on the gun in the right pocket of an overcoat.

Meanwhile, a woman in the neighborhood noticed "a strange man acting in a suspicious manner" and called police after lights in the store went out. She reasoned that it was too early for Meconi to close the store.

Thinking the grocer was going to put up a fight, Linn ordered him to turn around. Then he struck Meconi, but the blow failed to knock 'him down.

Ohioan Is Held For Grand Jury Action On Bad Checks Count

Joseph R. McGreevy, 46, of Cleveland, Ohio, is in Allegany County Jail in default of $1,000 bond set Saturday when he waived a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court on false pretense charges in the cashing of six allegedly fraudulent checks totaling $180.

Authorities said he is being held for action of the January term of the Grand Jury. He was arrested Thursday in Hagerstown by Cumberland Police Detective Donald H. Smith and Officer George E. Pfeiffer. McGreevy reportedly admitted that he had passed six checks totaling $180 on a non-existent institution, the National Bank of Detroit.

Home Accidents Hospitalize Two

Three persons, two of them children, were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday in unrelated home and school accidents.

Mrs. Margaret Lee, 66, of 317 Columbia Street, dislocated her right shoulder about noon when she tripped over an electric iron cord at her home. She was admitted for X-rays.

George Rose, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Rose, RFD 4, Oldtown Road, sustained a laceration of the middle finger of his right hand when he was cut with a butcher knife while playing at home with his sister. He was admitted about 10:30 a. m.

Constance DeArcangelis, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine DeArcangelis, 244 North Centre Street, came to the hospital about 4:10 p. m. complaining about an injured leg which she hurt when another girl fell on her in a school yard. She did not say which school it was. She was admitted pending X-rays.

Republicans Win All County Posts In Tuesday Vote

Wilkinson, Hughes Only New Faces

All 19 Allegany County offices that were at stake in Tuesday's general election will continue to be held by Republicans for the coming four years, although two of the individuals will be different.

One of the changes will be in the Board of County Commissioners where C. N. (Jerry) Wilkinson will move back into the seat he lost in the 1950 primary election. He was high man in the five-man race for the three seats, leading two incumbents, James Orr and William H. Lemmert. James Holmes, the third commissioner now, will bow out because of his defeat in the Republican primary.

Hughes Elected

The other change will be in the six-man county delegation in the House of Delegates. George R. Hughes Jr. finished sixth in the eight-man contest. He takes the place vacated by Horace P. Whitworth Jr., who did not seek re-election. Instead he decided to run for State's Attorney and was defeated in the GOP primary.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin and Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins both also carried Allegany County but the Governor's margin here was a far cry from his success of four years ago when he unseated William Preston Lane Jr. Tuesday McKeldin led Harry C. Byrd by only 1,166 votes, 14,072 to 12,906. In 1950 McKeldin tallied 19,509 votes in this county to Lane's 8,458, a lead of 11,051.

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors will canvass the county vote today to make the results official. They are so decisive that it seems certain only relatively small changes will be made in the official totals.

See Tops Ticket

High vote-getter on the ticket was Charles M. See, who easily won another term in the House of Delegates with 17,852 votes.

Some 27,927 county voters counted as having voted, the turnout represented 68.3 per cent of the 40,876 registered.

The complete but unofficial county totals:

Blind Legislators Lead Tickets In Two Md. Counties

Charles M. See, Republican, who has served as chairman of the Allegany County Delegation for many years, was high man in the balloting here with a total of 17,850 votes on the basis of complete unofficial returns.

In Frederick County, Clifton Virts, Democrat, was re-elected for a third term. With more than 10,000 votes cast for him, he was high man on the ballot in that county.

During sessions of the Legislature, Delegate See's wife, Mrs. Margielea See, serves as reader for both her husband and Delegate Virts.

Equity Suit Filed

Officials To Meet

Football officials association will hold a meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Central YMCA.

Allegany, Montgomery Have Played Key Roles In Congressional Races

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Attention on the roles that Allegany and Montgomery counties have played in Western Maryland's representation in the U. S. House of Representatives was focused by the battle for the Sixth District seat raged between Republican DeWitt S. Hyde of Bethesda and his Democratic opponent, Edward J. Ryan of Frostburg.

Hyde defeated Ryan in Tuesday's election, 69,552 to 65,748 votes, a margin of 3,804 ballots.

The Congressional seat is now held by a Montgomery County man but historically Allegany County has represented Western Maryland longer in Congress than any of the other four counties in the far-flung district.

Hyde, elected for his first term in 1952, is the 10th man from Montgomery County to serve in Congress. His nine predecessors served a total of only 32 years. The most recent was John McDonald, a Republican from Rockville, who served only one term, ending March 3, 1899.

In the 54 years between the time McDonald stepped down and Hyde stepped up, Allegany countians sat in Congress 50 years. Only William D. Byron, Williamsport Democrat, elected in 1938, and his widow, Katharine E. Byron, named for one term in 1940, broke Allegany County's stranglehold on the Congressional seat.

Only One Democrat

However, only one of the four Allegany countians who sat in Congress between 1899 and 1953 was a Democrat like Ryan. He was David J. Lewis, Cumberland Democrat, who served in terms starting in 1911, 1913 and 1915, and then returned for four more terms beginning in 1931.

George A. Pearre, a Republican from this city, was in Congress six successive terms, beginning in 1899. The next GOP Congressman from this county was Frederick N. Zihlman, also of this city, who filled the office for seven terms between Lewis' two eras in Congress.

Last of the Allegany County Congressmen was J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg, who moved up into the U. S. Senate from the House in 1953 after five terms in the lower House.

The Biographical Directory of the American Congress, available for reference at the Cumberland Free Public Library, reveals that Allegany County's first Congressman, like both Beall and Ryan, was from Frostburg. He was Michael Cresap Sprigg, a descendant of the famed Thomas Cresap and a Democrat, who served two terms, starting in 1827 and 1829.

Sprigg Was First

Sprigg was the first of six Democrats from Allegany County elected to Congress. They served a total of 15 terms. The five Republicans elected from Allegany County held the seat a total of 20 terms. Henry W. Hoffman of Cumberland served in Congress one term beginning in 1855 under the American Party label. All told, then, Allegany countians have served 7? years in Congress.

Although Hyde is the first Montgomery countian in Congress in the 20th Century, a number served in the early years of the Republic. The first was Benjamin Edwards, who served one term starting in 1793. The Biographical Directory lists no political affiliation for him. He was followed in the next term by Jeremiah Crabb, a Rockville Democrat.

Other Montgomery countians who served in Congress:

Philip B. Key, Rockville Federalist, terms starting in 1807, 1809 and 1811; Alexander C. Hanson, another Rockville Federalist, 1813 and 1815; George Peter, a Darnestown Democrat, 1815, 1817 and 1825; George C. Washington, Rockville Whig, 1827, 1829 and 1831; Richard J. Bowie, Rockville Whig, 1849 and 1851; John McDonald, Rockville Republican, 1897, and DeWitt S. Hyde, Bethesda Republican, 1953.

County Congressmen Listed

Allegany County's Congressmen: Michael Cresap Sprigg, Frostburg Democrat, 1827 and 1829; Thomas J. Perry, Cumberland Democrat, 1845; Henry W. Hoffman, Cumberland American Party member, 1855; Patrick Hamill, Oakland Democrat, 1869; Lloyd Lowndes Jr., Cumberland Republican, 1873; William Walsh, Cumberland Democrat, 1875 and 1877; William M. McKaig, Cumberland Democrat, 1891 and 1893.

Also George L. Wellington, Cumberland Republican, 1895; George A. Pearre, Cumberland Republican, 1899, 1901, 1903, 1905, 1907 and 1909; David J. Lewis, Cumberland Democrat, 1911, 1913, 1915, 1931, 1933, 1935 and 1937; Frederick N. Zihlman, Cumberland Republican, 1917, 1919, 1921, 1923, 1925, 1927 and 1929; J. Glenn Beall, Frostburg Republican, 1943, 1945, 1947, 1949 and 1951.

Hamill is listed as an Allegany countian because Garrett County was not formed from the western part of this county until 1872.

Sen. Kimble Will Attend Meetings

Senator Robert B. Kimble, who was re-elected to that office in Tuesday's election, will be kept busy for the next few weeks attending a series of meetings of the Legislative Council in Baltimore.

This Saturday he will attend a subcommittee meeting of the Council since he is chairman of a committee to propose the establishment of a Department of Safety in Maryland.

Senator Kimble is also chairman of another subcommittee, one to study the mandatory appropriations items in the state budget. He will go to Baltimore again next Tuesday for a week-long series of meetings and will wind up his activities with the Legislative Council the following week, November 15 through 20.

During these meetings an investigation of the conditions of the state, proposed legislative studies and legislation to be introduced in the next session of the General Assembly are compiled and reports are submitted to the legislators.

As required by law, these reports must be in the hands of the legislators 30 days prior to the opening of the first session and the deadline this year is December 3.

This will enable the legislators to have 30 days in which to study the proposed legislation and report of the Council.

Senator Kimble has served on this committee for 14 years.

Savage River Dam Prevented Bad Flood Here

Report Shows Record Rain And River Flow

The Savage River Dam is credited in the monthly report of the local Geological Survey office on Meterological and Runoff Conditions, as having been a major factor in controlling flood waters in the Potomac River on October 16, when many areas were inundated.

Operation of the Savage River Reservoir gates, the report indicates, delayed and decreased the peak flow from the river basin. Peak flow downstream from Luke through this area was undoubtedly reduced by the reservoir's huge storage capacity, the report says.

At Kitzmiller, the flood exceeded the 1936 flood, but was lower there than the 1924 flood. At Bloomington, above the mouth of the Savage River, this flow exceeded both the 1924 and the 1936 floodwaters.

The daily flow of the river in October varied from a low of 144 million gallons daily on October 2, to 20,600 million gallons per day on October 16. During the entire month the flow of the North Branch was 1,483 million gallons per day, average. This is 414 per cent of the 25-year October daily average.

During those 25 years, the October means of 1937 and 1942 only exceeded this one.

During the two-day flood period last month, the report outlines, the river here was above normal flood stage (17 feet) from 11 p. m. on October 15 until 4 p. m. on October 16.

Flood conduits, paving of Wills Creek and removal of the old C&O Canal dam in the river, were all contributing factors toward keeping Wills Creek and the Potomac River mostly within their banks. Run-off in the creek was far more rapid than had ever been noted before.

The total precipitation at Cumberland, as reported by the Weather Bureau, was 6.15 inches, 3.62 inches above the October average. The average daily temperature was 56.5 degrees, which was 1.9 degrees above normal.

Divorce Granted

A divorce has been granted in Allegany County Circuit Court to Elizabeth Watkins from James E. Watkins. She was given the right to resume use of her maiden name of Elizabeth Ann Rank.

Hyde Re-Elected As Congressman By Slim Margin

Ryan Gets Big Vote In Allegany

Unpredictable Sixth Congressional District voters, who refuse to follow political labels, have approved Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Bethesda Republican, for a second two-year term in Congress after a most spirited contest with Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg Democrat.

With all of the 296 precincts in the five counties tabulated, Hyde had 69,552 to Ryan's 65,748, a margin of 3,804 votes.

Two years ago when Hyde gained his first term in Congress, he led Mrs. Stella B. Werner, a fellow Montgomery countian, by 25,553 votes, 94,603 to 69,050.

Ryan carried Allegany County, his home county, by 3,244 votes despite the fact that Allegany has a Republican registration margin of 5,605 votes. In other words, only 42.8 per cent of the county's voters are Democrats and Ryan got 56.1 per cent.

Hyde in turn carried his home county, Montgomery, where the Democrats had a book majority of 18,085. However his 2,991 margin was less than Ryan's in Allegany despite a heavier Montgomery County total.

That left the decision ultimately up to the three other counties in the district. All three of them went for Hyde, despite the fact that both Washington and Frederick counties have sizeable Democratic majorities.

The Allegany County attorney also lost neighboring Garrett County but the margin there was not nearly so great as that county's normal Republican edge. Ryan trailed in Garrett County by 1,023 votes but the GOP has a book majority there of 2,462.

The unofficial tally:

County	Hyde	Ryan
Allegany	11,697	14,941
Frederick	9,917	8,094
Garrett	3,752	2,739
Montgomery	32,146	29,157
Washington	12,040	10,817
Totals	69,552	65,748

Case Settled At Jury Trial

Atwo-day jury trial which began in Allegany County Circuit Court the day before the election ended yesterday with an out-of-court settlement after all of the evidence had been heard, Associate Judge George Henderson had given the instructions to the jury and the seven participating attorneys were about ready for their closing argument.

The trial involved three damage suits aggregating $45,000 which had been removed here from Washington County.

Bertram R. Brown, Smithsburg, sued Soliday Oil Company, Inc., of Hagerstown and Ralph D. Mowen, also of Hagerstown for $20,000. Wilbur Bloom and Blanche R. Bloom, his wife, sued the company, Mowen and Brown for $20,000, and Mr. and Mrs. Bloom, parents and next friends, sued the three for $5,000 for Harold W. Bloom, a minor.

The three suits developed from an automobile accident January 20, when a car driven by Brown collided with an oil truck owned by the company and driven by Mowen as the truck was parked along the road between Smithsburg and Cavetown in Washington County.

No statement was offered in court as to the amount of the settlement.

Dairy Technology Conference Set

County Agent Joseph M. Steger yesterday said he expects a number of Allegany County dairymen to attend the 10th annual Dairy Technology Conference at the University of Maryland November 9-12.

This is a conference for milk plant operators and employes, for milk inspectors and sanitarians and for dairy fieldmen. Programs will be held in the agricultural auditorium of Symons Hall at College Park.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon K. Fuller announce the birth of a son Saturday in a Hagerstown hospital. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Fuller, 420 Beall Street. The mother is the former Miss Madeline Guthrie of Morgantown, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Pierce III announce the birth of a son Monday at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John L. Pierce II, 42 Virginia Avenue. The mother is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Schade, 510 Marshall Street.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Robertson, 108 Mullin Street, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Deffinbaugh, Baltimore Pike, a daughter Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klink, RD 1, Mt. Savage, a son Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wageley, 106 West Second Street, a son Tuesday.

Former Resident Is Elected To California State Senate

One Allegany County Democrat was elected to office Tuesday.

He is James A. Cobey, son of Mrs. J. C. Cobey of Frostburg and a younger brother of W. Earle Cobey, local attorney and former city solicitor here.

James Cobey, a native of this county, who has been practicing law in Merced, Calif., for a number of years, was elected to the California State Senate from a two-county district in San Joaquin Valley. As the Democratic nominee he was elected by a vote ratio of 16 to 11. Except in San Joaquin Valley section, the rest of downstate California went Republican. Democrats in all parts of the state hailed Cobey's victory and took note of it.

The former resident, like his local brother, is a Navy veteran of World War II. He is married to a former Chicago resident and they have three children. Cobey went to California to practice law prior to World War II.

Rt. 40 Traffic Is Snarled By Snow, High Wind

Storm Reported Bad West Of Frostburg

Highway travel was snarled yesterday afternoon several times along U. S. Route 40 west of Frostburg, as tractor-trailers and automobiles "hung up" due to blizzard-like winter weather which brought high winds and five inches of snow.

Continued cold weather was forecast for last night, with a few snow flurries in the higher mountain areas. Fair and milder temperatures are expected this afternoon.

Visibility for traffic was poor in the area of Big and Little Savage mountains and on roads in the Grantsville and Finzel areas of Garrett County.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, said cindering crews were called into action to make the highways passable.

Winds Are Strong

Added tons of salt were moved to the section as the first real taste of winter weather struck. Chaires said the winds were so strong yesterday afternoon that cinders were being blown off the highway in some areas.

Heavy tractor-trailers going west to Uniontown "hung up" on the highway, causing several snarls and tie-ups. State Police said traffic on Little Savage was halted for about an hour and a half around 1 p. m. yesterday.

The heavy winds swirled the snow about the area and at 4 p. m. conditions along the highway from Frostburg and Guntertown were bad. Cindering crews remained on the job yesterday evening to cope with the weatherman's blizzardy blast.

At Frostburg yesterday morning motorists had trouble getting around the streets of that city. Heavy winds coupled with some four inches of snow caused traffic to move along at a slow pace.

Temperatures in that city were well below freezing yesterday morning.

The brunt of the storm was felt in Frostburg and west through the Garrett County area, Chaires added. He said Oakland was not hit quite so hard, although at least an inch of snow had fallen there.

Route 40 east of here was reported clear last night by State Police. In Cumberland yesterday rather high winds hit during the early part of the day. Later in the afternoon a mixture of rain and snow fell and was whipped around by the winds.

Snow In Pennsylvania

The unofficial downtown temperature here yesterday about 6 a. m. was 34 degrees and the mercury slowly rose to about 44 degrees during the afternoon.

The mountain areas of nearby Pennsylvania had their share of snow. Seven inches was reported at Deal and three inches at Rockwood. Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said the Turnpike from Allegheny Mountain to Laurel Tunnel was covered with snow and was slippery in spots.

Plows and cindering crews were called out to clear the Turnpike. Police said other mountain roads of Pennsylvania had snow although it was reported raining in the Bedford area yesterday afternoon.

West Virginia State Police at Romney reported yesterday evening that U. S. Route 50 east and west of there was clear.

The official high temperature in Cumberland yesterday was 42 degrees, the low reading was 29 degrees and at 8 p. m. the mercury stood at 39. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 62 per cent and precipitation amounted to .02 inches of melted snow.

Weather Data Instrument Is Retrieved Here

A radiosonde, an instrument used for the purpose of obtaining weather information from altitudes as high as 14 miles, floated down to earth yesterday in the vicinity of Campobello and was retrieved by two city firemen, Raymond Leidinger and Arthur Nave.

The instrument was released by the Army Signal Corps at Pittsburgh on October 3 and as the balloon on which it was suspended in the air broke, the gadget parachuted to the earth.

Instructions on a tag notified the person who recovered it to return it to the commanding officer of the Lexington Signal Depot, Lexington, Ky., as parts of the mechanism can be reused. A resident of the area where the radiosonde was spotted telephoned police, who in turn notified firemen. They took it to postal authorities.

County Farm Bureau Will Hear Dean

Plans are complete for the 17th annual meeting of the Allegany County Farm Bureau at 8 o'clock tonight at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Dr. Gordon M. Caines, dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Both the Farm Bureau and the Associated Women will elect officers. Floyd Buser is president of the Farm Bureau and Miss Ruth Clauson heads the Associated Women.

School Census Time Again

Today and tomorrow afternoon all Allegany County public school teachers will be busy visiting homes around the county in their house-to-house canvass of children of pre-school and post-school age. In the picture Miss Nan Livingston, Fourth Grade teacher at West Side School, is shown talking with three-year-old Tommy Carscaden, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Arthur Carscaden, 211 South Allegany Street. She obtained information about Tommy from his mother so that school authorities will be assisted in preparing for future school needs.

Parents Requested To Aid Teachers In School Census

Full cooperation on the part of parents was requested by Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in Allegany County public schools, as teachers throughout the county prepared to start their house-to-house census to compile information for future school needs.

All high schools will be dismissed at 12:30 p. m. today and tomorrow, and the elementary schools will close at 12:45 p. m. both days. The canvass will be conducted from 1 until 5 p. m. each day.

Higgins appealed especially for information about handicapped children so that school officials might take the necessary measures to remedy the situation if possible. Concerning handicapped children, the teachers want detailed information about the handicap as well as doctor's diagnosis and prognosis.

The house-to-house census is being undertaken to get information on pre-school and post-school children in families in which no one is in school. Information about all other children has been compiled at schools throughout the county.

Information desired by the inquiring teachers include full name of the child, name of parents or legal guardian, home address, birthday of child, sex and race, whether handicapped, employed or married.

From information furnished the teachers will be able to determine the school to which pre-school children should go, the school number, school election district and home election district.

Local Man's Mother Shot In Pittsburgh

Edward "Bunnie" Smith, 116 South Lee Street, has gone to Pittsburgh to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Harris, 65, who was shot and killed there by a 52-year-old tenant at her home Monday.

Smith was notified of the fatal shooting and left immediately for Pittsburgh. He has been employed for a number of years at Medical Arts Pharmacy here and has been a lifelong resident of Cumberland. His mother formerly lived here. After her husband died, she moved to Pittsburgh and remarried.

According to Pittsburgh police, Mrs. Harris was shot by a roomer identified as Major James, 52. The shooting followed an argument in Mrs. Harris' home in Pittsburgh's Hill District, after James reportedly had spent most of the day in his room drinking.

Police said James shot Mrs. Harris with a revolver in the kitchen of the residence and she stumbled to a fire escape before collapsing.

Jaycee Dance Profits Will Aid Needy Youth

Profits from the Winter Frolic dance which the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will stage at the Clary Club Friday, December 3, will be used for the purchase of clothing for needy children at Christmas time.

That decision was made at the Jaycees' meeting last night at Ali Ghan Country Club.

George L. Carney Jr., Jaycee president, reported that the organization collected $27.42 at the La-Salle-Allegany football game last Friday night for the Olympic Fund Drive. Another solicitation will be made at the Fort Hill-Allegany game on Thanksgiving Day.

Principal speaker last night was Myer (K. O.) Christner, who discussed amusing incidents in his sports career.

George Eskin Wins Honors Among Fort Hill Senior Boys

Members of the Senior Class of Fort Hill High School have selected George Eskin, their president, as "The Senior Boy Most Likely To Succeed." He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert C. Eskin, 1905 Bedford Street.

The class held the election, in which all Senior boys were candidates, in cooperation with Thom McAn and Scholastic Roto companies. These companies are sponsoring, for the second year, the Thom McAn Success Award which consist of scholarships and defense bonds.

Having won the school election, based on academic standing, extra-curricular activities, leadership, and student respect, Eskin will submit a 300-word paper on "My Plans For The Future." He will also submit his scholastic records.

He is sports editor of the school paper, a member of the Hi-Y, is a student council member, is active in dramatics and is a member of the National Honor Society.

The winner of the national contest will get a $1,000 scholarship to the college or university of his choice. He will also receive a one week, all-expense trip to Washington and New York City. If no higher education is planned, a $500 defense bond will be awarded in place of the scholarship.

Preliminary eliminations will be done by graduate students at a leading teachers' college. The 12 best entries will be selected and these will be submitted to a board of judges for final rating of the national winners.

The judges will be five prominent people in the fields of education,, religion, government, welfare, and business.

Holdup Suspect Will Be Given Hearing Today

Thomas Linn Held In County Lockup

A 22-year-old man who allegedly slugged a local grocery store operator and took $25, is being held in Allegany County Jail on an armed robbery count and will be given a preliminary hearing today in Trial Magistrate's Court.

Thomas Linn, of Central YMCA, was arrested by City Police early yesterday morning and was later questioned at the State's Attorney's office. Authorities said a .32 caliber German automatic pistol, reportedly used in the holdup, was stolen property.

Detective Donald H. Smith, of the City Police Department, said Linn signed a statement admitting he had staged the holdup about 1:50 a. m. at the Liberty Fruit Exchange, 108 Park Street, and injured the owner, Edward Meconi, about 50, of 449 Walnut Street.

Meconi was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital for a gash on the right side of the head. He was hit with the pistol.

Police pieced together this story:

Linn visited the store between Union and Harrison streets shortly after 12:30 a. m. yesterday but "got nervous and couldn't do it (the holdup)."

The suspect went back to the "Y" but decided he "had to have some money to get out of town." Linn returned to the store and told Meconi to lock the door and turn off the lights. He reportedly had his hand on the gun in the right pocket of an overcoat.

Meanwhile, a woman in the neighborhood noticed "a strange man acting in a suspicious manner" and called police after lights in the store went out. She reasoned that it was too early for Meconi to close the store.

Thinking the grocer was going to put up a fight, Linn ordered him to turn around. Then he struck Meconi, but the blow failed to knock 'him down.

Ohioan Is Held For Grand Jury Action On Bad Checks Count

Joseph R. McGreevy, 46, of Cleveland, Ohio, is in Allegany County Jail in default of $1,000 bond set Saturday when he waived a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court on false pretense charges in the cashing of six allegedly fraudulent checks totaling $180.

Authorities said he is being held for action of the January term of the Grand Jury. He was arrested Thursday in Hagerstown by Cumberland Police Detective Donald H. Smith and Officer George E. Pfeiffer. McGreevy reportedly admitted that he had passed six checks totaling $180 on a non-existent institution, the National Bank of Detroit.

Home Accidents Hospitalize Two

Three persons, two of them children, were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday in unrelated home and school accidents.

Mrs. Margaret Lee, 66, of 317 Columbia Street, dislocated her right shoulder about noon when she tripped over an electric iron cord at her home. She was admitted for X-rays.

George Rose, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Rose, RFD 4, Oldtown Road, sustained a laceration of the middle finger of his right hand when he was cut with a butcher knife while playing at home with his sister. He was admitted about 10:30 a. m.

Constance DeArcangelis, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine DeArcangelis, 244 North Centre Street, came to the hospital about 4:10 p. m. complaining about an injured leg which she hurt when another girl fell on her in a school yard. She did not say which school it was. She was admitted pending X-rays.

Republicans Win All County Posts In Tuesday Vote

Wilkinson, Hughes Only New Faces

All 19 Allegany County offices that were at stake in Tuesday's general election will continue to be held by Republicans for the coming four years, although two of the individuals will be different.

One of the changes will be in the Board of County Commissioners where C. N. (Jerry) Wilkinson will move back into the seat he lost in the 1950 primary election. He was high man in the five-man race for the three seats, leading two incumbents, James Orr and William H. Lemmert. James Holmes, the third commissioner now, will bow out because of his defeat in the Republican primary.

Hughes Elected

The other change will be in the six-man county delegation in the House of Delegates. George R. Hughes Jr. finished sixth in the eight-man contest. He takes the place vacated by Horace P. Whitworth Jr., who did not seek re-election. Instead he decided to run for State's Attorney and was defeated in the GOP primary.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin and Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins both also carried Allegany County but the Governor's margin here was a far cry from his success of four years ago when he unseated William Preston Lane Jr. Tuesday McKeldin led Harry C. Byrd by only 1,166 votes, 14,072 to 12,906. In 1950 McKeldin tallied 19,509 votes in this county to Lane's 8,458, a lead of 11,051.

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors will canvass the county vote today to make the results official. They are so decisive that it seems certain only relatively small changes will be made in the official totals.

See Tops Ticket

High vote-getter on the ticket was Charles M. See, who easily won another term in the House of Delegates with 17,852 votes.

Some 27,927 county voters counted as having voted, the turnout represented 68.3 per cent of the 40,876 registered.

The complete but unofficial county totals:

Blind Legislators Lead Tickets In Two Md. Counties

Maryland's two blind members of the House of Delegates were re-elected in Tuesday's balloting and both topped the tickets in their respective counties.

Charles M. See, Republican, who has served as chairman of the Allegany County Delegation for many years, was high man in the balloting here with a total of 17,850 votes on the basis of complete unofficial returns.

In Frederick County, Clifton Virts, Democrat, was re-elected for a third term. With more than 10,000 votes cast for him, he was high man on the ballot in that county.

During sessions of the Legislature, Delegate See's wife, Mrs. Margielea See, serves as reader for both her husband and Delegate Virts.

Equity Suit Filed

Officials To Meet

Football officials association will hold a meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Central YMCA.

Allegany, Montgomery Have Played Key Roles In Congressional Races

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Attention on the roles that Allegany and Montgomery counties have played in Western Maryland's representation in the U. S. House of Representatives was focused by the battle for the Sixth District seat raged between Republican DeWitt S. Hyde of Bethesda and his Democratic opponent, Edward J. Ryan of Frostburg.

Hyde defeated Ryan in Tuesday's election, 69,552 to 65,748 votes, a margin of 3,804 ballots.

The Congressional seat is now held by a Montgomery County man but historically Allegany County has represented Western Maryland longer in Congress than any of the other four counties in the far-flung district.

Hyde, elected for his first term in 1952, is the 10th man from Montgomery County to serve in Congress. His nine predecessors served a total of only 32 years. The most recent was John McDonald, a Republican from Rockville, who served only one term, ending March 3, 1899.

In the 54 years between the time McDonald stepped down and Hyde stepped up, Allegany countians sat in Congress 50 years. Only William D. Byron, Williamsport Democrat, elected in 1938, and his widow, Katharine E. Byron, named for one term in 1940, broke Allegany County's stranglehold on the Congressional seat.

Only One Democrat

However, only one of the four Allegany countians who sat in Congress between 1899 and 1953 was a Democrat like Ryan. He was David J. Lewis, Cumberland Democrat, who served in terms starting in 1911, 1913 and 1915, and then returned for four more terms beginning in 1931.

George A. Pearre, a Republican from this city, was in Congress six successive terms, beginning in 1899. The next GOP Congressman from this county was Frederick N. Zihlman, also of this city, who filled the office for seven terms between Lewis' two eras in Congress.

Last of the Allegany County Congressmen was J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg, who moved up into the U. S. Senate from the House in 1953 after five terms in the lower House.

The Biographical Directory of the American Congress, available for reference at the Cumberland Free Public Library, reveals that Allegany County's first Congressman, like both Beall and Ryan, was from Frostburg. He was Michael Cresap Sprigg, a descendant of the famed Thomas Cresap and a Democrat, who served two terms, starting in 1827 and 1829.

Sprigg Was First

Sprigg was the first of six Democrats from Allegany County elected to Congress. They served a total of 15 terms. The five Republicans elected from Allegany County held the seat a total of 20 terms. Henry W. Hoffman of Cumberland served in Congress one term beginning in 1855 under the American Party label. All told, then, Allegany countians have served 72 years in Congress.

Although Hyde is the first Montgomery countian in Congress in the 20th Century, a number served in the early years of the Republic. The first was Benjamin Edwards, who served one term starting in 1793. The Biographical Directory lists no political affiliation for him. He was followed in the next term by Jeremiah Crabb, a Rockville Democrat.

Other Montgomery countians who served in Congress:

Philip B. Key, Rockville Federalist, terms starting in 1807, 1809 and 1811; Alexander C. Hanson, another Rockville Federalist, 1813 and 1815; George Peter, a Darnestown Democrat, 1815, 1817 and 1825; George C. Washington, Rockville Whig, 1827, 1829 and 1831; Richard J. Bowie, Rockville Whig, 1849 and 1851; John McDonald, Rockville Republican, 1897, and DeWitt S. Hyde, Bethesda Republican, 1953.

County Congressmen Listed

Allegany County's Congressmen: Michael Cresap Sprigg, Frostburg Democrat, 1827 and 1829; Thomas J. Perry, Cumberland Democrat, 1845; Henry W. Hoffman, Cumberland American Party member, 1855; Patrick Hamill, Oakland Democrat, 1869; Lloyd Lowndes Jr., Cumberland Republican, 1873; William Walsh, Cumberland Democrat, 1875 and 1877; William M. McKaig, Cumberland Democrat, 1891 and 1893.

Also George L. Wellington, Cumberland Republican, 1895; George A. Pearre, Cumberland Republican, 1899, 1901, 1903, 1905, 1907 and 1909; David J. Lewis, Cumberland Democrat, 1911, 1913, 1915, 1931, 1933, 1935 and 1937; Frederick N. Zihlman, Cumberland Republican, 1917, 1919, 1921, 1923, 1925, 1927 and 1929; J. Glenn Beall, Frostburg Republican, 1943, 1945, 1947, 1949 and 1951.

Hamill is listed as an Allegany countian because Garrett County was not formed from the western part of this county until 1872.

Sen. Kimble Will Attend Meetings

Senator Robert B. Kimble, who was re-elected to that office in Tuesday's election, will be kept busy for the next few weeks attending a series of meetings of the Legislative Council in Baltimore.

This Saturday he will attend a subcommittee meeting of the Council since he is chairman of a committee to propose the establishment of a Department of Safety in Maryland.

Senator Kimble is also chairman of another subcommittee, one to study the mandatory appropriations items in the state budget. He will go to Baltimore again next Tuesday for a week-long series of meetings and will wind up his activities with the Legislative Council the following week, November 15 through 20.

During these meetings an investigation of the conditions of the state, proposed legislative studies and legislation to be introduced in the next session of the General Assembly are compiled and reports are submitted to the legislators.

As required by law, these reports must be in the hands of the legislators 30 days prior to the opening of the first session and the deadline this year is December 3.

This will enable the legislators to have 30 days in which to study the proposed legislation and report of the Council.

Senator Kimble has served on this committee for 14 years.

Savage River Dam Prevented Bad Flood Here

Report Shows Record Rain And River Flow

The Savage River Dam is credited in the monthly report of the local Geological Survey office on Meterological and Runoff Conditions, as having been a major factor in controlling flood waters in the Potomac River on October 16, when many areas were inundated.

Operation of the Savage River Reservoir gates, the report indicates, delayed and decreased the peak flow from the river basin. Peak flow downstream from Luke through this area was undoubtedly reduced by the reservoir's huge storage capacity, the report says.

At Kitzmiller, the flood exceeded the 1936 flood, but was lower there than the 1924 flood. At Bloomington, above the mouth of the Savage River, this flow exceeded both the 1924 and the 1936 floodwaters.

The daily flow of the river in October varied from a low of 144 million gallons daily on October 2, to 20,600 million gallons per day on October 16. During the entire month the flow of the North Branch was 1,483 million gallons per day, average. This is 414 per cent of the 25-year October daily average.

During those 25 years, the October means of 1937 and 1942 only exceeded this one.

During the two-day flood period last month, the report outlines, the river here was above normal flood stage (17 feet) from 11 p. m. on October 15 until 4 p. m. on October 16.

Flood conduits, paving of Wills Creek and removal of the old C&O Canal dam in the river, were all contributing factors toward keeping Wills Creek and the Potomac River mostly within their banks. Run-off in the creek was far more rapid than had ever been noted before.

The total precipitation at Cumberland, as reported by the Weather Bureau, was 6.15 inches, 3.62 inches above the October average. The average daily temperature was 56.5 degrees, which was 1.9 degrees above normal.

Hyde Re-Elected As Congressman By Slim Margin

Ryan Gets Big Vote In Allegany

Unpredictable Sixth Congressional District voters, who refuse to follow political labels, have approved Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Bethesda Republican, for a second two-year term in Congress after a most spirited contest with Edward J. Ryan, Frostburg Democrat.

With all of the 296 precincts in the five counties tabulated, Hyde had 69,552 to Ryan's 65,748, a margin of 3,804 votes.

Two years ago when Hyde gained his first term in Congress, he led Mrs. Stella B. Werner, a fellow Montgomery countian, by 25,553 votes, 94,603 to 69,050.

Ryan carried Allegany County, his home county, by 3,244 votes despite the fact that Allegany has a Republican registration margin of 5,605 votes. In other words, only 42.8 per cent of the county's voters are Democrats and Ryan got 56.1 per cent.

Hyde in turn carried his home county, Montgomery, where the Democrats had a book majority of 18,085. However his 2,991 margin was less than Ryan's in Allegany despite a heavier Montgomery County total.

That left the decision ultimately up to the three other counties in the district. All three of them went for Hyde, despite the fact that both Washington and Frederick counties have sizeable Democratic majorities.

The Allegany County attorney also lost neighboring Garrett County but the margin there was not nearly so great as that county's normal Republican edge. Ryan trailed in Garrett County by 1,023 votes but the GOP has a book majority there of 2,462.

The unofficial tally:

County	Hyde	Ryan
Allegany	11,697	14,941
Frederick	9,917	8,094
Garrett	3,752	2,739
Montgomery	32,146	29,157
Washington	12,040	10,817
Totals	69,552	65,748

Case Settled At Jury Trial

Atwo-day jury trial which began in Allegany County Circuit Court the day before the election ended yesterday with an out-of-court settlement after all of the evidence had been heard, Associate Judge George Henderson had given the instructions to the jury and the seven participating attorneys were about ready for their closing argument.

The trial involved three damage suits aggregating $45,000 which had been removed here from Washington County.

Bertram R. Brown, Smithsburg, sued Soliday Oil Company, Inc., of Hagerstown and Ralph D. Mowen, also of Hagerstown for $20,000. Wilbur Bloom and Blanche R. Bloom, his wife, sued the company, Mowen and Brown for $20,000, and Mr. and Mrs. Bloom, parents and next friends, sued the three for $5,000 for Harold W. Bloom, a minor.

The three suits developed from an automobile accident January 20, when a car driven by Brown collided with an oil truck owned by the company and driven by Mowen as the truck was parked along the road between Smithsburg and Cavetown in Washington County.

No statement was offered in court as to the amount of the settlement.

Dairy Technology Conference Set

County Agent Joseph M. Steger yesterday said he expects a number of Allegany County dairymen to attend the 10th annual Dairy Technology Conference at the University of Maryland November 9-12.

This is a conference for milk plant operators and employes, for milk inspectors and sanitarians and for dairy fieldmen. Programs will be held in the agricultural auditorium of Symons Hall at College Park.

Former Resident Is Elected To California State Senate

One Allegany County Democrat was elected to office Tuesday.

He is James A. Cobey, son of Mrs. J. C. Cobey of Frostburg and a younger brother of W. Earle Cobey, local attorney and former city solicitor here.

James Cobey, a native of this county, who has been practicing law in Merced, Calif., for a number of years, was elected to the California State Senate from a two-county district in San Joaquin Valley. As the Democratic nominee he was elected by a vote ratio of 16 to 11. Except in San Joaquin Valley section, the rest of downstate California went Republican. Democrats in all parts of the state hailed Cobey's victory and took note of it.

The former resident, like his local brother, is a Navy veteran of World War II. He is married to a former Chicago resident and they have three children. Cobey went to California to practice law prior to World War II.
